The Middle Atlantic League, 1925-1952 William E. Akin, 2015-08-17 The small and mid-sized cities of western Pennsylvania Ohio and West Virginia reached their peaks of population and prosperity in the second quarter of the 20th century The baseball teams from these towns formed the Middle Atlantic League the strongest circuit in the low minors and the one with the most alumni to advance to the majors This thorough history chronicles the MAL through three distinct phases from its 1925 inaugural season to its dissolution in 1952 During the first several seasons most clubs hung one step from financial disaster despite support from local communities Then the league flourished during the Great Depression as president Elmer Daily magically found investors and night baseball boosted working class attendance Now enjoying a modicum of financial stability and an infusion of young talent the clubs became talent farms for major league teams Both the league and its cities went into decline as the country underwent seismic cultural and economic shifts following World War II

Class A Lucas Mann, 2013-05-07 An unforgettable chronicle of a year of minor league baseball in a small Iowa town that follows not only the travails of the players of the Clinton LumberKings but also the lives of their dedicated fans and of the town itself Award winning essayist Lucas Mann delivers a powerful debut in his telling of the story of the 2010 season of the Clinton LumberKings Along the Mississippi River in a Depression era stadium young prospects from all over the world compete for a chance to move up through the baseball ranks to the major leagues Their coaches some of whom have spent nearly half a century in the game watch from the dugout In the bleachers local fans call out from the same seats they've occupied year after year And in the distance smoke rises from the largest remaining factory in a town that once had more millionaires per capita than any other in America Mann turns his eye on the players the coaches the fans the radio announcer the town and finally on himself a young man raised on baseball driven to know what still draws him to the stadium His voice is as fresh and funny as it is poignant illuminating both the small triumphs and the harsh realities of minor league ball Part sports story part cultural exploration part memoir Class A is a moving and unique study of why we play why we watch and
