Taylor, 2015-07-12 Excerpt from Art of Class Management and Discipline There are many works on school management that present the theory of school order and control from the point of view of the principal or superintendent The pedagogical student learns in her normal or training school all about school virtues and motives She is made acquainted with systematic treatises on the theory of school government But after she has graduated and has come face to face with a class of mischievous boys the theories that seemed so reasonable before are now strangely impotent She finds that she is confronted by a condition not a theory Class management is an art and a fine art at that An art must be acquired by practice and if one would make rapid progress and avoid errors a teacher is necessary This little book is intended as a slight contribution to the art of class discipline It is offered to that hapless young woman who is just beginning to teach About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

The Discipline of the School (Classic Reprint) Frances Milton Irene Morehouse, 2018-01-29 Excerpt from The Discipline of the School It was not the daring of my own spirit which first conceived the idea of practically denying an old pedagogic maxim which says that given lessons well taught the order of a school will take care of itself Neither was I the first to gainsay the truth of the cheerful superstition that no specific help upon questions of discipline may be given a teacher that each situation as it presents itself must be met in the light of certain general principles which are doubtless very sound but which do not always readily come to mind in the nick of time Nevertheless these new doctrines met a ready response from one to whom experience and observation have combined to show that the management of behavior is in itself a definite phase of school work and a definite problem to be solved and that fairly concrete means of achieving good results may be passed from one teacher to another as truly as a concrete manner of teaching a geography lesson may be taught one teacher by another About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

Strategy Journeys David Booth,2016-09-14 Strategy Journeys starts from the premise that strategic planning suffers from a bad press it can be seen as complex technical remote from the day to day reality of an organisation undertaken by an elite specialist executive group producing threatening changes whose rationale is barely understood or perhaps worse still having no worthwhile impact at all For many senior executives strategic planning is too daunting a task which is why they often seek help from those with the expertise to guide the process they have a severe lack of confidence in their own ability to design plan and implement such an important and major project Yet organisations have never had greater need for a flexible resilient and engaging approach to strategic planning than now How do those leading an organisation know where to start what approach to take and how to go about the process of strategic planning David Booth aims to help them by demystifying the concept and propounding a first principles approach to developing a strategic plan within the context of the individual organisation and with the flexibility to adapt the process to focus on what really matters He suggests the key questions that should be asked when considering embarking on a strategic planning journey to help design and guide the process
