Holdsworth Jack Hilton Mulk Raj Anand Simon Blumenfeld Pat Barker Gordon Burn and Zadie Smith A key informing argument is not only that working class writing shows working class to be a diverse and dynamic rather than monolithic category but also that a greater critical attention to class and the working class in particular extends both the methods and objects of literary studies This collection will appeal to students scholars and academics interested in working class writing and the need to diversify the curriculum

The Qualified Student Harold S. Wechsler, 2017-09-29 In The Qualified Student Harold S Wechsler focuses on methods of student selection used by institutions of higher education in the United States More specifically he discusses the way that college and university reformers employed those methods to introduce higher education into a broader cross section of America by extending access to an increased number of students from nontraditional backgrounds Implicit in much of this book is an underlying social and ethical question How legitimate was and is higher education's regulation of social mobility Public concern over colleges and universities practices became inevitable once they became regulators between social classes The challenging of colleges admissions policies in the courts augments similar concerns that have been present in legislatures for decades The volume is divided into three main sections Prerequisites Columbia and the Selective Function and Implications It focuses mainly on four universities The University of Michigan Columbia University the University of Chicago and the City University of New York Wechsler maintains that unlike other universities these institutions were pacesetters they did not adopt a new policy simply because some other college had already adopted it A new introduction brings the book originally published in 1977 up to date and demonstrates its continuing importance in today's academic world of selective admissions

Seeing Others Michèle Lamont, 2025-01-07 A thoughtful recipe for building social justice Kirkus Reviews from acclaimed Harvard sociologist Michèle Lamont that makes the case for reexamining what we value the quest for respect in an age that has been defined by growing inequality and the obsolescence of the American dream In this capstone work Mich le Lamont unpacks the power of recognition rendering others as visible and valued by drawing on nearly forty years of research and new interviews with young adults and cultural icons from Nikole Hannah Jones and Cornel West to Michael Schur and Roxane Gay Decades of neoliberalism have negatively impacted our sense of self worth up and down the income ladder just as the American dream has become out of reach for most people By prioritizing material and professional success we judge ourselves and others in terms of self reliance competition and diplomas The foregrounding of these attributes of the upper middle class in our values system feeds into the marginalization of workers people of color LGBTQIA individuals and minority groups The solution Lamont argues is to shift our focus towards what we have in common while actively working to recognize the diverse ways one can live a life Building on Lamont s lifetime of expertise and revelatory connections between broad ranging issues Seeing Others delivers realistic sources of hope by reducing stigma we put change within reach Just as Robert Putnam s Bowling Alone did for a previous generation Seeing Others strikes at the heart of our modern struggles and illuminates an inclusive path forward with new ways for understanding our world The Wiley Handbook of Family, School, and Community Relationships in Education Steven B. Sheldon, Tammy A. Turner-Vorbeck, 2019-03-19 A comprehensive collection of essays from leading experts on family and community engagement The Wiley Handbook of Family School and Community Relationships in Education brings together in one comprehensive volume a collection of writings from leading scholars on family and community engagement to provide an authoritative overview of the field The expert contributors identify the contemporary and future issues related to the intersection of students families schools and their communities The Handbook s chapters are organized to cover the topic from a wide range of perspectives and vantage points including families practitioners policymakers advocates as well as researchers In addition the Handbook contains writings from several international researchers acknowledging that school family and community partnerships is a vital topic for researchers and policymakers worldwide The contributors explore the essential issues related to the policies and sociopolitical concerns curriculum and practice leadership and the role of families and advocates This vital resource Contains a diverse range of topics related to the field Includes information on current research as well as the historical origins Projects the breadth and depth of the field into the future Fills a void in the current literature Offers contributions from leading scholars on family and community engagement Written for faculty and graduate students in education psychology and sociology The Wiley Handbook of Family School and Community Relationships in Education is a comprehensive and authoritative guide to family and community engagement with schools The Diversity Bargain Natasha Warikoo, 2019-02-22 We ve heard plenty from politicians and experts on affirmative action and higher education about how universities should intervene if at all to ensure a diverse but deserving student population But what about those for whom these issues matter the most In this book Natasha K Warikoo deeply explores how students themselves think about merit and race at a uniquely pivotal moment after they have just won the most competitive game of their lives and gained admittance to one of the world's top universities What Warikoo uncovers talking with both white students and students of color at Harvard Brown and Oxford is absolutely illuminating and some of it is positively shocking As she shows many elite white students understand the value of diversity abstractly but they ignore the real problems that racial inequality causes and that diversity programs are meant to solve They stand in fear of being labeled a racist but they are quick to call foul should a diversity program appear at all to hamper their own chances for advancement The most troubling result of this ambivalence is what she calls the diversity bargain in which white students reluctantly agree with affirmative action as long as it benefits them by providing a diverse learning environment racial diversity in this way is a commodity a selling point on a brochure And as Warikoo shows universities play a big part in creating these situations The way they talk about race on campus and the kinds of diversity programs they offer have a huge impact on student attitudes shaping them either toward ambivalence or in better cases toward more productive and considerate understandings of racial difference Ultimately this book demonstrates just how slippery the notions of race merit and privilege can be In doing so it asks important questions not just about college admissions but what the elite students who have succeeded at it who will be the world's future leaders will do with the social inequalities of the wider world Raising

Global Families Pei-Chia Lan, 2018-07-17 Public discourse on Asian parenting tends to fixate on ethnic culture as a static value set disguising the fluidity and diversity of Chinese parenting Such stereotypes also fail to account for the challenges of raising children in a rapidly modernizing world full of globalizing values In Raising Global Families Pei Chia Lan examines how ethnic Chinese parents in Taiwan and the United States negotiate cultural differences and class inequality to raise children in the contexts of globalization and immigration She draws on a uniquely comparative multisited research model with four groups of parents middle class and working class parents in Taiwan and middle class and working class Chinese immigrants in the Boston area Despite sharing a similar ethnic cultural background these parents develop class specific context sensitive strategies for arranging their children's education care and discipline and for coping with uncertainties provoked by their changing surroundings Lan's cross Pacific comparison demonstrates that class inequality permeates the fabric of family life even as it takes shape in different ways across national contexts Credential Market Quentin

Maire, 2021-09-22 This book makes an original contribution to credential sociology by analysing how high school certificates become and remain valuable in a context of mass high school participation i.e. credentialism Building on a detailed analysis of the International Baccalaureate IB Diploma a senior secondary school certificate offered in over 150 countries Quentin Maire argues that the advent of new private credentials can be understood as a phenomenon of credential stratification in a context of intensified academic competition Using original data on high school credentials in Australia and internationally the author makes a strong case for certificates to be studied relationally by locating them in the credentialing structures in which they are inserted He systematically applies the comparative method to explain the role of the curriculum family resources school segregation and higher education selection in creating a credential hierarchy His robust combination of theoretical construction and detailed empirical work allows him to offer new insights into social inequality in education systems credential theory and the IB Diploma      Diversity and Inclusion on Campus Rachelle Winkle-Wagner,Angela M. Locks,2019-10-21 This new and updated second edition of Diversity and Inclusion on Campus Supporting Students of Color in Higher Education provides an exploration of the range of college experiences from gaining access to higher education to successfully persisting through degree programs By bridging research theory and practice related to the ways that peers faculty administrators staff and institutions can and do influence racially and ethnically diverse students experiences Winkle Wagner and Locks examine how and why it is imperative to have an understanding of the issues that affect students of color in higher education This new edition also includes features such as New case studies and examples throughout that allow readers to take institutional level and student level approaches to the chapter topics Updated citations and theory across chapters New topical coverage including discussion of college affordability an exploration of a variety of institution types and the role of merit in maintaining and perpetuating racial inequality in higher education End of chapter questions that encourage readers to explore chapter concepts in more detail This second edition is an invaluable resource for future and current higher education and student affairs practitioners working towards full inclusion and participation for students of color in higher education      The Working Classes and Higher Education Amy E. Stich,Carrie Freie,2015-12-22 Within the broader context of the global knowledge economy wherein the college for all discourse grows more and more pervasive and systems of higher education become increasingly stratified by social class important and timely questions emerge regarding the future social location and mobility of the working classes Though the working classes look very different from the working classes of previous generations the weight of a universal working class identity background amounts to much of the same economic vulnerability and negative cultural stereotypes all of which continue to present obstacles for new generations of working class youth many of whom pursue higher education as a necessity rather than a choice Using a sociological lens contributors examine the complicated relationship between the working classes and higher education through students distinct experiences challenges and triumphs during three moments on a transitional continuum the transition from secondary to higher education experiences within higher education and the transition from higher education to the workforce In doing so this volume challenges the popular notion of higher education as a means to equality of opportunity and social mobility for working class students      Ethnography of a Neoliberal School Garth Stahl,2017-09-13 As a school ethnography this book explores the controversial schooling practices and strategies embedded in charter school management organizations CMOs as well as how these practices influence teaching and learning school leadership teachers professional identities and students understanding of success By theorizing the common practices within the organization Stahl connects current research in neoliberal governance neoliberal structuring of educational policy aspiration and social reproduction in schooling Honing in on the discourse on education reform Stahl demonstrates that a unique blend of neoliberalism and social justice values have permeated the CMO s institutional culture promoting the belief that adopting corporate practices will fix America s schools and ensure equity of opportunity for all The inclusion of institutional texts emails Blackberry messages posters and rubrics balances the personal subjective and inter subjective to capture a blend of neoliberalism and social justice reframing Corporate Elites and the Reform of Public Education Gunter, Helen M.,Michael W. empirically and theoretically the various levels at which they operate This allows them to describe and make sense of the ways that relations of inequality are developed reproduced or unsettled and how these shape individual and group experiences and outcomes About the Educational Foundations series Education as an academic field taught at universities around the world emerged from a range of older foundational disciplines The Educational Foundations series comprises six volumes each covering one of the foundational disciplines of philosophy history sociology policy studies economics and law This is the first reference work to provide an authoritative and up to date account of all six disciplines showing how each field's ideas methods theories and approaches can contribute to research and practice in education today The six volumes cover the same set of key topics within education which also form the chapter titles Mapping the Field Purposes of Education Curriculum Schools and Education Systems Learning and Human Development Teaching and Teacher Education Assessment and Evaluation This structure allows readers to study the volumes in isolation by discipline or laterally by topic and facilitates a comparative thematic reading of chapters across the volumes Throughout the series attention is paid to how the disciplines comprising the educational foundations speak to social justice concerns such as gender and racial equality
