Abstract: This study reports on the results of a survey of 1000 teachers in England, who were asked to rate the importance of 100 different skills and knowledge for their pupils to have in order to be successful in the 21st century. The results show that the most important skills and knowledge for pupils to have are: communication, problem-solving, and critical thinking. These skills are also the most difficult for teachers to teach. The study also found that teachers believe that their pupils are not getting enough of these skills in school. This suggests that there is a need for schools to focus more on teaching these skills, and for teachers to be given more training and support in this area.

Q4279 I have the same problem as Q4278. I would like to plant the largest number of trees. How do you adjust the problem and solve it? How do you find the optimum? There is a forest of 100 trees, some require more water than others, according to the number of trees that are in the field. Help me!

How did it happen? Since the opening of the Red of Hope, the campaign into the village, in the second week ending 26 June and 30 June, also meeting the Red of Hope members in the Red of Hope village.
