different countries Examining the data associated with global migration by focusing on case studies from a wide range of countries it provides detailed and balanced coverage of this politically sensitive topic to explore the educational needs of migrant young people the impact of large scale migration to and from countries and the policy challenges that individual countries face when ensuring adequate provision for migrant young people within their education systems Chapters cover The reasons why people might move Social and emotional learning in Britain a tool to guard against cultural pollution Migration into a global city the economic and educational success of London Latvian people on the move and the impact on education People s movement Greece Return migration in Lithuania incoming challenges for children s education The United States Latin America immigration and education Tanzanian street children victims ordinary lives or extraordinary survivors This book explores the changing social dynamics through an extensive range of case studies and will be an essential resource for students taking undergraduate and postgraduate courses in education sociology and international relations Young British African and Caribbean Men Achieving Educational Success Cecile Wright,Uvanney Maylor,Thomas Pickup,2020-10-04 In contrast to research that focuses on the underperformance of young Black males in the British education system the dominant notion of this volume is educational success By aiming to understand how young Black notably African and Caribbean male education plays out in different educational spaces this book provides new insights around intersections between and across different structural forces and educational contexts Examining the political cultural and structural factors that shape the educational journey of young Black men in the British education system the book will cover topics such as Race gender and class and the attainment gap Contextualising Black men s educational narratives The role of family and parenting in achieving success The role of community resource in achieving success Young British African and Caribbean Men Achieving Educational Success will be of interest to researchers academics and postgraduate students in the fields of multicultural education and gender and sexuality in education as well as educators concerned with how Black male masculinities play out in educational discourses Cecile Wright is Professor in the School of Sociology and Social Work University of Nottingham UK Uvanney Maylor is Professor of Education in the Institute for Research in Education at the University of Bedfordshire UK Thomas Pickup is a Principal Policy and Project Officer in local government in the UK

Professional Leadership for Social Work Practitioners and Educators Anna Fairtlough,2016-11-03 Professional leadership is increasingly recognised as being vital to enhancing social work s reputation and effectiveness Although professional leadership is one of the nine domains of the professional capability framework in England sometimes leadership is assumed to be the prerogative of managers rather than the responsibility of all professional social workers The participation of social workers and social work educators in shaping professional cultures within organisations through practice innovation practitioner research and workforce development is thus crucial Drawing on theories that challenge hierarchical concepts of leadership this book will enable experienced social work practitioners and educators to develop their professional leadership to more expert levels Throughout the book there are case examples illustrating examples of advanced professional leadership in action research highlights and exercises utilising self reflection action planning creative writing and imagery to provide practical support to the reader      Political Science in Europe Thibaud Boncourt, Isabelle Engeli, Diego Garzia, 2020-05-28 The last half century has been a defining period for the development of political science in Europe disciplinary norms have become institutionalized in professional organizations training units and research centres the scholarly community has dramatically grown in size across the continent the analytical and methodological tools of the discipline are increasingly sophisticated and the knowledge disseminated under the label political science is bigger than it has ever been Political Science in Europe takes stock of these developments and reflects on the achievements of the discipline and the challenges it faces Is there a distinctive European blend of political science Is the European political science community cohesive and inclusive How does the discipline cope with the neoliberalisation of academia and the diffusion of illiberal politics Leading and up and coming political scientists answer these questions by discussing the discipline's key concepts and intellectual trends its professional structures and its relationship with its social economic and political environment      A Pedagogy of Multiliteracies Bill Cope, Mary Kalantzis, 2016-04-29 The concept of Multiliteracies has gained increasing influence since it was coined by the New London Group in 1994 This collection edited by two of the original members of the group brings together a representative range of authors each of whom has been involved in the application of the pedagogy of Multiliteracies      Caught in the Current Sam Reimer, 2023-04-15 Evangelical Christianity is known for its defence of traditional Christian teachings and resistance to liberalizing trends Many Western evangelicals themselves do not yet realize how their faith is being reshaped by the modern zeitgeist Caught in the Current explores how and why Western evangelicals are changing Church attendance is declining conservative moral positions are unpopular and young people are drifting away from the faith Evangelism is avoided so few are joining congregations Yet these surface changes are only symptoms of a more profound shift that church leaders have not fully apprehended Drawing upon 125 interviews with British and Canadian clergy and active laity Sam Reimer argues that evangelicals have been deeply influenced by a post Christian culture that has rejected institutional religious authority and embraced self spirituality As individual evangelicals struggle to navigate these waters and to distance themselves from politicized evangelicalism in the United States they are caught between conformity and resistance between faithfulness to church moral teachings and accommodation of secular values Many are responding by turning inward to define their Christian beliefs for themselves The ironic result is that the decline of institutional religious authority is not happening just in Western culture but within evangelical churches as well Caught in the Current is an insightful and nuanced assessment of how British and Canadian evangelicals are navigating a post Christian culture often in ways that are distinct from how their counterparts in the United States approach it      Linguistic Practice in Changing Conditions Ben Rampton, 2021-10-19 This book demonstrates the power and distinctiveness of the contribution that sociolinguistics can make to our understanding of everyday communicative practice under changing social conditions. It builds on the approaches developed by Gumperz and Hymes in the 1970s and 80s and it not only affirms their continuing relevance in analyses of the micropolitics of everyday talk in urban settings but also argues for their value in emergent efforts to chart the heavily securitised environments now developing around us. Drawing on 10 years of collaborative work and ranging across disciplinary, interdisciplinary and applied perspectives, the book begins with guiding principles and methodology, shifts to empirically driven arguments in urban sociolinguistics and concludes with studies of in securitised communication addressed to challenges ahead.

Disability and Inclusion in Early Years Education Chris Collett, 2017-08-09. Disability and Inclusion in Early Years Education supports practitioners in understanding and implementing inclusive practice relating to disability in early years education. Offering a detailed explanation of recent developments in the field such as the 2015 SEND Code of Practice, it provides straightforward and accessible guidance on implementing the crucial procedures that help to promote good practice. More broadly, the book provides guidance on creating a fully inclusive early years environment that will support all children, focusing on high incidence needs around communication behaviour and learning. Chapters offer a wealth of practical tools and strategies to support the inclusion of children with disabilities, more effectively covering key topics such as assessment, early identification and individualised learning, working with parents, carers and families, the key role of picture books, multisensory approaches to learning, supporting behaviour and communication. This text will be valuable reading for all early years practitioners and students who want to promote the inclusion of children with SEND in mainstream provisions.

Inclusion in Action Phil Foreman, Michael Arthur-Kelly, 2017-04-05. How can classroom teachers effectively differentiate learning and teaching programs to provide for the needs of every student in their class? This best-selling text begins by asking 'Why include all students in regular classrooms?' and then shows how this can be done. It outlines the philosophy of inclusive education and focuses on the use of individualised planning and effective teaching practices to maximise learning outcomes within positive and productive environments. Vignettes and narratives provide real-life examples that help put the theory in context. This fifth edition includes broader coverage of issues to do with diversity and individual differences, particularly cultural and multicultural inclusion, linguistic diversity and giftedness. There is more throughout on the universal design for learning framework and on partnerships with families, while new pedagogical features encourage readers to reflect. Throughout, it emphasises a practical, research-based approach to teaching that can be applied to support students with a range of differences and additional needs.
