Digest Of Ethiopia National Policies Strategies And Programs:

Digest of Ethiopia's National Policies, Strategies and Programs Taye Assefa, 2008 Having just emerged from a prolonged civil war and faced with the urgent tasks of establishing political stability and reinvigorating an economy in tatters the Transitional Government of Ethiopia 1991-1995 had to set a new direction for the economic reconstruction and social rehabilitation of the war-torn and poverty-ridden country. During the Transitional Period a spate of new policies and strategies defining the development priorities, goals and implementation instruments of the new regime led by the EPRDF was introduced. This work is a synthesis of various sectoral policies and an attempt to trace the genesis of the policies, highlight the continuities, significant departures and other salient features. Each of the reviews in this digest briefly analyses the critical elements of the policies, identifies major gaps in the conceptualisation of the policy as well as the achievements registered and the challenges encountered in its implementation. The authors also try to identify the outstanding issues to be addressed by policymakers and suggest remedies. The policy reviews have been grouped into three parts and presented under social, economic and governance sectors.

Marginality Joachim von Braun, Franz W. Gatzweiler, 2013-08-19 This book takes a new approach on understanding causes of extreme poverty and promising actions to address it. Its focus is on marginality being a root cause of poverty and deprivation. Marginality is the position of people on the edge preventing their access to resources, freedom of choices and the development of capabilities. The book is research-based with original empirical analyses at local, national and global scales. Book contributors are leaders in their fields and have backgrounds in different disciplines. An important message of the book is that economic and ecological approaches and institutional innovations need to be integrated to overcome marginality. The book will be a valuable source for development scholars and students, actors that design public policies and for social innovators in the private sector and non-governmental organizations.

Africa's Big Men Kenneth Kalu, Olajumoke Yacob-Haliso, Toyin Falola, 2018-03-20 This book spotlights, analyzes and explains varying forms and patterns of state-society relations on the African continent, taking as point of departure the complexities created by the emergence, proliferation and complicated interactions of so-called big men across Africa's fifty-four states. The contributors interrogate the evolution of Africa's big men, the role of the big men in Africa's political and economic development and the relationship between the state, the big men and the citizens. Throughout the chapters the contributors engage with a number of questions from different disciplinary and methodological orientations: How did these states evolve to exhibit various deformities in their composition, functioning and in their relations with the societies that they govern? What roles did Atlantic and other slavery and European colonialism play in creating states that are unable to display the right and good relationships with citizens in civil society? Why did these forms of predatory state-society relations continue to thrive in Africa after the end of Atlantic slave trade and subsequent colonialism? Why did the emerging African leaders at independence fail to effectively dismantle the structures of exploitation and expropriation that were the defining features of slavery and colonialism Who are Africa's big men and what are their trajectories This book is essential reading for all students and scholars of African politics public policy and administration political economy and democratisation Land to Investors Dessalegn Rahmato, 2011 Under its program of land investments the Ethiopian government has leased out huge tracts of land to domestic and foreign investors on terms that are highly favorable to both but particularly to foreign ones Critical reports on the ibonanzai reaped by foreign capital have appeared in the world media and the websites of international activist organizations and while some of these are based on questionable evidence the global attention they have drawn may well be deserved given the image of the country as a land of poverty and hunger This study which is based on information gathered from field interviews as well as other sources looks at the subject from a land rights perspective with emphasis on the relations of power between small land users and their communities on the one hand and the state on the other At bottom what is at stake is the land and the resources on it and what is being grabbed are rights that in most cases belong to peasant farmers pastoralists and their communities In the long run the shift of agrarian system from small scale to large scale foreign dominated production which is what the investment program is now doing will marginalize small producers and cause immense damage to local ecosystems wildlife habitats and biodiversity Village Gone Viral Marit Tolo Østebø, 2021-02-16 In 2001 Ethiopian Television aired a documentary about a small rural village called Awra Amba where women ploughed men worked in the kitchen and so called harmful traditional practices did not exist The documentary radically challenged prevailing images of Ethiopia as a gender conservative and aid dependent place and Awra Amba became a symbol of gender equality and sustainable development in Ethiopia and beyond Village Gone Viral uses the example of Awra Amba to consider the widespread circulation and use of modeling practices in an increasingly transnational and digital policy world With a particular focus on traveling models policy models that become viral through various vectors ranging from NGOs and multilateral organizations to the Internet Marit Tolo Østebø critically examines the hidden dimensions of models and model making While a policy model may be presented as a best practice one that can be scaled up and successfully applied to other places the local impacts of the model paradigm are far more ambivalent potentially increasing social inequalities reinforcing social stratification and concealing injustice With this book Østebø ultimately calls for a reflexive critical anthropology of the production circulation and use of models as instruments for social change Urban Planning and Everyday Urbanisation Nadine Appelhans, 2016-12-15 Urbanisation in Bahir Dar Ethiopia poses challenges to urban living conditions Despite large scale housing programmes from the side of the government construction and settling processes have largely remained incremental Nadine Appelhans focuses on the relation between statutory planning and practices of everyday urbanisation The findings from Bahir Dar suggest that some mundane regimes of building the city are patronised while others are considered undesired by policy makers Based on this insight the author argues that urban development in Bahir Dar needs to be locally grounded differentiated and inclusive to avoid further tendencies of segregation The Politics of Inclusive Development Samuel Hickey, Kunal Sen, Badru Bukenya, 2015 It is now widely accepted that politics plays a significant role in shaping the possibilities for inclusive development However the specific ways in which this happens across different types and forms of development and in different contexts remains poorly understood This collection provides a state of the art review regarding what is currently known about the politics of inclusive development Leading academics offer systematic reviews of how politics shapes development across multiple dimensions including through growth natural resource governance poverty reduction service delivery social protection justice systems the empowerment of marginalised groups and the role of both traditional and non traditional donors The volume not only provides a comprehensive update but also a ground breaking range of new directions for thinking and acting around these issues The book's originality thus derives not only from the wide scope of its case study material but also from the new conceptual approaches it offers for thinking about the politics of inclusive development and the innovative and practical suggestions for donors policy makers and practitioners that flow from this

Regional Development Poles and the Transformation of African Economies Benaiah Yongo-Bure, 2020-02-17 This book argues that the development of capital goods manufacturing industries in four relatively large African economies will create regional development poles from which industrialization will spread to the smaller African countries In this book Benaiah Yongo Bure explains the need for capital goods industries in Africa and shows how manufacturing can transform economies He outlines the roles of the Democratic Republic of Congo DRC Ethiopia Nigeria and South Africa as potential regional development poles showing how the existing economies natural resources and populations of these countries make them ideal candidates while also considering possible challenges to industrialization Finally the author assesses what major infrastructural development is needed to link the countries and regions to increase the spread effects of economic growth This book will be of interest to scholars and policy makers in economic development and regional development in Africa

State and Economic Development in Africa Aaron Tesfaye, 2017-07-20 This book critically assesses the impact of Ethiopia's policy of Agriculture Development Led Industrialization Employing qualitative and quantitative analysis it presents empirical evidence suggesting persistent economic growth The research highlights improvements in infrastructure health care education poverty alleviation as well reductions in infant mortality rate The impact of this economic growth has however had led to only slight improvements in the plight of the poor The author argues that while significant steps have been achieved with measurable economic gains there are still undeniable obstacles within the federal system prevailing patron client relationships constraints on state capacity to efficiently and effectively implement policy and bureaucratic rent seeking in the provision of public goods The author concludes that these problems will have to be resolved before Ethiopia's political economy can achieve the stage of sustainable development

Regional Economic Communities O. Olutayo, I. Adeniran, 2015-12-01 This book examines how the existence of overlapping regional institutions has presented a daunting challenge to the workings of various Regional Economic Communities RECs on the African continent The majority of the African countries are members of overlapping and sometimes contradictory RECs For instance in East Africa while Kenya and Uganda are both members of EAC and COMESA Tanzania which is also a member of the EAC left COMESA in 2001 to join SADC In West Africa while all former French colonies belong to ECOWAS they simultaneously keep membership of UEMOA an organization which is not recognized by the African Union AU Such multiple and confusing memberships create unnecessary duplication and dims the light on what ought to be priority Various chapters in this book have therefore sought to identify and proffer solutions to related challenges confronting the workings of the RECs in different sub regions of the African continent The discourses range from security to the stock exchange identity integration development framework labour movement and cross border relations The pattern adopted in the book involves devolution of related discussions from the general to the specific that is from the continental level to sub regional case studies

Analysis of Ethiopia's Wildlife Policies and Laws Didi Wamukoya, 2016-06-07 Ethiopia is committed to wildlife conservation and has in place a wildlife policy and strategy that guides the administration of the wildlife sector This policy is translated into legislation for purposes of making its provisions enforceable There is legislation that establishes the institutional framework of the wildlife sector and legislation that regulates the wildlife sector The wildlife legislation has strong provisions that address wildlife crime and wildlife trafficking but it also has gaps that need to be sealed in order to successfully administer and adjudicate over wildlife cases Ethiopia is quite strong in complying with international standards that address wildlife crime including standards on reduction of wildlife trade fighting of organized criminal groups curbing money laundering and fighting corruption The effectiveness of the legislation cannot be accurately gauged as there is lack of consistent and reliable data on wildlife cases IJER Vol 22-N3 International Journal of Educational Reform, 2013-07-05

Biodiversity and Climate Change Frank Maes, An Cliquet, Willemien du Plessis, Heather McLeod-Kilmurray, 2013-09-30

Today climate change is already highly impacting on biodiversity. This adds to existing stress on biodiversity. Current extinction rates are unprecedented in history. This book addresses the many legal issues involved from a variety of perspectives. b Eurasian Empires as Blueprints for Ethiopia Asnake Kefale, Tomasz Kamusella, Christophe Van der Beken, 2021-02-14. This book is a contribution to the global history of the transfer of political ideas as exemplified by the case of modern Ethiopia. Like many non-European nation states, Ethiopia adopted a western model of statehood that is the nation state. Unlike the postcolonial polities that have retained the mode of statehood imposed on them by their colonial powers, Ethiopia was never successfully colonized, leaving its ruling elite free to select a model of modern western statehood. In 1931, via Japan, they adopted the model of unitary ethnolinguistically homogenous nation state, in turn copied by Tokyo in 1889 from the German Empire founded in 1871. Following the Ethiopian Revolution of 1974, which overthrew the imperial system, the new revolutionary elite promised to address the nationality question through the Marxist-Leninist model. The Soviet model of ethnolinguistic federalism, originally derived from Austria-Hungary, was introduced in Ethiopia first in 1992 and officially with the 1995 Constitution. To this day, the politics of modern Ethiopia is marked by the tension between these two opposed models of the essentially central European type of statehood. The late 19th-century German-German quarrel on the proper model of national statehood for Germany or, more broadly, modern central Europe, remains the quarrel of Ethiopian politics nowadays. The book will be useful for scholars of Ethiopian and African history and politics and also offers a case in comparative studies on the subject of different models of national statehood elsewhere. Abbay River Basin Assefa Melesse, Berhan Gessesse, Worku Zewdie, 2025-08-01. The book focuses on the Abbay Basin biophysical setting, the status of natural resources and degradation processes, agricultural practices, environmental resource conservation efforts, and the role of Earth observation and geospatial technologies in monitoring and planning for the wise utilization of natural resources under severe land resource degradation and climate change. It provides a collection of techniques and syntheses from the perspectives of geospatial science and technology application, dimensions as well as legal and sociopolitical circumstances. It utilizes comprehensive data, algorithms, methods, and tools to produce and disseminate high-quality information for the Abbay Basin. It also produces empirical data and knowledge on what has been done thus far regarding the application of EO data and geospatial technologies for sustainable utilization of natural resources in the Abbay Basin and synthesizes previous studies to develop strong and consolidated information on the basin. The book will also have distinct outlooks on the purpose and contribution of satellite imagery and geospatial data as well as improved analytics for basin-wide resource management.

that sustainable development has become an influential discourse worldwide Climate change is not only an urgent problem but it is also a fundamental spiritual question concerning social justice and sustainable peace development as well as solidarity among people of various religious backgrounds and different countries Thus this global problem must be faced and recognized for future actions and strategies However the politics of fear must be replaced with a culture of peace hope and compassion and this urgent problem must be faced with an optimistic attitude and a certain degree of preparedness Climate change is evident in many forms such as for example the most obvious recent weather fluctuations that happen around the world Floods droughts and hurricanes are those visible signs of climate change Human caused climate change is projected to greatly impact marine freshwater and terrestrial life Temperatures in Alaska and the Arctic have increased over the last 50 years at a rate more than twice as fast as the global average temperature Poor people are vulnerable to man made climate change and respond rapidly to its impacts Diverse knowledge of and approaches to climate change help understand this growing problem global average air temperature has increased in the recent past by approximately 1.0 C 1.8 F According to the Climate Science Special Report the last several years have been record breaking and the period of 1901-2016 is the warmest Greenhouse gas GHG emissions are still rising with damaging effects on the Earth's climate At the moment the concentration of CO₂ is higher than at any point in time at least the past 800 000 years However carbon dioxide CO₂ is not the only GHG that impacts human induced climate change

Faith-based Organisations in Ethiopia Aklilu Dalelo, Till Stellmacher, 2012-09-11 As in other African countries the engagement of faith based organizations FBOs in the development sector in Ethiopia is tremendous and manifold FBOs are however still insufficiently integrated in the development discourse and often operate under the radar of international and multilateral donors This can be to a large extent reasoned by the fact that very little empirical research has hitherto been undertaken to assess the impact of FBO activities in Ethiopia Upon this background this study contributes to the debate among practitioners and researchers on the actual and potential contribution of FBOs to development in Ethiopia This is exemplified by the work of the Ethiopian Kale Heywet Church EKHC in rural areas of southern Ethiopia in the thematic fields of schooling ecological balance and food security Cross sectional and case study designs form the principal approaches used in the study both quantitative and qualitative methods were used
