Digital Dilemmas Power Resistance And The Internet:

Digital Dilemmas M.I. Franklin, 2013 Digital Dilemmas is a groundbreaking ethnographic mixed method approach to understanding dynamics of power and resistance as they are played out around the future of the internet M I Franklin looks at the way that publics governments and multilateral institutions are being redefined and reinvented in digital settings that are ubiquitous and yet controlled by a relative few Franklin does this through three original and wide ranging case studies that get at the way that computer mediated power relations play out on the ground through a mixture of overlapping online and offline activity at personal community and transnational levels Case studies include online activities around homelessness and street papers in the U S and around the world digital and human rights activism carried out through the United Nations and the ongoing battle between proprietary and free and open source software proponents The result is a thought provoking and seminal work on the way that the new paradigms of power and resistance forged online reshape localized and traditional power structures offline

Digital Dilemmas Marianne Franklin, 2013 This study presents an ethnographic mixed method approach to understanding the dynamics of power and resistance as they are played out around the future of the internet The text looks at the way that publics governments and multilateral institutions are being redefined and reinvented in digital settings that are ubiquitous and yet controlled by a relative few This is done through three case studies that get at the way that computer mediated power relations play out on the ground through a mixture of overlapping online and offline activity at personal community and transnational levels

Digital Dilemmas M.I. Franklin, 2013-11-19 Digital Dilemmas looks at the dynamics of power and resistance surrounding the internet It focuses on how publics nation states and multilateral institutions are being continually reinvented in local and global decision making domains that are accessed and controlled by a relative few Importantly it unpacks the ways in which computer mediated power relations play out as on the ground and cyberspatial practices and discourses that collude and collide with one another at the personal community and transnational level Case studies include homelessness and the internet rights based advocacy for the online environment at the United Nations and how the ongoing battle between proprietary and open source software designs affects ordinary people and policy making The result is an innovative and groundbreaking critique of the way new paradigms of power and resistance forged online reshape traditional power hierarchies offline at home and abroad
