Quadrilingual Education in Singapore Rita Elaine Silver, Wendy D. Bokhorst-Heng, 2016-01-21 This book explores Singapore's language education system. Unlike previous volumes which discuss the bilingual requirement for learning, it focuses on Singapore's quadrilingual system, bringing together articles on each of the four languages: English, Mandarin, Malay, and Tamil, as well as articles that examine more than one language. It highlights past successes, current concerns, and future directions for language education. The book focuses on classroom pedagogy in all four official languages, showcasing how languages are taught and learned in Singapore as a basis for better understanding the system from the inside out. The authors present empirical classroom-based studies on language pedagogy in all four languages, as well as updated information on the current socio-political context and how it has influenced attempts at pedagogical innovation. Consideration is given to the dialectical relationship between policy and practice. The chapters also include discussions of pre-school age learning, influences of language policy, home literacy practices, and commentaries by international language in education scholars. This approach also provides a basis for international comparison, especially for those who are interested in fostering English proficiency while maintaining one or more national languages. The volume is particularly important in light of the continuing international efforts to integrate English into national educational systems where it is not the dominant language.

Developing Future-Ready Learners for a Global Age Suzanne S. Choo, Woon Chia Liu, Bee Leng Chua (Learning officer), 2024-12 Choo Liu and Chua offer a dynamic look into the tripartite relationship between education research policy and practice that characterizes Singapore's changing education landscape. Over the years, Singapore has garnered increasing attention internationally for its world-class education system. Pushing back against the stereotypical notions of exam and teacher-centric education in Asia, the contributors to this volume discuss opportunities as well as challenges in Singapore's innovation towards constructivist, critical, culturally responsive and cosmopolitan forms of learning. Highlighting the pedagogical innovation and its context in Singapore's teacher education and schools, the authors bridge theory and practice by providing an understanding of innovative practices informed by key shifts in Singapore's education policies and key conceptual principles informing these practices. More importantly, it provides on-the-ground empirical insights into the ways these innovative pedagogical practices are enacted in the classroom and in teacher education programmes. Each chapter provides in-depth understanding of how these pedagogies are applied across various subject disciplines including guided problem-solving in Mathematics, games-based pedagogy in science, multimodal literacies in language, ethical criticism in Literature, non-linear pedagogy in Physical Education, multicultural approaches in music and dialogic pedagogy in drama among others. Balancing theoretical and empirical focus, this resourceful text will be of interest to students, researchers and practitioners in educational development, pedagogy and teacher education as well as policymakers across international fields in education.

Diversifying Schools David Hung, Longkai Wu, Dennis Kwek, 2022-02-04. This book discusses the strategies that the Singapore Education System has embarked on to encourage school change and innovations. It documents the change journey of Specialized Schools and Future Schools in Singapore with a view to understand the key tenets that enable school-wide change and reform. The intents for change and reform are to anchor the education system to the basic foundations and principles of education and yet enable the system as a whole to be malleable to change and globalization. It shows how Singapore enables diversity within a structured environment through innovations in Specialized and Future Schools and highlights the systemic rationale behind various efforts in Specialized and Future Schools and the kinds of adaptations schools have made to leverage structures and make adjustments for their contexts.
