Deep Things Out of Darkness John G. T. Anderson, 2013 Natural history the deliberate observation of the environment is arguably the oldest science From purely practical beginnings as a way of finding food and shelter natural history evolved into the holistic systematic study of plants animals and the landscape This book chronicles the rise decline and ultimate revival of natural history within the realms of science and public discourse It charts the journey of the naturalist s endeavour from prehistory to the present underscoring the need for natural history in an era of dynamic environmental change

Marsupial and Placental Mammal Species in Environmental Risk Assessment Strategies Marcelo L Larramendy, Guillermo Eli Liwszyc, 2022-06-24 With the expansion of human settlements and the environmental changes brought on by human activity and pollutants toxicology and risk assessment of mammal species is becoming increasingly of interest to toxicologists involved in environmental research This book focuses specifically on environmental risk assessment in marsupial and placental mammals Marsupial ecotoxicology is poorly understood in scientific research and as such environmental risk assessment in marsupials is an area of rapidly growing interest This book will be an ideal companion to toxicologists and ecologists interested in risk assessment in the environments of mammals Particularly those with an interest in the impact introduced by human activity The book will also be of interest to those working in conservation biology biological invasion biocontrol and habitat management

Aeroecology Phillip B. Chilson, Winifred F. Frick, Jeffrey F. Kelly, Felix Liechti, 2018-03-23 This book consists of a diverse collection of chapters that seeks to broaden our fundamental understanding of the ecological function and biological importance of the Earth s lower atmosphere which provides a huge living space for billions of animals moving within and across continents Their migration dispersal and foraging activities connect water and land habitats within and across continents Drawing upon the wide ranging experience of the authors the book takes an inherently interdisciplinary approach that serves to introduce the reader to the topic of aeroecology frame some of the basic biological questions that can be addressed within the context of aeroecology and highlight several existing and emerging technologies that are being used to promote aeroecological studies The book begins with several background chapters that provide introduction into such topics as atmospheric science the concept of the habitat animal physiology and methods of navigation It then continues with a broad discussion of observational methods available to and used by aeroecologists Finally several targeted examples of aeroecological studies are presented Following the development of the chapters the reader is provided with a unifying framework for investigating how the dynamic properties of meteorological conditions at local regional and global scales affect the organisms that depend on the air for foraging and movement Material presented in the book should be of interest to anyone wishing to gain a comprehensive understanding of the aerosphere itself and the myriad airborne organisms that inhabit and depend upon this environment for their existence The material should be accessible to a diverse set of readers at all stages of training and across a range of research expertise Proceedings "Science and Technology for Global Ecology" ,1999
