The Palgrave Handbook of Leadership in Transforming Asia Nuttawuth Muenjohn, Adela McMurray, 2017-07-25 This handbook provides a comprehensive overview and evaluation of the variety of organizational leadership issues within the Asian region It highlights the relationship between leaders and their followers and the complexity of leadership research and practices in Asian transformational economies Covering a wide range of contexts and perspectives the chapters are based on empirical studies with evidence based findings that can be used as case studies for academics and practitioners The handbook makes significant contributions to leadership theory including practice and assists international researchers practitioners and students in understanding the influence of the Asian culture and its impact on leadership Research Handbook of International Talent Management Yipeng Liu, 2019 International talent management has become a critically important topic for scholarly discussion in policy debates and among the business community. Despite this, however, research into talent management tends to lack theoretical underpinnings, especially from an international multidisciplinary and comparative perspective. This Research Handbook fills this gap, bringing together a range of leading researchers, scholars, and thinkers to debate and advance the conceptualization and understanding of this multifaceted subject.

International Security in the Asia-Pacific Alan Chong, 2017-09-13 This volume argues that international security in the Asia Pacific lends itself to contradictory analyses of centrifugal and centripetal trends. Transitional polycentrism is intrinsically awkward as a description of the security of states and their populations; it implies the loosening of state control and the emergence of newly asserted authority by mixed constellations of intergovernmental organizations and non-state actors. It implies a competition of agendas, threats to the integrity of borders, and human security threats such as natural disasters, airliner crashes, and displacement by man-made pollution and food scarcity. Conversely, polycentrism could also imply a return to a more neo-realist oriented international order where great powers ignore ASEAN and steer regional order according to their perceived interests and relative military superiority. This book embraces these contradictory trends as a foundation of analysis and accepts that disorder can also be re-described from the perspective of studied detachment as polycentric order.

Whither South East Asian Management? Chris Rowley, Malcolm Warner, 2013-09-13 This book examines the directions in which various structures and processes of management and business are moving in South East Asia, covering Indonesia, Malaysia, Thailand, and Vietnam. It aims to update previous works in the field covering management and business in these countries. It goes on to deal with a wide variety of themes and issues: functional and practice areas, sectors, and organisational types. Many key sectors are also covered, such as finance, retailing, telecoms, etc. The types of organisations covered range from multinational companies to state-owned enterprises. The contributors cover current and ongoing developments of these themes, particularly in the context of globalization. The book also addresses the future directions management may be moving in this important part of the international economy. The authors are all experts in their fields and are all based in universities and business schools in the region within the respective countries involved. The work is aimed at undergraduate and postgraduate students in business administration, especially those on MBA programmes, development economics, management studies, and related fields, as well as lecturers in those subjects and researchers in the field. This book was published as a special issue of Asia Pacific Business Review.

Developing Strategies for the Modern International Airport Alan Williams, 2016-04-22 Developing Strategies for the Modern International Airport identifies and analyses the primary issues facing the modern international airport and their role in a global economy. Based on the premise that the aviation industry has a primary and decisive role in the economic and social development of the modern international economy, this book examines the modern international airport and its process.

of integration into the larger global economy As the integration of the aviation industry within the larger context of international business grows there are an increasing number of important airport sites world wide which are exhibiting the characteristics of what has been called by one authority an aerotropolis where major airports are integrated into the wider multi business dynamics of cities such as Shanghai or Beijing Such pioneering developments are indicative of this region and bring with them a host of new issues and challenges for economic development While international projections of the growth in demand for aviation services suggest that the key region for future expansion will be the ASEAN group of countries there are marked differences between countries in their overall plans for viable economic development As a result the essential raising of funding required for international airport development must compete against other potential development projects all trying to attract the attention of national policy makers
