Global Regionalization Core Peripheral Trends:

Global Regionalization H. S. Geyer, 2006-01-01 Global Regionalization examines the astonishing political and economic changes that have completely reshaped the political geography of certain regions during the past fifteen years. It deals with the concept of global bloc formation, examining the impacts that changing political economic conditions and relationships in and between nations have on demographic and economic flows.

Global Regionalization H. S. Geyer, 2006 Examines the political and economic changes that have reshaped the political geography of certain regions. This book deals with the concept of global bloc formation, examining the impacts that political economic conditions and relationships in and between nations have on demographic and economic flows.

International Handbook of Urban Policy: Contentious global issues H. S. Geyer, 2007-01-01 This first Handbook in a series of three original reference works looks at globally contentious urban policy issues from a wide variety of different angles and perspectives. Matters related to urban densification, population mobility, urban inequality, and sustainability are analysed in a manner that will not only interest the advanced student but also the novice. Urban policy covers a vast field. This first volume combines chapters covering three broad themes: policy issues pertaining to the spatial aspects of the city, social and mobility issues, and issues of urban governance. The spotlight initially falls on urban structure, urban densification, the disappearing urban rural divide, the urban economic landscape, and the transformation of socialist economies. The Handbook then goes on to focus on migration, social mobility, crime, terrorism, and social inequality. Finally, urban sustainability and urban governance come under the spotlight. Integration of the planning process, flexibilities in infrastructure, and areas of neglect in environmental management feature strongly in this section of the Handbook. Books of this nature are often slanted in one particular direction; however, this Handbook's approach is different. Not only has the editor avoided shying away from politically sensitive issues, but contributions have also been included that reflect distinct differences of opinion on politically sensitive issues; hence the volume's subtitle of 'contentious global issues'. As a Handbook, the chapters have been written not only for the advanced student and academics but also with undergraduate students in mind. The Handbook will appeal to scholars and researchers of geography and urban and development planning, demography, and social science, and environmental scientists, for the focus on urban sustainability issues.

The Global Banking Network: What is Behind the Increasing Regionalization Trend? Mr. Eugenio M. Cerutti, Haonan Zhou, 2018-03-09 This paper analyses the nature of the increasing regionalization process in global banking. Despite the large decline in aggregate cross-border banking lending volumes, some parts of the global banking network are currently more interlinked regionally than before the Global Financial Crisis. After developing a simple theoretical model capturing banks' internationalization decisions, our estimation shows that this regionalization trend is present even after controlling for traditional gravitational variables, e.g. distance, language, legal system, etc., especially among lenders in EMs and non-core banking systems such as Australia, Canada, Hong Kong, and Singapore. Moreover, this regionalization trend was present before the GFC but it has increased since then and it seems to be associated with regulatory variables and the opportunities created by the retrenchment of several European lenders

Urban Transformations: Centres, Peripheries and Systems Daniel P. O'Donoghue, 2016-02-11 Definitions of urban entities and urban typologies are changing constantly to reflect the growing physical extent of cities and their hinterlands These include suburbs sprawl edge cities gated communities conurbations and networks of places and such transformations cause conflict between central and peripheral areas at a range of spatial scales This book explores the role of cities their influence and the transformations they have undertaken in the recent past Ways in which cities regenerate how plans change how they are governed and how they react to the economic realities of the day are all explored Concepts such as polycentricity are explored to highlight the fact that cities are part of wider regions and the study of urban geography in the future needs to be cognisant of changing relationships within and between cities Bringing together studies from around the world at different scales from small town to megacity this volume captures a snapshot of some of the changes in city centres suburbs and the wider urban region In doing so it provides a deeper understanding of the evolving form and function of cities and their associated peripheral regions as well as their impact on modern twenty first century landscapes

The Palgrave Encyclopedia of Global Security Studies, 2023-02-15 This encyclopedia provides an authoritative guide intended for students of all levels of studies offering multidisciplinary insight and analysis of over 500 headwords covering the main concepts of Security and Non traditional Security and their relation to other scholarly fields and aspects of real world issues in the contemporary geopolitical world

Globalization Howard J. Wiarda, 2007 The definitive volume on globalization from a comparative politics perspective

The Sustainable World C. A. Brebbia, 2011 This book contains a collection of papers presented at a series of meetings organised by the Wessex Institute of Technology WIT dealing with sustainability the environment and ecological issues The complexity of the modern world presents new challenges to scientists and engineers that requires finding interdisciplinary solutions Any problem solving carried out in the isolation of a particular field of expertise may give rise to a series of damaging effects which can create new and unintentional environmental and ecological problems Specialisation while required in our culture needs to be kept under control by the understanding of the whole which leads to the need of relying on interdisciplinary teams Nowadays this can be easily achieved thanks to the massive advances in information technology which ensure continuous and immediate contact between all partners This collaboration needs to be effective and to produce results that will lead to a better world For this to happen it is necessary that different groups of scientists and engineers acquire the necessary skills to be able to talk to each other Furthermore they need to understand the social and economic aspects of a given problem in addition to the scientific and engineering issues involved The Wessex Institute of Technology WIT has a long and very successful record in organising interdisciplinary conferences The papers in this book are a reflection of the proceedings of some of those meetings

Conflicts in Environmental Regulation and the Internationalisation of the State Ulrich Brand, Christoph Görg, Joachim Hirsch, Markus Wissen, 2008-04-24 Examines the global regulation of biodiversity politics through international treaties assessing how the discourse and politics of sustainable development have contributed to the internationalization of the state

The UK Regional-National Economic Problem Philip McCann, 2016-03-10 In recent years the United Kingdom has become a more and more divided society with inequality between the regions as marked as it has ever been In a landmark analysis of the current state of Britain's regional development Philip McCann utilises current statistics examines historical trends and makes pertinent international comparisons to assess the state of the nation The UK Regional National Economic Problem brings attention to the highly centralised top down governance structure that the UK deploys and demonstrates that it is less than ideally placed to rectify these inequalities The North South divide in the UK has never been greater and the rising inequalities are evident in almost all aspects of the economy including productivity incomes employment status and wealth Whilst the traditional economic dominance of London and its hinterland has continued along with relative resilience in the South West of England and Scotland in contrast the Midlands the North of England Northern Ireland and Wales lag behind by most measures of prosperity This inequality is greatly limiting national economic performance and the fact that Britain has a below average standard of living by European and OECD terms has been ignored The UK's economic and governance inequality is unlikely to be fundamentally rebalanced by the current governance and connectivity trends although this definitive study suggests that some areas of improvement are possible if they are well implemented This pivotal analysis is essential reading for postgraduate students in economics and urban studies as well as researchers and policy makers in local and central government

Secondary Cities and Local Governance in Southern Africa Abraham R. Matamanda, James Chakwizira, Kudzai Chatiza, Verna Nel, 2024-01-16 This book is the first to consider the roles challenges and governance responses of secondary cities in southern Africa to changing circumstances Among the challenges are governance under conditions of resource scarcity managing informality the effects and responses to climate change and the changing roles of the cities within the national space economy It fills the gap in the literature on secondary cities with original case studies drawn from South Africa Zimbabwe and Mozambique The authors are all African scholars working and living in the region with intimate knowledge of the settings they describe The book is critical as it includes such regional case studies of different secondary cities in Southern Africa but also because of its multidisciplinary it contains substantive and pertinent issues such as climate change disaster management local economic development and basic services delivery It considers diverse environments yet with similar challenges that could provide useful policy and governance proposals for other cities

A Century of Geography at Stellenbosch University 1920-2020 Gustav Visser, Jan de Waal, 2020-09-28 A Century of Geography at Stellenbosch University 1920-2020 focuses on the establishment and development of geography as an academic discipline at Stellenbosch South Africa's founding geography department The ways in which the department currently operates are deemed fundamentally joined to its past and pave the way for the evolution of geography and its various subdisciplines going forward The investigation seeks to highlight the development of the discipline and its institutionalisation as part of the academic offerings of the university while providing details about the teaching and research conducted as well as of the people who contributed to these endeavours It also furnishes the academic geography community at Stellenbosch and geography more broadly with some insights into its past development and more recent changes along with a complete bibliography of conducted research

Global Politics of Regionalism Mary Farrell, Björn Hettne, Luk Van Langenhove, 2005-08-20 This book explores the phenomenon of regionalism In a seeming contradiction to globalization there is a growing tendency for countries to enter into regional arrangements as a response to the pressures of operating in a global marketplace But regionalism is also emerging as a phenomenon in its own right serving distinct purposes and taking different forms in different areas The contributors explore how these patterns impact on wider issues such as global governance democracy and trade The book reviews the major theoretical approaches to regional cooperation including perspectives from international relations political economy economics and sociology It is divided into three main sections theoretical approaches to regionalism issues of regional cooperation such as security monetary issues identity and integration and an exploration of specific case studies including the Middle East Africa the Americas China Europe Asia and the Pacific With an international range of contributors including Bjorn Hettne Louise Fawcett and Andrew Hurrell this in depth and multi disciplinary guide will be of interest to students across the social sciences and to the wider policy community

International Handbook of Urban Policy H. S. Geyer, 2011 This important Handbook reveals that most urban growth takes place in the less developed world and much of it represents over urbanization that is urbanization in which most migrants cannot effectively compete for employment cannot find adequate shelter and do not have the means to feed themselves properly Yet compared to rural poverty urban poverty is widely regarded as the lesser of the two evils H S Geyer and his contributors highlight the enormous challenges posed by urbanization to decision makers at all levels of government This final volume in a series of three original reference works covers four broad themes including urban growth patterns spatial issues policy issues and urban growth determinants The chapters have been written not only for the advanced student and academics but also with undergraduate students in mind The Handbook will appeal to scholars and researchers interested in international urban development issues

Routledge Handbook of World-Systems Analysis Salvatore J. Babones, Christopher K. Chase-Dunn, 2012 This volume reviews the state of the field of world systems analysis World systems analysts study the structure of the relationships among people organisations and states and how those relationships change over time

Theories of New Regionalism F. Söderbaum, T. Shaw, 2003-11-11 Theories of New Regionalism represents the first systematic attempt to bring together leading theories of new regionalism Major theorists from around the world develop their own distinctive theoretical perspectives spanning new regionalism world order approaches along with regional governance liberal institutionalism neoclassical development regionalism to regional security complex theory RSCT and the region building approach

Social Regionalism in the Global Economy Adelle Blackett, Christian Lévesque, 2010-12-20 Regional trade agreements have expanded exponentially over the past decade and have become a significant if controversial factor in the expanse of economic globalization Social Regionalism in the Global Economy attempts to take a fresh interdisciplinary approach to addressing labour regulation by drawing upon insights from industrial relations comparative capitalism and new governance schools of thought It stands for the proposition that an interdisciplinary study of regional regulation holds the potential to offer a fuller account of social regionalism Its focus is to consider how institutions and labour market actors reconstruct and renegotiate regulatory space in a changing economic environment characterized by regional impulses It argues that there is a dynamic interplay between institutions and actors of social regulation This interplay occurs at many levels The book therefore maps both how actors shape institutions as well as how institutions shape social actors ability to affect regulatory processes The editors bring together leading international specialists willing to move beyond textual analyses of regional agreements to offer alternative accounts of regional integration The work emphasizes that institutional context and social actors at multiple governance levels are integral to the progressive construction and regulation of regional space It further contributes to the literature by combining insights from overlooked regional entities in transition and developing countries with original analyses from the European Union and the NAFTA These aims will be achieved by combining original research that is empirically grounded with theoretically informed analysis

La ville et l'urbain Antonio da Cunha, Laurent Matthéy, 2007-01-01 Dans les années 1960 la ville et l'urbain ont constitué un champ privilégié de construction et de développement de la nouvelle géographie Les méthodes quantitatives permettaient de mieux mesurer le changement urbain et d'en analyser les structures la conviction que l'espace n'est pas qu'un donné mais un produit social ouvrait la voie à une géographie plus radicale dans sa portée politique le désir de faire de l'homme la mesure de toute chose conduisait enfin à envisager l'épaisseur existentielle des territoires de la ville Or le monde change Le XXI^e siècle promet d'être passionnant Les villes se métropolisent La question de la durabilité de leur système se pose avec acuité L'habitabilité des territoires fait question Aussi qu'en est-il aujourd'hui de ce champ de la connaissance géographique Quels sont les objets émergents des savoirs relatifs à la ville et à l'urbain Quels sont les critères ou les conditions de leur développement souhaitable Trois générations de géographes rassemblés ici en l'honneur de Jean Bernard Racine posent un regard réflexif critique et prospectif sur leur pratique et connaissance de la ville et de l'urbain produisant par là même une cartographie des savoirs qui légitime et inscrit ne s'inscrivent pas moins dans une tradition géographique
