Cosmopolitan Communications Pippa Norris, Ronald Inglehart, 2009-08-31 Societies around the world have experienced a flood of information from diverse channels originating beyond local communities and even national borders transmitted through the rapid expansion of cosmopolitan communications For more than half a century conventional interpretations Norris and Inglehart argue have commonly exaggerated the potential threats arising from this process A series of firewalls protect national cultures This book develops a new theoretical framework for understanding cosmopolitan communications and uses it to identify the conditions under which global communications are most likely to endanger cultural diversity The authors analyze empirical evidence from both the societal level and the individual level examining the outlook and beliefs of people in a wide range of societies The study draws on evidence from the World Values Survey covering 90 societies in all major regions worldwide from 1981 to 2007 The conclusion considers the implications of their findings for cultural policies

Managing Conflicts in a Globalizing ASEAN Mikio Oishi, 2019-11-11 This book investigates the patterns of conflict management in contemporary Southeast Asia The region has long been characterized by the twin process of state formation and nation building which has been responsible for most of the region's intrastate and interstate conflicts While this process is still ongoing regional conflicts and their management are increasingly affected by globalisation which not only serves as a new source of or exacerbating factor to conflict but also makes new instruments available for conflict management

Employing the concepts of incompatibility management and mediation regime the book analyses the management of seven conflicts in the region the Rohingya crisis and the Kachin conflict in Myanmar the Khmer Krom conflict in Vietnam the West Papua conflict in Indonesia the political conflict in Thailand the Mekong River conflicts involving five Southeast Asian countries and China and the transboundary haze problem emanating from Indonesia The efforts to manage each of them are imagined as constituting a mediation regime and its effectiveness is assessed in terms of good governance Among the findings of the book is that the measures of manoeuvring around incompatibilities are employed predominantly in managing regional conflicts In intrastate conflicts which mostly involve ethnic minorities the authorities first aim to eliminate or impose its own position on ethnic parties When this strategy proves unsuccessful they have no choice but manoeuvre around incompatibilities which may eventually open up a space for mutual learning In interstate conflicts the manoeuvring around strategy works in a more straightforward manner contributing to regional stability However the stability is achieved at the cost of local communities and the natural environment which absorb the incompatibilities in conflict

The Politics of Economic Regionalism K. Cai, 2010-01-20 While major theories of economic regionalism in the existing literature are primarily constructed to explore institutionalized regional integration European integration in particular the analytical framework developed in this work explains the unique process and pattern of regional integration in East Asia

Poverty, Hunger, and Democracy in Africa D. Bigman, 2011-05-27 The book evaluates alternative policy options for the African countries to overcome the food crisis and the changing structure of world trade to sustain their impressive growth of the early 2000s These policies must go beyond economic reforms and seek a solution to the entrenched political problems that divided the continent

The Globalization of Multinational Enterprise Activity and Economic Development N. Hood, S. Young, 1999-10-21 This book explores and analyzes the effects of the globalization strategies of multinational enterprises MNEs on national and local development and highlights the implications of these effects for policy makers Containing contributions from leading international business scholars the text addresses this previously little explored but critically important issue for the future of the world economy

Agricultural Reform in Rwanda Chris Huggins, 2017-10-15 International observers have lauded Rwanda as an example of an African country taking control of its own development trajectory and as a market friendly destination for investment A key component of this narrative has been an ambitious programme of agricultural reform involving private firms NGOs and international charities The Rwandan government claims these reforms have been a resounding success tripling crop yields and helping to combat hunger Chris Huggins argues however that Rwanda's liberal modernising image sits poorly with the regime's continuing authoritarian tendencies Featuring in depth case studies of the effects of agricultural reform in three different regions and drawing on hundreds of interviews Huggins shows that the much vaunted liberalization of agriculture has in fact depended on the coercion of Rwandan farmers and in many cases has had a detrimental impact on their livelihoods With the Kagame regime now coming under increasing international scrutiny this work provides a timely look at the impact of market friendly authoritarianism in contemporary Africa making essential reading for students and scholars of development in the fields of sociology anthropology political science and economics Governing Globalization Deepak Nayyar, 2002-07-18 It is now more than fifty years since the United Nations system and the Bretton Woods institutions were created The world has changed since then and so have its governance needs in terms of institutions and rules It is time to think about the contours of institutions and governance that would meet the needs of the world economy and also polity at least for the first quarter of the twenty first century This book is among the first to examine the subject in depth The study is divided into four parts The first situates the subject in the wider context of globalization which has shaped development in the world economy affected the living conditions of people and constrained the role of nation states The international context and the national setting are explored The second part analyses some issues of emerging significance in the contemporary world such as global macroeconomic management transnational corporations international capital flows and cross border movements of people to suggest that there are some missing institutions which are needed The third part provides a critical evaluation of the existing institutions in retrospect with a focus on the UN the IMF the World Bank and the WTO It analyses how existing rules need to be modified or existing institutions need to be restructured to meet the present and future needs of global governance The fourth part explores some important elements of governance which are critical for any vision of the future It suggests some changes in existing institutions and points to emerging governance needs where new institutions may have to be created This authoritative volume will be of value to readers with an interest in international economics development economics and international relations It will also be of value to practitioners both policy makers and diplomats concerned with problems of global governance and should become the standard reference on the subject

Paths to a World-Class University Qi Wang, Ying Cheng, 2011-07-22 Within higher education world class universities are regarded as elite research universities and play a critical role in developing human resources and generating new knowledge in the context of a knowledge based economy Governments around the world have made the operation of their universities at the cutting edge of intellectual and scientific development their policy priority and top universities make every effort to compete at this global stage Paths to A World Class University provides insights into recent and ongoing experiences of building world class universities both at a national level and at an institutional level It collects fifteen essays most of which originated from papers presented at The Third International Conference on World Class Universities held in November 2009 in Shanghai China and organised by the Center for World Class Universities of Shanghai Jiao Tong University Divided into two parts the book focuses on the role of world class universities in national systems and looks at institutional experiences and lessons in building world class universities This book not only represents a contribution to the ongoing discussion on the topic of building world class universities but can be seen a continuation of the previous two volumes on this topic World Class Universities and Ranking Aiming beyond Status and The World Class University as Part of a New Higher Education Paradigm From Institutional Qualities to Systemic Excellence All three books will be useful reading for students and academics in higher education generally in addition to policy makers and informed practitioners
