Manifestoes and Transformations in the Early Modernist City Professor Christian Hermansen Cordua,2012-11-28 The industrialization of the nineteenth century European city facilitated developing conceptions of the model city and allowed for large scale urban transformations The urban discourse in the latter half of the nineteenth century was consequently dominated by a dialectic exchange between the ideal and the practical a debate played out in the formation of the modern metropolis Manifestoes and Transformations is the first work to deal with urban utopias and their relationship with actual urban interventions Bringing together a carefully chosen wide ranging team of experts the book provides a broad contextual exploration of the ideas and urban practices which are the foundations of our conception of the contemporary city As such it is a valuable resource for students interested in the formation of the modernist city

Sitte, Hegemann and the Metropolis Charles Bohl,Jean-François Lejeune,2009-06-02 These essays from leading names in the field weave together the parallels and differences between the past and present of civic art Offering prospects for the first decades of the twenty first century the authors open up a broad international dialogue on civic art which relates historical practice to the contemporary meaning of civic art and its application to community building within today s multi cultural modern cities The volume brings together the rich perspectives on the thought practice and influence of leading figures from the great era of civic art that began in the nineteenth century and blossomed in the early twentieth century as documented in the works of Werner Hegemann and his contemporaries and considered fundamental to contemporary practice

The Jewish Ghetto and the Visual Imagination of Early Modern Venice Dana E. Katz,2017-08-18 Dana E Katz examines the Jewish ghetto of Venice as a paradox of urban space In 1516 the Senate established the ghetto on the periphery of the city and legislated nocturnal curfews to reduce the Jews visibility in Venice Katz argues that it was precisely this practice of marginalization that put the ghetto on display for Christian and Jewish eyes According to her research early modern Venetians grounded their conceptions of the ghetto in discourses of sight Katz s unique approach demonstrates how Venice s

Jewish ghetto engaged the sensory imagination of its inhabitants in complex and contradictory ways that both shaped urban space and reshaped Christian Jewish relations Le Corbusier's Practical Aesthetic of the City Christoph Schnoor,2020-10-18 Set within an insightful analysis this book describes the genesis ideas and ideologies which influenced La Construction des Villes by Le Corbusier This volume makes the important theoretical work available for the first time in English offering an interpretation as to how much and in what way his essai may have influenced his later work Dealing with questions of aesthetic urbanism La Construction des Villes shows Le Corbusier's intellectual influences in the field of urbanism Discontent that the script was not sufficiently avant garde he abandoned it soon after it was written in the early 20th century It was only in the late 1970s that American historian H Allen Brooks discovered 250 pages of the forgotten manuscript in Switzerland The author of this book Christoph Schnoor later discovered another 350 handwritten pages of the original manuscript consisting of extracts chapters and bibliographic notes This splendid find enabled the re-establishment of the manuscript as Le Corbusier had abandoned it unfinished in the spring of 1911 This volume offers an unbiased extension of our knowledge of Le Corbusier and his work In addition it reminds us of the urban design innovations of the very early 20th century which can still serve as valuable lessons for a new understanding of contemporary urban design The Spaces of the Modern City Gyan Prakash, Kevin M. Kruse,2021-06-08 By United Nations estimates 60 percent of the world's population will be urban by 2030 With the increasing speed of urbanization especially in the developing world scholars are now rethinking standard concepts and histories of modern cities The Spaces of the Modern City historicizes the contemporary discussion of urbanism highlighting the local and global breadth of the city landscape This interdisciplinary collection examines how the city develops in the interactions of space and imagination The essays focus on issues such as street design in Vienna the motion picture industry in Los Angeles architecture in Marseilles and Algiers and the kaleidoscopic paradox of post-apartheid Johannesburg They explore the nature of spatial politics examining the disparate worlds of eighteenth century Baghdad nineteenth century Morelia Cold War era West Berlin and postwar Los Angeles They also show the meaning of everyday spaces to urban life illuminating issues such as crime in metropolitan London youth culture in Dakar memory projects in Tokyo and Bombay cinema Informed by a range of theoretical writings this collection offers a fresh and truly global perspective on the nature of the modern city The contributors are Sheila Crane Belinda Davis Mamadou Diouf Philip J. Ethington David Frisby Christina M. Jimenez Dina Rizk Khoury Ranjani Mazumdar Frank Mort Martin Murray Jordan Sand and Sarah Schrank Repressed Spaces Paul Carter,2004-11-02 In Repressed Spaces Paul Carter tours the cultural history of agoraphobia the fear of open space Its symptoms were first described in The Anatomy of Melancholy 1621 by Robert Burton the British scholar and writer although it wasn't until 1871 that Carl Otto Westphal coined the term to describe several of his patients who experienced severe anxiety when walking through streets or squares There have been many attempts to explain and treat the condition critics of modernization have linked it to bad city planning psychoanalysts calling it street panic have blamed it on the Oedipus complex psychiatrists have tied it to existential insecurity and describe it as the fear of places or situations that have triggered panic attacks Freud believed that agoraphobia like all phobias was part of an anxiety neurosis and had a sexual origin Taking as his starting point the fact that Freud himself was agoraphobic and analyzing the way people have negotiated open spaces from Greek and Roman times to the present day Paul Carter finds that space fear ultimately results from the inhibition of movement Along the way the author asks why Freud repressed his agoraphobia and examines literature the work of architects and theorists including Le Corbusier Walter Benjamin and R D Laing artists such as Munch Lapique and Giacometti and the German street films of the 1920s He concludes by proposing a new way of regarding open space a new poetics of agoraphobia one that is sensitive to the agoraphobe's point of view and provides lessons for architects and urban planners today

Frank Lloyd Wright and Le Corbusier Richard A. Etlin, 1994 Architectural historian Etlin defines the main principles of progressive 19th century architectural thought the picturesque philosophical eclecticism and the spirit of the times These principles are explored in detail in relation to 19th and 20th century architecture and also to demonstrate their importance to the work of Wright and Le Corbusier Illustrated with drawings and photos Distributed by St Martin's Press Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Encyclopedia of Twentieth Century Architecture R. Stephen Sennott, 2004 For more information including the introduction a full list of entries and contributors a generous selection of sample pages and more visit the Encyclopaedia of 20th Century Architecture website Focusing on architecture from all regions of the world this three volume set profiles the twentieth century's vast chronicle of architectural achievements both within and well beyond the theoretical confines of modernism Unlike existing works this encyclopedia examines the complexities of rapidly changing global conditions that have dispersed modern architectural types movements styles and building practices across traditional geographic and cultural boundaries

Towns, Plans and Society in Modern Britain Helen Meller, 1997-08-07 In this concise survey Helen Meller aims to explore the interaction of the social and physical environment of cities All modern societies have experienced mass urbanisation and have been subject to the economic social and technological forces which have produced this urbanisation Yet all towns and cities are not the same The author points out that historical and cultural factors have played and are still playing an important part in shaping responses to these forces This becomes even more clearly evident when the urban environment becomes subject to planning Urban regeneration has facilitated not just an improvement in the physical environment of cities but in their economic and social fortunes as well This study is an accessible analysis of the way in which social cultural and physical factors have created the quality of life in British cities over the past two centuries

Bodies in the Streets: The Somaesthetics of City Life, 2019-08-12 Cities are defined by their complex network of busy streets and the multitudes of people that animate them through physical presence and bodily actions that often differ dramatically elegant window shoppers and homeless beggars protesting crowds and patrolling police

As bodies shape city life so the city's spaces structures economies politics rhythms and atmospheres reciprocally shape the urban soma This collection of original essays explores the somaesthetic qualities and challenges of city life in Europe Asia Africa and the Americas from a variety of perspectives ranging from philosophy urban theory political theory and gender studies to visual art criminology and the interdisciplinary field of somaesthetics Together these essays illustrate the aesthetic cultural and political roles and trials of bodies in the city streets Neighborhood Emily Talen, 2019 In an effort to make neighborhoods compatible with 21st century ideals Talen has produced a singular resource for understanding what is meant by neighborhood a multi dimensional comprehensive view of what neighborhoods signify how they're idealized and measured and what their historical progression has been Design First David Walters, Linda Brown, 2012-08-06 Well grounded in the history and theory of Anglo American urbanism this illustrated textbook sets out objectives policies and design principles for planning new communities and redeveloping existing urban neighborhoods Drawing from their extensive experience the authors explain how better plans and consequently better places can be created by applying the three dimensional principles of urban design and physical place making to planning problems Design First uses case studies from the authors own professional projects to demonstrate how theory can be turned into effective practice using concepts of traditional urban form to resolve contemporary planning and design issues in American communities The book is aimed at architects planners developers planning commissioners elected officials and citizens and importantly students of architecture and planning with the objective of reintegrating three dimensional design firmly back into planning practice Introduction to Planning History in the United States Donald A. Krueckeberg, 2018-01-16 This book is an introduction to the history of the city planning profession in the United States from its roots in the middle of the nineteenth century to the present day The work examines important questions of American planning history Why did city planning develop in the manner it did What did it set out to achieve and how have those goals changed Where did planning thrive and who were its leaders What have been the most important ideas in planning and what is their relation to thought and social development By answering these questions this book provides a general understanding for further study of the extensive literature of planning and urban history Donald A. Krueckeberg divides this work into three historical periods an initial period of independent but gradually converging concepts of a planned city a second period of national organization experimentation and development and a third period of implementation of planning ideas in nearly all levels and areas of urban policymaking Krueckeberg begins with revealing the origins of modern planning in the movements for sanitary reform civic art and beautification classical revival in civic design and neighborhood settlements and housing reform A second section covers the institutionalization of the profession the rise of zoning and comprehensive planning influential figures of the period and the new communities program of the New Deal The book contains case studies and focuses on the role of the planner and the effectiveness of the profession Krueckeberg concludes with a bibliography of planning history in the United States
