Smith, 2016-07-11 There has always been an intricate relationship between religion and politics This encyclopedia provides a comprehensive overview of the interrelation of religion and politics from colonial days to the present Can a judge display the Ten Commandments outside of the courthouse Can a town set up a nativity scene on the village green during Christmas Should U S currency bear the In God We Trust motto Should public school students be allowed to form bible study groups Controversies about the separation of church and state the proper use of religious imagery in public space and the role of religious beliefs in public education are constantly debated This work offers insights into contemporary controversies regarding the uneasy intersections of religion and politics in America Organized alphabetically the entries place each topic in its proper historical context to help readers fully grasp how religious beliefs have always existed side by side and often clashed with political ideals in the United States from the time of the colonies The information is presented in an unbiased manner that favors no particular religious background or political inclination This work shows that politics and religion have always had an impact on one another and have done so in many ways that will likely surprise modern students

Wilson Dickinson,2019-12-11 When was the last time that we heard some good news For those tuned in to the ecological crisis and the daily chronicle of injustice the declaration of good news might seem synonymous with denial and avoidance The gospel of Jesus Christ helps us to face the suffering of the world and live in love and hope The only catch is it requires that we change It is only by losing our consumeristic profit seeking and isolated lives that we may save them The Green Good News finds a fresh take on the Gospels painting a picture of Jesus as a humorous and subversive teacher an organizer of alternative communities and food economies as a healer of bodies and relationships and as a prophet who sought to overturn an empire and restore a more just and joyful way of life Christ teaches and incarnates a vision for sustainable life and provides practices that mark the path toward it By exploring this always inspiring sustainable gospel we can find ways to transform our lives communities and even creation      To Care for Creation Stephen Ellingson,2016-08-26 In merely two decades a small number of resource poor religious organizations have created a new ethic and a new set of green religious traditions with an infrastructure in place to educate and mobilize individuals and organizations To Care for Creation explains how religious environmentalism has emerged despite various institutional and cultural barriers and why the new movement organizations follow a logic and set of practices that set them apart from the secular movement In addition to the new ethic and green religious traditions Ellingson shows how the movement launches programs to make religious building environmentally friendly fight toxic waste and mountain top removal protect watersheds and promote sustainable agriculture His book research involved him in six dozen interviews with key players in the 70 or so extant religious environmental movement organizations which are set against secular environmental organizations the difference is between a message of hope for the religious movement vs one of doom and gloom for the secular movement The religious movement is sorely understudied and it addresses a crucial issue of the dayclimate change

Claiming Earth as Common Ground Andrea Cohen-Kiener, 2012-05-10 Can religious people save the environment Can the environmental challenge save religion Our planet is in trouble and it will take an amazingly large and powerful force to shift into a more sustainable way of living Spiritual leader and environmental activist Andrea Cohen Kiener tells us that people of faith have the numbers the passion and the mandate to do it and that nothing else is strong enough to counterbalance business as usual In this urgent call to action Cohen Kiener gathers insights from ecology coalitions emerging theologies and spiritual and environmental activists to rally and inspire us to work across denominational lines in order to fulfill our sacred imperative to care for God's creation Cohen Kiener and contributors clearly outline the shared values of our faith traditions that drive our commitment to care for the earth Acknowledging the challenges in working together to implement positive change they present steps both big and small for individuals and groups for reversing our direction from consumption to sustainability Contributors include Rev Woody Bartlett founder Georgia Interfaith Power and Light Rev Tom Carr National Council of Churches Working Group on the Environment Rev Donna Schaper senior minister Judson Memorial Church New York City Rev Margaret Bullitt Jonas Religious Witness for the Earth Eboo Patel executive director Interfaith Youth Core Dr Lowell Rusty Pritchard national director of outreach Evangelical Environmental Network

Green Like God Jonathan Merritt, 2010-04-21 In GREEN LIKE GOD Jonathan Merritt gently and insightfully observes that the bible has a lot to say about environmental problems like unclean water material waste over consumption air pollution and global warming In fact Jonathan writes that in the book of Genesis God went green and never looked back Relying heavily on scripture Jonathan gives the case for green living but not because it's trendy and hip Rather it's part of living rightly as a believer It's an act of obedience to our Creator God GREEN LIKE GOD is at once practical prescriptive and conversational in tone The author looks at a number of trends with tips to help the reader wade into the world of creation care living An appendix includes suggestions of things we can do In addition the book includes interviews with everyday Christians to tell the story of the journey to environmental stewardship among people of faith This is the book that Christians are longing for and need today Written for a new generation of Christians who are struggling with how to deal with the important issue of creation care and green living GREEN LIKE GOD is both highly relevant and theologically sound It will have a profound impact on how Christians live and interact with the world today

God Is Green Ian Bradley, 1992-02-26 A simple yet superb explanation of why Christians should be environmentalists God Is Green shows through the Bible and other ancient writings how at the heart of Christian belief is a sense of a sacred world By rebutting the charges against Christianity its alleged arrogance toward nature and its glorification of man at nature's expense Bradley has crafted a book that both appeals and challenges      Footprint Files Susan Gage, 2004 This is a collection of ideas reflections activities and tips to help congregations care for creation rather than destroy it Beautifully illustrated using the image of footprints this resource encourages parishes to walk a path of sustainability as an expression of faith There are eight sections to the book including one how to do an environmental audit of your church and another that challenges parishioners to think about how to get the message out to the surrounding community
