

CLINICAL HEALTH
POLICY RESEARCH STUDY COURSE

Abstract: A study of the effects of a 12-week, 1000 kcal energy deficit diet on the body composition and metabolic profile of 10 obese women. The subjects were divided into two groups: a control group (n = 5) and an intervention group (n = 5). The intervention group was instructed to follow a 1000 kcal energy deficit diet for 12 weeks. The control group was instructed to follow a diet that maintained their current weight. Body composition was measured using dual-energy X-ray absorptiometry (DXA) at baseline and 12 weeks. Metabolic profile was measured using a metabolic cart at baseline and 12 weeks. The intervention group showed a significant decrease in body weight, fat mass, and total energy expenditure compared to the control group. The control group showed no significant changes in body composition or metabolic profile. The results suggest that a 1000 kcal energy deficit diet for 12 weeks can lead to significant weight loss and improvements in body composition and metabolic profile in obese women.
