Gil,2012-08-17 This is a story of Mexican family that arrived in America in the 1920s for the first time And so it is a tale of immigration settlement and cultural adjustment as well as generational progress Carlos B Gil one of the American sons born to this family places a magnifying glass on his ancestors who abandoned Mexico to arrive on the northern edge of Los Angeles California He narrates how his unprivileged relatives walked away from their homes in western Jalisco and northern Michoac n and traveled over several years to the U S border crossing it at Nogales Arizona and then finally settling into the barrio of the city of San Fernando Based on actual interviews the author recounts how his parents met married and started a family on the eve of the Great Depression With the aid of their testimonials the author s brothers and sisters help him tell of their growing up They call to memory their father s trials and tribulations as he tried to succeed in a new land laboring as a common citrus worker and how their mother helped shore him up as thousands of workers lost their jobs on account of the economic crash of 1929 Their story takes a look at how the family survived the Depression and a tragic accident how they engaged in micro businesses as a survival tactic and how the

Gil children gradually became American or Mexican American as they entered young adulthood beginning in the 1940s It also describes what life was like in their barrio The author also comments briefly on the advancement of the second and third Gil generations and in the Afterword likewise offers a wide ranging assessment of his family s experience including observations about the challenges facing other Latinos today

Ballistic Missile Proliferation in Non-Nuclear States Karim El-Baz,Ali Ghanbarpour-Dizboni,2024-08-14 This book offers an exploration of ballistic missile proliferation in the Middle East and also delves into the geopolitical landscape to unveil a narrative of contemporary Middle Eastern history The central focus of this book is to decipher the pivotal moments when three regional powers of the Middle East Egypt Saudi Arabia and Iran embraced ballistic capabilities as a strategic response to military vulnerabilities The authors contend that the very essence of ballistic proliferation incorporates a tactical rationale provided by military needs that varies from one state to another and it is upon the assessment of these military needs that the decision to procure ballistic missiles is made Offering a blend of theoretical insights and primary sources based case studies this book dissects the decision making processes that spurred these states to choose ballistic missiles despite their inefficiencies in delivering conventional payloads The absence of an effective air force emerges as a catalyst triggering what the authors term a moment of ballistic consciousness Spanning three diverse regimes the work provides a rich historical tapestry and untangles the complexities of political decisions with military implications providing a fresh perspective on global power dynamics This narrative sheds light on the intersection of military strategy geopolitical realities and the pursuit of ballistic capabilities that shapes the world s security landscape This book will be of much interest to students of arms control nuclear proliferation Middle Eastern politics and International Relations All Things Common Victor Peters,1966-01-12 All Things Common was first published in 1966 Minnesota Archive Editions uses digital technology to make long unavailable books once again accessible and are published unaltered from the original University of Minnesota Press editions In Dr Peters study of the Hutterian Brethren commonly called Hutterites a group of devoutly religious farmers who have established many communal colonies in the midlands of the United States and Canada he first traces the historical development of the group and then describes in detail their way of life by focusing on the Manitoba colonies After their church was founded in Central Europe at the time of the Reformation the Hutterians moved slowly east until they settled in Russia where they lived for over one hundred years Then in the 1870 s they immigrated to America and settled in the Dakota Territory During World War I they fled to Canada under pressure of wartime hysteria Since they moved to Canada the Hutterians have encountered more problems but have successfully spread their colonies across the prairie provinces and back into the United States At present the Hutterians are the oldest and most successful community group in the history of western civilization They believe that their practice of Christian communism is in true harmony with the spirit and teachings of early Christianity Other aspects of their behavior such as the refusal to do military service and their disapproval of radio television dancing movies and cosmetics have made them a source of interest and concern to their neighbors The book is a thorough introduction to the Hutterians for the general reader and will be of special interest to historians theologians sociologists and economists General Catalogue of Printed Books British Museum.
