scholars across the world Doing Global Urban Research offers a key forum to discuss how the practice of research can deepen our knowledge of globalized urbanization

World City Network Peter Taylor, Ben Derudder, 2015-08-17 With the advent of multinational corporations the traditional urban service function has gone global In order to provide services to globalizing corporate clients the offices of major financial and business service firms across the world have generated networks of work It is the myriad of flows between office towers in different metropolitan centres that has produced a world city network Taylor and Derudder's unique and illuminating book provides both an update and a substantial revision of the first edition that was published in 2004 It provides a comprehensive and systematic description and analysis of the world city network as the skeleton upon which contemporary globalization has been built Through an analysis of the intra company flows of 175 leading global service firms across 526 cities in 2012 this book assesses cities in terms of their overall network connectivity the regional configurations they form and their changing position in the period 2000-12 Results are used to reflect on cities and city state relations in the context of the global ecological and economic crisis Written by two of the foremost authorities on the subject this book provides a much needed mapping of the connecting relationships between world cities and will be a valuable resource for students of urban studies geography sociology and planning

The World's Cities Andrew James Jacobs, 2013 The World's Cities offers instructors and students in higher education an accessible introduction to the three major perspectives influencing city regions worldwide City Regions in a World System Nested City Regions and The City Region as the Engine of Economic Activity Growth The book provides students with helpful essays on each perspective case studies to illustrate each major viewpoint and discussion questions following each reading The World's Cities concludes with an original essay by the editor that helps students understand how an analysis incorporating a combination of theoretical perspectives and factors can provide a richer appreciation of the world's city dynamics

Smart Design Richard Hu, 2021-11-24 This book tackles the emerging smart urbanism to advance a new way of urban thinking and to explore a new design approach It unravels several urban transformations in dualities economic relationality and centrality technological flattening and polarisation and spatial division and fusion These dualities are interdependent concurrent coexisting and contradictory they are jointly disrupting and reshaping many aspects of contemporary cities and spaces The book draws on a suite of international studies experiences and observations including case studies in Beijing Singapore and Boston to reveal how these processes are impacting urban design development and policy approaches The COVID-19 pandemic has accelerated many changes already in motion and provides an extreme circumstance for reflecting on and imagining urban spaces These analyses thoughts and visions inform an urban imaginary of smart design that incorporates change flexibility collaboration and experimentation which together forge a paradigm of urban thinking This paradigm builds upon the modernist and postmodernist urban design traditions and extends them in new directions responding to and anticipating a changing urban environment The book proposes a smart design manifesto to stimulate thought trigger debate and hopefully influence a new generation of urban thinkers and smart designers It will be of interest to scholars students and practitioners in the fields of urban design planning architecture urban development and urban studies ICTs for Mobile and Ubiquitous Urban Infrastructures: Surveillance, Locative Media and Global Networks Firmino, Rodrigo J.,Duarte, Fabio,Ultramari, Clovis,2010-10-31 This book investigates how a shift to a completely urban global world woven together by ubiquitous and mobile ICTs changes the ontological meaning of space and how the use of these technologies challenges the social and political construction of territories and the cultural appropriation of places Provided by publisher Cities Demanding the Earth Taylor, Peter,O'Brien, Geoff,2020-03-25 This urgent book brings our cities to the fore in understanding the human input into climate change The demands we are making on nature by living in cities has reached a crisis point and unless we make significant changes to address it the prognosis is terminal consumption Providing a radical new argument that integrates global understandings of making nature and making cities the authors move beyond current policies of mitigation and adaption and pose the challenge of urban stewardship to tackle the crisis Their new way of thinking re orients possibilities for environmental policy and calls for us to reinvent our cities as spaces for activism Gateway Cities in Global Production Networks Moritz Breul,2019-04-26 This book provides a comprehensive analysis of the role of gateway cities in contemporary circuits of global production Apart from facilitating the interlinking of economic activities in the surrounding regions with the global economy gateway cities have enormous implications for how certain regions participate in the global economy Based on a case study of the oil and gas industry in Southeast Asia the book maps gateway cities explores why these cities have come to occupy a gateway role and evaluates their implications for regional economic development To this aim the book links components from research on the World City Network with Global Production Network research and demonstrates how this intersection creates synergies for studying the role of cities in economic globalization The main audiences that this book appeals to are researchers and students interested in debates on regional development and the role of cities in the global economy The book is also attractive to scholars interested in the organization of extractive industries Global Industry Chains: Creating a Networked City Planet Pengfei Ni,Marco Kamiya,Jianfa Shen,Wei Jin Gong,2021-07-02 This report presents the outcomes of a survey project of the National Academy of Economic Strategy of the Chinese Academy of Social Sciences and the United Nations Human Settlements Programme The project evaluated and ranked the competitiveness of 1 007 global cities with a combined population of over 500 000 based on a number of selected indicators The report provides an overview of the global urbanization pattern and areas of improvements in the selected cities The outcomes of the project confirm that the formation and changes of global value chains have caused profound changes in economic structures in some countries and affected the development of cities in these countries thereby reshaping the city planet In addition to comparative analysis of competitiveness of cities this report also sheds light on the global pattern and trends of economic and human development It reveals four new findings regarding the development of cities around the world First over the past four decades human societies are transitioning quickly from agricultural societies which are characterized by scattered settlements to industrial societies which are characterized by city clusters interconnectivity and resource sharing The planet where we are living has become a city planet Second globalization and the advancements of smart and networking technologies have accelerated urbanization across the world in the past four decades Third cities are becoming increasingly metropolitan interconnected and smart Fourth sustainability scores of the selected global cities show olive shaped distribution on the world map and sustainability performance of Asia cities has improved continuously

The SAGE Handbook of Economic Geography Andrew Leyshon, Roger Lee, Linda McDowell, Peter Sunley, 2011-02-17

This timely volume comprehensively summarises the various approaches to research that have come to constitute contemporary economic geography. Expert assessments provide a lively sense of the research frontier making this essential reading for all who seek to understand and appreciate the field.

Eric Sheppard, University of Minnesota

One of the best economic geography texts in recent years covering both the history of the discipline and outlining areas for future research. The quality of the chapters remains high throughout and many can and should remain as future reference for research and or teaching.

Pedro Marques, Journal of Economic Geography

What difference does it make to think about the economy in geographical terms? The SAGE Handbook of Economic Geography illustrates the significance of thinking the economy and the economic geographically. It identifies significant stages in the discipline's development and focuses on the key themes and ideas that inform present thinking.

Organised in sections with multiple chapters, The SAGE Handbook of Economic Geography is a complete overview of the discipline that critically assesses:

- Location
- the quantitative revolution
- and the new economic geography
- Geographies of globalization and capitalism
- Geographies of scale, place and the local
- global
- Geographies of nature
- agriculture
- sustainable development
- and the political ecology
- Geographies of uneven development
- economic decline and money and finance
- Geographies of consumption and services
- Geographies of regulation and governance
- neo liberalism and welfare

Placing the discipline in vivid historical and contemporary context, The SAGE Handbook of Economic Geography is a timely essential work for postgraduates, researchers and academics in economic geography.
