

Defending Symbolic Convergence Theory From an Imaginary Gunn

Ernest G. Bormann, John F. Cragan, and Donald C. Shields

In what follows, we defend symbolic convergence theory (SCT) from Joshua Gunn's recent criticisms.¹ Gunn calls for the creation of a new post-humanist, -Marxist, -Freudian approach to rhetorical criticism that would combine literary, critical, and psychoanalytic methods in a new "popular imaginary" paradigm.² While urging acceptance of his new paradigm, Gunn advances three major criticisms of SCT.³ To respond to them, it is important to lay out a general stance from which to defend SCT.⁴

Gunn's criticisms do not evolve out of any rhetorical or social scientific research on SCT that he conducted himself. Instead, his ideas flow from a critical theory stance developed by other post-modernist writers.⁵ Gunn does not refer to the main body of SCT research that would blunt his critique.⁶ Long ago Bormann established the theoretical basis for using SCT, a general theory, to critique a special communication theory. He reasoned that a general theory is grounded in social science research studies and is timeless, whereas special communication theories are time-bound, transitory rhetorical visions.⁷ Shields, for example, showed that the common ground between SCT and a special communication theory is that SCT explains the special theory as style specific and, thus, ephemeral. His critique of the critical autoethnography special theory demonstrates that Gunn's indictments of SCT (presented as contradictions or Gordian Knots) can simply be cut, à la Alexander the Great, because as a general theory, SCT explains any special communication theory as another rhetorical vision.⁸ Gunn espouses a nascent rhetorical vision in which post-modern rhetoricians will develop a paradigm called the popular imaginary, which is similar to Castoriadis's concept of the social imaginary as modified through Althusser's thinking on ideology and psychoanalysis, as a replacement.⁹ We choose not to participate in his vision; thus, we untie each knot.

Gordian Knot 1: SCT is Ontologically and Paradigmatically Inconsistent

SCT is alleged to be ontologically and paradigmatically inconsistent because it maintains a humanistic rhetor while advocating a de-centered, post-modern, co-construction of reality via publicly shared fantasies. Gunn views SCT as a bridge between modern and post-modern paradigms, as a forerunner of post-modern critical rhetorical theory that is in decline because it retains a modern ontology of humanism while espousing a post-modern, de-centered co-construction of symbolic reality. Gunn is mistaken on many levels. The first is that SCT is in decline with "diminished popularity" owing to "a number of internal contradictions" (50).

If by decline Gunn means popularity, he is mistaken. Scores of SCT-based articles have been published. Their appearance has been relatively constant over 30 years, and the number of fields using SCT is expanding. At this writing, the professional
