whole Blenkinsopp discusses a range of issues raised in the Abraham saga including confirmation of God's promises, Isaac's sacrifice and the death of Jesus and Abraham's other beloved son Ishmael. Each chapter has a section called 'Filling in the Gaps' which probes some of the vast amount of Jewish, Christian and Islamic commentary that the basic Genesis text has generated through the ages. In an epilogue Blenkinsopp looks at Abraham in early Christianity and expresses his own views as a Christian on Abraham. Readers of Blenkinsopp's Abraham: The Story of a Life will surely come away with a deeper, richer understanding of this seminal ancient figure.

The television series SPACE 1999 was in its first series shaped by the late sixties and early seventies counterculture movements making SPACE 1999 into an example of how certain SF scholars see a natural alignment between science fiction and critical theory. However, due to changes in the political climate, SPACE 1999 went through an ideological reversal in its second series. As a result, the schizophrenic nature of the series has ever since caused debate. This book is written on an idealistic basis. It is sold at the lowest price the publisher was willing to accept.
