Defining Moments A Novel:

Defining Moments ,2013 The Defining Moment Michael D. Bordo,Claudia Goldin,Eugene N. White,2007-12-01 In contemporary American political discourse issues related to the scope authority and the cost of the federal government are perennially at the center of discussion Any historical analysis of this topic points directly to the Great Depression the moment to which most historians and economists connect the origins of the fiscal monetary and social policies that have characterized American government in the second half of the twentieth century In the most comprehensive collection of essays available on these topics The Defining Moment poses the question directly to what extent if any was the Depression a watershed period in the history of the American economy This volume organizes twelve scholars responses into four categories fiscal and monetary policies the economic expansion of government the innovation and extension of social programs and the changing international economy The central focus across the chapters is the well known alternations to national government during the 1930s The Defining Moment attempts to evaluate the significance of the past half century to the American economy while not omitting reference to the 1930s The essays consider whether New Deal style legislation continues to operate today as originally envisioned whether it altered government and the economy as substantially as did policies inaugurated during World War II the 1950s and the 1960s and whether the legislation had important precedents before the Depression specifically during World War I Some chapters find that surprisingly in certain areas such as labor organization the 1930s responses to the Depression contributed less to lasting change in the economy than a traditional view of the time would suggest On the whole however these essays offer testimony to the Depression s legacy as a defining moment The large role of today s government and its methods of intervention from the pursuit of a more active monetary policy to the maintenance and extension of a wide range of insurance for labor and business derive from the crisis years of the 1930s Your First Novel Ann Rittenberg,Laura Whitcomb,2006-08-25 In Your First Novel novelist Laura Whitcomb and seasoned literary agent Ann Rittenberg team up to provide you with the skills you need to write your dream novel and the savvy business know how to get it published In this all in one resource you ll discover essential novel writing techniques such as How to best structure your research so that you can save time later How to card your story before you start writing What to consider when developing your cast of characters How to adapt classic story structures to fit your own ideas and insider information on what it takes to get published including What agents do at those three hour power lunches and how it affects you What makes an agent instantly reject a manuscript How to correctly translate submission guidelines What happens if you get multiple offers or no offers at all Plus learn about the publishing process from the firsthand accounts of such noted authors as Dennis Lehane Kathryn Harrison Jim Fusilli Kathleen George and others Your First Novel Revised and Expanded Edition Ann Rittenberg,Laura Whitcomb,Camille Goldin,2018-02-16 Your Expert Guide to Writing and Publishing a Novel In this revised and expanded edition of Your First Novel novelist Laura Whitcomb seasoned literary agent Ann

Sound Rising from the Paper Paize Keulemans, 2020-05-11 Chinese martial arts novels from the late nineteenth century are filled with a host of suggestive sounds Characters cuss and curse in colorful dialect accents vendor calls ring out from bustling marketplaces and martial arts action scenes come to life with the loud clash of swords and the sounds of bodies colliding What is the purpose of these sounds and what is their history In Sound Rising from the Paper Paize Keulemans answers these questions by critically reexamining the relationship between martial arts novels published in the final decades of the nineteenth century and earlier storyteller manuscripts He finds that by incorporating imitating and sometimes inventing storyteller sounds these novels turned the text from a silent object into a lively simulacrum of festival atmosphere thereby transforming the solitary act of reading into the communal sharing of an oral performance By focusing on the role sound played in late nineteenth century martial arts fiction Keulemans offers alternatives to the visual models that have dominated our approach to the study of print culture the commercialization of textual production and the construction of the (Inter)racial Relationships as Accompaniment in Twenty-First Century African American Novels E. Lâle Demirtürk, 2024-10-15 Inter racial Relationships as Accompaniment in Twenty First Century African American Novels explores the acts of accompaniment to disrupt the embodied discursive practices of whiteness and Black vulnerability as a way to change social relations across racial difference in the novels. The novels analyzed in the book explore those Black male characters who work through the norms of whiteness in their relations with Black and white women while at the same time enacting the practices of accompaniment to subvert the embodied practices of whiteness. At a time when there is the rise of interest in activist work such as the ongoing Black Lives Matter movement against the systems of white supremacy in the post Trump era these novels shape an understanding of Black characters struggle against discursive violence as a radical social praxis to transform the everyday life. The book consists of four chapters on Kalisha Buckhanon's Speaking of Summer (2019), Kalisha Buckhanon's Upstate (2005), Ben Burgess Jr's Defining Moments Black and White (2020) and Walter Mosley's Every Man a King. A King Oliver Novel (2023). While these novels depict a critique of racialized everyday life they interrogate whiteness as a political act of devaluation of Blackness and Black life by establishing relations through accompaniment. The act as such stretches the boundary lines between who is the accompanier and the accompanied in shifting configurations of whiteness and blackness in the positioning of the vulnerable.

The Postmodern Chronotope Paul Smethurst, 2000. The Postmodern Chronotope is an innovative interdisciplinary study of the contemporary. It will be of special interest to anyone interested in relations between postmodernism, geography and contemporary fiction. Some claim that postmodernism questions history and historical bases to culture, some say it is about loss of affect, loss of depth, models and superficiality, others claim it follows from the conditions of post industrial society and others cite commodification of place, Disneyfication, simulation and post tourist spectacle as evidence that postmodernism is wedded to late capitalism. Whatever postmodernism is or turns out to have been, it is bound up in rethinking and reworking space and time, and Paul Smethurst's intervention here is to introduce the postmodern chronotope as a term through which these spatial and temporal shifts might be apprehended. The postmodern chronotope constitutes a postmodern world view and postmodern way of seeing. In a sense it is the natural successor to a modernist way of seeing defined through cubism, montage and relativity. The book is arranged as follows: Part 1 is an interdisciplinary study casting a wide net across a range of cultural, social and scientific activity from chaos theory to cinema, from architecture to performance art, from IT to tourism. Part 2 offers original readings of a selection of postmodern novels including Graham Swift's Waterland and Out of this World, Peter Ackroyd's Hawksmoor and First Light, Alasdair Gray's Lanark, J M Coetzee's Foe, Marina Warner's Indigo, Caryl Phillips' Cambridge and Don DeLillo's The Names and Ratner's Star.

Books in Motion, 2005-01-01. Books in Motion addresses the hybrid interstitial field of film adaptation. The introductory essay integrates a retrospective survey of the development of adaptation studies with a forceful argument about their centrality to any history of culture, any discussion that is of the transformation and transmission of texts and meanings in and across cultures. The thirteen especially composed essays that follow are organised into four sections headed: Paradoxes of Fidelity,

Authors Auteurs Adaptation Contexts Intertexts Adaptation and Beyond Adaptation variously illustrate that claim by problematising the notion of fidelity highlighting the role played by adaptation in relation to changing concepts of authorship and auteurism exploring the extent to which the intelligibility of film adaptations is dependent on contextual and intertextual factors and making a claim for the need to transcend any narrowly defined concept of adaptation in the study of adaptation Discussion ranges from adaptations of established classics like A Tale of Two Cities Frankenstein Henry V Le temps retrouvé Mansfield Park Pride and Prejudice The Dead or Wuthering Heights to contemporary popular texts films like Bridget Jones's Diary Fools The Governess High Fidelity The Hours The Orchid Thief Adaptation the work of Doris D rrie the first Harry Potter novel film or the adaptations made by Alfred Hitchcock Stanley Kubrick and Walt Disney This book will appeal to both a specialised readership and to those accessing the dynamic field of adaptation studies for the first time
