Defying Displacement Grassroots Resistance And The Critique Of Development:

Defying Displacement Anthony Oliver-Smith, 2010-08-01 The uprooting and displacement of people has long been among the hardships associated with development and modernity. Indeed, the circulation of commodities, currency, and labor in modern society necessitates both social and spatial mobility. However, the displacement and resettlement of millions of people each year by large-scale infrastructural projects raises serious questions about the democratic character of the development process. Although designed to spur economic growth, many of these projects leave local people struggling against serious impoverishment and gross violations of human rights. Working from a political ecological perspective, Anthony Oliver Smith offers the first book to document the fight against involuntary displacement and resettlement being waged by people and communities around the world. Increasingly over the last twenty-five years, the voices of people at the grass roots are being heard. People from many societies and cultures are taking action against development forced displacement and resettlement. DFDR and articulating alternatives. Taking the promise of democracy seriously, they are fighting not only for their place in the world but also for their place at the negotiating table where decisions affecting their well-being are made. Development Education in Policy and Practice Stephen McCloskey, 2014-04-09 Development education is a radical form of learning that addresses the structural causes of poverty and injustice in the global North and South. This volume debates development education practice and the policy environment in which it is delivered. It affirmatively points to the transformative power of education as a means toward social change. Rethinking Urban Risk and Resettlement in the Global South Cassidy Johnson, Garima Jain, Allan Lavell, 2021-06-10 Environmental changes have significant impacts on people's lives and livelihoods, particularly the urban poor and those living in informal settlements. In an effort to reduce urban residents' exposure to climate change and hazards such as natural disasters, resettlement programmes are becoming widespread across the Global South. While resettlement may reduce a region's future climate-related disaster risk, it often increases poverty and vulnerability and can be used as a reason to evict people from areas undergoing redevelopment. A collaboration between the Bartlett Development Planning Unit at UCL, the Indian Institute for Human Settlements, and the Latin American Social Science Faculty, Rethinking Urban Risk and Resettlement in the Global South collates the findings from Reducing Relocation Risks, a research project that studied urban areas across India, Uganda, Peru, Colombia, and Mexico. The findings are augmented with chapters by researchers with many years of insight into resettlement, property rights, and evictions, who offer cases from Monserrat, Cambodia, Philippines, and elsewhere. The contributors collectively argue that the processes for making and implementing decisions play a large part in determining whether outcomes are socially just and examine various value systems and strategies adopted by individuals versus authorities. Considering perceptions of risk, the volume offers a unique way to think about economic assessments in the context of resettlement and draws parallels between different country contexts to compare fully urbanised areas with those experiencing urban growth. It also provides an opportunity to re-think how disaster risk management can better address the accumulation of urban risks through urban planning      Global Implications of Development, Disasters and Climate Change Susanna Price, Jane Singer, 2015-08-11 Displacements in the Asia Pacific region are escalating The region has for decades experienced more than half of the world's natural disasters and in recent years a disproportionately high share of extreme weather related disasters which displaced 19 million people in 2013 alone This volume offers an innovative and thought provoking Asia Pacific perspective on an intensifying global problem the forced displacement of people from their land homes and livelihoods due to development disasters and environmental change This book draws together theoretical and multidisciplinary perspectives with diverse case studies from around the region including China's Three Gorges Reservoir Japan's Fukushima disaster and the Pacific's Banaba resettlement Focusing on responses to displacement in the context of power asymmetries and questions of the public interest the book highlights shared experiences of displacement seeking new approaches and solutions that have potential global application This book shows how displaced peoples respond to interlinked impacts that unravel their social fabric and productive bases whether through sporadic protest organised campaigns empowered mobility or even community based negotiation of resettlement solutions The volume will be of great interest to researchers and postgraduate students in development studies environmental and climate change studies anthropology sociology human geography international law and human rights

Development-induced Displacement and Human Rights in Africa Romola Adeola, 2020-09-21 Within the context of the 2009 Kampala Convention this book examines how a balance can be struck between the imperative of development projects and the rights of persons likely to be displaced in Africa Following independence many African states embarked on large scale development projects such as dams urban renewal and extraction of natural resources and have had to grapple with how to protect displaced communities while implementing development projects These projects were considered a panacea for Africa's development and the economic interests of the majority were often considered over and above the interests of the minority of people who were displaced by these projects This book examines how a balance can be struck between the imperative of development and the rights of displaced persons within the context of the African Union Convention on the Protection and Assistance of Internally Displaced Persons in Africa the Kampala Convention Romola Adeola analyses the obligations that are placed on African states by the Kampala Convention in the context of development induced displacement This book will be of interest to scholars of human rights law forced migration African Studies and development      People, Parks, and Power Maria Sapignoli, Robert K. Hitchcock, 2023-11-08 This book presents a critical review of the ethics of conservation related resettlement We examine what has become known as the parks versus people debate also known as the new conservation debate which has pitted indigenous and other local people against nation states and social scientists against ecologists and conservationists for the past several decades Aiming to promote biodiversity conservation and habitat preservation some biologists park planners and conservation organizations have recommended that indigenous and other people should be removed from protected areas Local people for their part have argued that residents of the areas that were turned into protected areas national parks game reserves and monuments had managed them in productive ways for generations and that they should have the right to remain there and to use natural resources as long as they do so sustainably This position is often supported by indigenous rights organizations and social scientists especially anthropologists There are also some conservation oriented NGOs that have policies involving a more human rights oriented approach aimed at poverty alleviation sustainable development and social justice The book discusses biodiversity conservation indigenous peoples those who are ethnic minorities and who are often marginalized politically and protected areas those categories of land set aside by nation states that have various kinds of rules about land use and residence The focus initially is on case studies from protected areas in the United States including Yellowstone National Park Yosemite National Park and Glacier National Park and on national monuments and historical parks where resettlement took place We then consider issues of coercive conservation in southern Africa including Hwange National Park Zimbabwe the Central Kalahari Game Reserve Botswana Etosha National Park and Bwabwata National Park Namibia and Kgalagadi Transfrontier Park South Africa and Botswana All of these cases involved involuntary resettlement at the hands of the governments In the book we consider some of the social impacts of conservation forced resettlement CfR many of which tend to be negative After that we assess some of the strategies employed by indigenous peoples in their efforts to recover rights of access to protected areas and the cultural and natural resources that they contain Examples are drawn from cases in Asia Africa and South America Conclusions are provided regarding the ethics of conservation related resettlement and some of the best practices that could be followed particularly with regard to indigenous peoples

Resettlement with People First Susanna Price, Jay Drydyk, 2023-12-01 Should people in the way lose out as new reservoirs mines plantations or superhighways displace them from their homes and livelihoods What if the process of resettlement were made accountable to those impacted empowering them to achieve just outcomes and to share in the benefits of development projects This book seeks to answer these questions putting forward powerful counterfactual case studies to assess what problems real world development projects would likely have avoided if the project had included the affected people in decision making about whether and how they should resettle Drawing on contributions from leading and emerging scholars from around the world this book considers cases involving dams mines roads and housing amongst others from Asia Africa and South America In each case the counterfactual approach invites us to reconsider how the dynamics of accountability play out through resettlement hazards and the asymmetries of power relations in the negotiation of displacement benefits and redress Considering a range of theoretical and ethical perspectives the book concludes with practical alternative policy suggestions for displacement arising both from development and from slow onset climate change This book's novel approach focussing on the people's agency in the dynamics of governance accountability and dis empowerment in development projects with displacement and resettlement will appeal to academic researchers development practitioners and policymakers

The Essential Guide to Critical Development Studies Henry Veltmeyer, Paul Bowles, 2021-09-30 The Essential Guide to Critical Development Studies provides an up to date and authoritative introduction to the field challenging mainstream development discourse and the assumptions that underlie it Critical development studies lays bare the economic political social and environmental crises that characterise the current global capitalist system proposing instead systemic change and different pathways for moving beyond capitalism into a new world of genuine progress where economic and social justice and ecological integrity prevail In this book the authors challenge market driven neoliberal development agendas incorporating analyses of class gender race and the dynamics of uneven capitalist development This thoroughly revised and expanded second edition includes 18 new chapters including on topics such as philanthrocapitalism race the energy transition Indigenous resistance and resilience and global health Expanded global coverage including new chapters on South Africa North Africa and the Gulf Arab states A new section on resistance and alternatives Additional pedagogical features including a glossary of key terms discussion questions and expanded guides for further reading This textbook will be essential reading for students of global development political science sociology economics gender studies geography history anthropology agrarian studies international political economy and area studies It will also be an important resource for development researchers practitioners and policymakers Ethics for Evaluation Rob D. van den Berg, Penny Hawkins, Nicoletta Stame, 2021-12-30 In Ethics for Evaluation the diverse perspectives on ethical guidance in evaluation are untangled and ordered in a theoretical framework focusing on evaluations doing no harm tackling bad and doing good Divided into four parts a diverse group of subject experts present a practical look at ethics utilizing practical experience to analyze how ethics have been applied in evaluations and how new approaches can shape the future of ethics The chapters collectively create a common understanding of the potential role of ethics to infuse policy decisions and stakeholder initiatives with evaluations that provide better insight and potential solutions for problems going beyond what works to what needs to be done and what would help The methodological scope ranges from working in contexts of fragility conflict and violence to participatory and decolonized approaches including the ethical imperatives posed by global crises such as climate change inequity and exploitative international relations Ethics for Evaluation presents evaluators commissioners of evaluation policymakers and practitioners with inspiration for an ethical perspective on how evaluation can contribute towards solving problems It presents a solid foundation for inclusive terminology and ethics guidance that would be the heart of a global exercise in professionalization of ethical evaluation practice

Beyond Colonialism, Development and Globalization Dominique Caouette, Dip Kapoor, 2015-12-15 Development studies is in a state of flux A new generation of scholars has come to reject what was once regarded as accepted wisdom and increasingly regard development and globalization as part of a continuum with colonialism premised on the same reductionist assumption that progress and growth are objective facts that can be fostered measured assessed and controlled Drawing on a variety of theoretical perspectives and approaches this book explores the ways in which social movements in the Global South are rejecting Western centric notions of development and modernization as well as creating their own alternatives By assessing development theories from the perspective of subaltern groups and movements the contributors posit a new notion of development from below one in which these movements provide new ways of imagining social transformation and a way out of the developmental dead end that has so far characterized post development approaches Beyond Colonialism Development and Globalization therefore represents a radical break with the prevailing narrative of modernization and points to a bold new direction for development studies     Routledge Handbook of Africa-Asia Relations Pedro Amakasu Raposo,David Arase,Scarlett Cornelissen,2017-10-30 The Routledge Handbook of Africa Asia Relations is the first handbook aimed at studying the interactions between countries across Africa and Asia in a multi disciplinary and comprehensive way Providing a balanced discussion of historical and on going processes which have both shaped and changed intercontinental relations over time contributors take a thematic approach to examine the ways in which we can conceptualise these two very different yet inextricably linked areas of the world Using comparative examples throughout the chronological sections cover Early colonialist contacts between Africa and Asia Modern Asia Africa interactions through diplomacy political networks and societal connections Africa Asia contemporary relations including increasing economic security and environmental cooperation This handbook grapples with major intellectual questions defines current research and projects future agendas of investigation in the field As such it will be of great interest to students of African and Asian Politics as well as researchers and policymakers interested in Asian and African Studies     Displacement Economies in Africa Amanda Hammar,2014-05-08 Large scale displacement whether caused by war state related political or development projects different forms of political violence structural crisis or even natural disasters evokes many stereotyped assumptions about those forcibly displaced or emplaced At the same time there is a problematic lack of attention paid to the diversity of actors strategies and practices that reshape the world in the face and chronic aftermath of dramatic moments of violent dislocation In this highly original volume based on empirical case studies from across sub Saharan Africa the authors reveal the paradoxical effects both intended and unexpected that displacement produces and that manifest themselves in displacement economies An important contribution to a topic of growing scholarly and policy interest     Handbook of Infrastructures and Cities Olivier Coutard,Daniel Florentin,2024-04-12 Contributing towards a thriving research area this comprehensive Handbook presents a broad discussion of infrastructure as social phenomena It compiles diverse perspectives to delineate the current infrastructural turn and assess policy and research challenges relating to contemporary forms of infrastructural development     The Attempt to Stay Valerie Hänsch,2024-08-01 The construction of the Merowe Dam along the Nile in northern Sudan flooded local villages and forced thousands of inhabitants to flee to higher ground Despite the radical social and environmental transformations and an uncertain future the Manasir have tried to continue their peasant way of life and

resisted relocating to state run resettlement schemes Rather than focusing on migration and resettlement the author follows the people s attempts to preserve their homeland and have meaningful lives along the emerging reservoir The book grapples with the fundamental question of how to re establish life in a world that is falling apart Resettling Displaced People Hari Mohan Mathur,2012-03-12 Developmental projects have long been displacing people in large numbers every year but it is only in recent years that the fate of those adversely affected has become an issue of widespread concern requiring urgent action This volume is the scholarly exploration of these critical issues in a wider perspective examining resettlement policies as well as resettlement strategies their strengths their weaknesses the persisting gap between policy and its actual practice and the means to improve resettlement outcomes This volume is well structured into four parts a Displacement and Resettlement in Developmental Projects b Re examining Resettlement Policies c Addressing Resettlement Concerns and d Resettlement in a Globalizing World It goes beyond the common description of resettlement problems and attempts at gaining a deeper understanding of resettlement realities In a separate section the book discusses the hotly debated current issues of resettlement policy and practice in the context of globalization The volume contains original case studies which will bring to academic and policy tables a body of important new ideas that will stimulate debates and also hopefully change and improve current practices The contributors to this volume are eminent scholars including some who have played a vital role in shaping resettlement policies as well as in implementing projects at the grassroots level Culture General Guidebook for Military Professionals Kerry Fosher,Lauren Mackenzie,Erika Tarzi,Kristin Post,Eric Gauldin,2016-12-31 Military personnel operate in culturally complex environments around the world Detailed knowledge about current cultural patterns in a particular place can be hard to come by especially in times of change or disruption This book provides basic overviews of general concepts and skills that can be used in any situation to build understanding and interact effectively The concepts and skills presented were developed by an interdisciplinary social science team at Marine Corps University The authors designed this book to be used by both curriculum developers and military personnel Perspective and Strategies on Newage Education and Creative Learning Shibani Khanra Jha,Meetha V Shenoy,Tamali Bhattacharyya,Padmanabhan Seshaiyer,2024-10-08 This book presents the proceedings of the International Conference on Best Innovative Teaching Strategies ICOBITS at BITS Pilani on Feb 9 11 2023 It brings together global academicians researchers and industry experts to delve into innovative teaching learning practices Meticulously selected and reviewed by professionals the proceedings offer cross cutting perspectives and strategies in education and creative learning It is organized into four parts and covers Innovative Pedagogical Practices for Technology Enhanced Learning Technology Society and Industry in Higher Education STEM Education and Cultural Studies Gender Studies and Sustainability in Higher Education It provides insights into assessment tools for effectively evaluating the efficiency of teaching methods Part one explores ICT digital classrooms metaverse based teaching gamification and AI ML based practices Part two delves into the humanistic approach in technical education social networking as an educational tool and outcome based assessment needs Part three addresses future educators requirements through multidisciplinary collaboration in STEM education Part four discusses gender equity structured social inclusion and cultural skills in teaching learning practices This book is a valuable resource for academicians researchers policymakers administrators technocrats and developers actively engaged in education technology across disciplines such as Engineering Sciences Management Humanities and Social Sciences Forcible Displacement

Throughout the Ages Grant Dawson, Sonia Farber, 2012-07-19 Forcible displacement transforms cultures and can even lead to their destruction Beginning with the origins of the human species millions of years ago and ending up in our present day era this book analyses examples of forcible displacement in order to examine the crime in its many different forms The legal contours of the crime receive a comprehensive treatment including the experience of the international tribunals and decades of scholarly work in the area The authors suggest that a paradigm shift is needed in order to bring development induced displacement into the mainstream discourse on forcible displacement The book concludes with a proposal for a new convention for the prevention and punishment of the crime of forcible displacement Identity and Power in Narratives of Displacement Katrina M. Powell, 2015-02-11 In this book Powell examines the ways that identities are constructed in displacement narratives based on cases of eminent domain natural disaster and civil unrest attending specifically to the rhetorical strategies employed as barriers and boundaries intersect with individual lives She provides a unique method to understand how the displaced move within accepted and subversive discourses and how representation is a crucial component of that movement In addition Powell shows how notions of human rights and the public good are often at odds with individual well being and result in intriguing intersections between discourses of power and discourses of identity Given the ever increasing numbers of displaced persons across the globe and the layers of displacement experienced by many this study sheds light on the resources of rhetoric as means of survival and resistance during the globally common experience of displacement Social conflict and the making of a globalized place at Roşia Montană Filip M. Alexandrescu, 2020-06-01

The book provides a theoretically informed case study on the transformation of the experience of place in the two decades old conflict over the Roşia Montan mine in Romania First the case study is set within a political economy approach of mining places before and during globalization The second theoretical approach used to illuminate the transformations of place is anthropological and draws on Clifford Geertz's 1979 distinction between experience nearness and experience distance Both these theoretical strands are employed to explain transformations in the experience of place and the subsequent making of a globalized place In contrast to the majority of social scientific research on Roşia Montan which has used this case to illustrate broader arguments in political ecology or environmental justice e.g. moral economies degrowth or transnationalism this book explores the shifting discourses and practices of various local and extra local actors and how these have shaped the meanings of this place Without claiming to be impartial the book offers a critical interpretation of both corporate and social movement discourses as they shape the experience of place The arguments are fleshed out using extensive empirical material 66 individual respondents being mentioned in the analysis and contextualized interpretations of their views The book concludes by arguing that Ro ia Montan can offer a contemporary version of what Doreen Massey 1991 has called a progressive notion of place one which will increasingly render extractive projects both in Romania and worldwide as critical nodes in a web of socio ecological struggles and open ended change
