Daniel Libeskind Radix Matrix:

Daniel Libeskind, Radix-Matrix Daniel Libeskind, Andrea P. A. Belloli, 1997 Daniel Libeskind represents a unique attempt to provide a comprehensive critical analysis of Libeskind's architecture and philosophy Libeskind serves as the mediator of his own work exploring various projects through an illuminating juxtaposition of textual commentary with illustrations of competition models concept drawings and site photos of realized works Essays by Jacques Derrida and Mark C Taylor among others provide a critical analysis of Libeskind's architecture identifying his place within the context of contemporary architecture and theory The book concludes with a collection of Libeskind's most important essays many of which are published here in English for the first time Radix-Matrix Daniel Libeskind, 1997

Visual Culture and the Holocaust Barbie Zelizer, 2001 A book that looks at both the traditional and the unconventional ways in which the holocaust has been visually represented The purpose of this volume is to enhance our understanding of the visual representation of the Holocaust in films television photographs art and museum installations and cultural artifacts and to examine the ways in which these have shaped our consciousness The areas covered include the Eichman Trial as covered on American television the impact of Schindler's List the Jewish Museum in Berlin the Israeli Heritage Museums Women and Holocaust Photography Internation

The Architecture of Light Mary Ann Steane, 2012-11-12 Reviewing the use of natural light by architects in the era of electricity this book aims to show that natural light not only remains a potential source of order in architecture but that natural lighting strategies impose a usefully creative discipline on design Considering an approach to environmental context that sees light as a critical aspect of place this book explores current attitudes to natural light by offering a series of in depth studies of recent projects and the particular lighting issues they have addressed It gives a more nuanced appraisal of these lighting strategies by setting them within their broader topographic climatic and cultural contexts

Occasional Deconstructions Julian Wolfreys, 2012-02-01 In Occasional Deconstructions Julian Wolfreys challenges the notion that deconstruction is a critical methodology offering instead a number of reintroductions or reorientations to the texts of Jacques Derrida and the idea or possibility of deconstructions Proceeding from specific readings of various texts both film and literary as well as mobilizing a number of issues from Derrida's recent work surrounding questions of ethics politics and identity Wolfreys considers the role of deconstruction in broader academic and institutional contexts and questions whether in fact deconstruction can be called upon to function as theory at all In this book Wolfreys suggests that the patient necessary work of reading in which response and responsibility to the other has a chance to manifest itself is necessary to the always political and ethical tracing of the material and the historical He also contends that reading should be an encounter that gives place to an acknowledgment of the other and that this singular act by which one is introduced to the other can never be programmed

Introducing Criticism in the 21st Century Julian Wolfreys, 2015-03-08 This new and revised edition provides 14 chapters introducing new modes of hybrid criticism which have emerged in the twenty first century

Holocaust Memory Reframed Jennifer Hansen-Glucklich, 2014-03-31 Holocaust memorials and museums face a difficult task as their staffs strive to commemorate and document horror. On the one hand the events museums represent are beyond most people's experiences. At the same time they are often portrayed by theologians, artists and philosophers in ways that are already known by the public. Museum administrators and curators have the challenging role of finding a creative way to present Holocaust exhibits to avoid clichéd or dehumanizing portrayals of victims and their suffering. In Holocaust Memory Reframed Jennifer Hansen Glucklich examines representations in three museums: Israel's Yad Vashem in Jerusalem, Germany's Jewish Museum in Berlin and the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum in Washington D C. She describes a variety of visually striking media including architecture, photography, exhibits, artifact displays and video installations in order to explain the aesthetic techniques that the museums employ. As she interprets the exhibits Hansen Glucklich clarifies how museums communicate Holocaust narratives within the historical and cultural contexts specific to Germany, Israel and the United States. In Yad Vashem architect Moshe Safdie developed a narrative suited for Israel rooted in a redemptive Zionist story of homecoming to a place of mythic geography and renewal in contrast to death and suffering in exile. In the Jewish Museum in Berlin Daniel Libeskind's architecture, broken lines and voids emphasize absence. Here exhibits communicate a conflicted ideology torn between the loss of a Jewish past and the country's current multicultural ethos. The United States Holocaust Memorial Museum presents yet another lens, conveying through its exhibits a sense of sacrifice that is part of the civil values of American democracy and trying to overcome geographic and temporal distance. One well known example, the pile of thousands of shoes plundered from concentration camp victims, encourages the visitor to bridge the gap between viewer and victim. Hansen Glucklich explores how each museum's concept of the sacred shapes the design and choreography of visitors' experiences within museum spaces. These spaces are sites of pilgrimage that can in turn lead to rites of passage.

Actors and Networks in the Megacity Prachi More, 2017-10-15 This study is a concise introduction to Bruno Latour's Actor Network Theory and its application in a literary analysis of urban narratives of the 21st century. We encounter well known psycho geographers such as Iain Sinclair and Sam Miller and renowned authors Patrick Neate and Suketu Mehta. Prachi More analyses these authors' accounts of vastly different cities such as London, Delhi, Mumbai, Johannesburg, New York and Tokyo. Are these urban narratives a contemporary solution to documenting an ever evasive urban reality? If so, how do they embody matters of concern as Latour would have put it, laying bare modern day actors and networks rather than reporting mere matters of fact? These questions are drawn into an interdisciplinary discussion that addresses concerns and questions of epistemology, the sociology of knowledge as well as urban and documentary studies.

The Oxford Dictionary of Architecture James Stevens Curl, Susan Wilson, 2015 With over 6 000 entries this is the most authoritative dictionary of architectural history available.

New Wombs Maria Luisa Palumbo, 2000-08-01 A sense of harmony and proportion has traditionally been achieved in architectural compositions by using the dimensions of the human body as the starting point.

Modern technology now enables us to go beyond these physical dimensions into a virtual world and this poses a challenge to architecture as we usually perceive it Interactive flexible and intelligent models are being called for Whilst technology is taking us into the realms of virtual reality architecture on the other hand is becoming more corporeal Postorganic is the term being used to express this merging of the body and architecture brought about by electronic media A radical change in perspective is blurring the distinction between the organic and mechanic and the artificial logic of the computer and the natural logic of man are fusing together

Berlin's Black Market Malte Zierenberg, 2016-04-29 This book puts the illegal economy of the German capital during and after World War II into context and provides a new interpretation of Germany's postwar history The black market it argues served as a reference point for the beginnings of the two new German states

Berlin - Washington, 1800-2000 Andreas Daum, Christof Mauch, 2005-12-26 Publisher description Rootedness Christy Wampole, 2016-04-06 People have long imagined themselves as rooted creatures bound to the earth and nations from which they came In Rootedness Christy Wampole looks toward philosophy ecology literature history and politics to demonstrate how the metaphor of the root surfacing often in an unexpected variety of places from the family tree to folk etymology to the language of exile developed in twentieth century Europe Wampole examines both the philosophical implications of this metaphor and its political evolution From the root as home to the root as genealogical origin to the root as the past itself rootedness has survived in part through its ability to subsume other compelling metaphors such as the foundation the source and the seed With a focus on this concept's history in France and Germany Wampole traces its influence in diverse areas such as the search for the mystical origins of words land worship and nationalist rhetoric including the disturbing portrayal of the Jews as an unrooted and thus unrighteous people Exploring the works of Martin Heidegger Simone Weil Jean Paul Sartre Paul Celan and many more Rootedness is a groundbreaking study of a figure of speech that has had wide reaching and at times dire political and social consequences

The Memorial Ethics of Libeskind's Berlin Jewish Museum Arleen Ionescu, 2017-02-20 This book is a detailed critical study of Libeskind's Berlin Jewish Museum in its historical architectural and philosophical context Emphasizing how the Holocaust changed our perception of history memory witnessing and representation it develops the notion of memorial ethics to explore the Museum's difference from more conventional post World War Two commemorative sites The main focus is on the Museum as an experience of the materiality of trauma which engages the visitor in a performative duty to remember Arleen Ionescu builds on Levinas's idea of ethics as optics to show how Libeskind's Museum becomes a testimony to the unrepresentable Other Ionescu also extends the Museum's experiential dimension by proposing her own subjective walk through Libeskind's space reimagined as a literary museum Featuring reflections on texts by Beckett Celan Derrida Kafka Blanchot Wiesel and Selma Meerbaum Eisinger Celan's cousin this virtual tour concludes with a brief account of Libeskind's analogous healing project for Ground Zero Architecture and Modernity Hilde Heynen, 2000-02-28 Bridges the gap between the history and theory of twentieth century architecture and cultural theories of modernity In this exploration of the relationship between modernity dwelling and architecture Hilde Heynen attempts to bridge the gap between the discourse of the modern movement and cultural theories of modernity On one hand she discusses architecture from the perspective of critical theory and on the other she modifies positions within critical theory by linking them with architecture She assesses architecture as a cultural field that structures daily life and that embodies major contradictions inherent in modernity arguing that architecture nonetheless has a certain capacity to adopt a critical stance vis vis modernity Besides presenting a theoretical discussion of the relation between architecture modernity and dwelling the book provides architectural students with an introduction to the discourse of critical theory The subchapters on Walter Benjamin Ernst Bloch Theodor Adorno and the Venice School Tafuri Dal Co Cacciari can be studied independently for this purpose

Unlikely History J. Zipes, L. Morris, 2016-04-30 In the English speaking world it is generally believed that there are very few Jews living and thriving in Germany Yet there has been an unlikely postwar history 1945 2001 that has been somewhat repressed in North America and the United Kingdom While most people are well informed about the Holocaust and the consequences that this tragic event has had for the world very few people know that there has been a steady increase in the population of Jews in Germany since 1945 and that there is a flourishing Jewish culture certainly a relatively strong Jewish presence in Germany today Does this development mean that Jews are playing a significant role in German social life Does this mean that the great German Jewish relationship often referred to as a kind of symbiosis has re emerged despite the odds against it The sixteen essays in this book written by the leading critics in the field cover the fascinating changes that have been made in German society since 1945 in the Jewish communities literature theater film architecture and other areas of interest including an examination of the resurgence of anti-Semitism in Austria For anyone interested in reading about the unpredictable transformations in German Jewish relations since 1945 Unlikely History will provide information and insights into a history that needs to be told to bring about greater understanding of Jews and Germans in contemporary Germany

Dekonstruktivismus in der Architektur? Simone Kraft, 2015-08-15 Philip Johnson und Mark Wigley versammelten 1988 in ihrer ebenso erfolgreichen wie umstrittenen Ausstellung Deconstructivist Architecture Namen die heute zur internationalen Elite der Starchitects gehören Frank Gehry Daniel Libeskind Rem Koolhaas Peter Eisenman Zaha Hadid Coop Himmelblau und Bernard Tschumi Simone Kraft legt nun mehr als 25 Jahre später erstmals eine Untersuchung zu den Widersprüchlichkeiten der Ausstellung vor Sie macht sich intensive Archivrecherchen und Informationen von Zeitzeugen zunutze um die ungewöhnlichen organisatorischen Hintergründe zu rekonstruieren und argumentative Schwachstellen des kuratorischen Konzepts zu beleuchten So wird schließlich am Beispiel der sieben ausgestellten Architekten eine Annäherung an einen fundierten Begriff von der dekonstruktivistischen Architektur ermöglicht

Visualizing the Holocaust David Bathrick, Brad Prager, Michael David Richardson, 2008 Visual representations are an essential but highly contested means of understanding and remembering the Holocaust Photographs taken in the camps in early 1945 provided proof of and visceral access to the atrocities. Later visual representations such as films, paintings, and art installations attempted to represent this extreme trauma. While photographs from the camps and later aesthetic reconstructions differ in origin, they share goals and have raised similar concerns. The former are questioned not as to veracity but due to their potential inadequacy in portraying the magnitude of events; the latter are criticized on the grounds that the mediation they entail is unacceptable. Some have even questioned any attempt to represent the Holocaust as inappropriate and dangerous to historical understanding. This book explores the taboos that structure the production and reception of Holocaust images and the possibilities that result from the transgression of those taboos. Essays consider the uses of various visual media, aesthetic styles, and genres in representations of the Holocaust: the uses of perpetrator photography, the role of trauma in memory, aesthetic problems of mimesis and memory in the work of Lanzmann, Celan, and others, and questions about mass cultural representations of the Holocaust.

David Bathrick is Emeritus Professor of German at Cornell University. Brad Prager is Associate Professor of German at the University of Missouri, and Michael D. Richardson is Associate Professor of German at Ithaca College.

The Totalitarian Experiment in Twentieth-century Europe David D. Roberts, 2006. By assessing totalitarianism in a more deeply historical way, this study suggests how we might learn further lessons from this troubling phase of modern political development. Jacket

In Dwelling Peter King, 2016-05-23. A dwelling, or the physical space we call a house, is full of meaning for us. It can be implacable in that it can work for or against us, depending on how we are able to access and use it. This means that we have to learn to accept dwelling as it is and find some accommodation with our surrounding environment. This book develops a new approach to looking at dwelling and how we use it. It explores the manner in which we use housing to exclude others and so protect our privacy. It also argues we need to exclude others in order to protect and nurture our loved ones. The book combines philosophical analysis and literary and film criticism to put forward an innovative and insightful new approach to looking at housing. It draws on the work of thinkers as diverse as Aristotle, Derrida, Kierkegaard, Nussbaum, and Scruton, and the films of Chaplin, Bergman, Lynch, Tarr, Teshigahara, and Van Sant, to construct a new theoretical approach to housing research.
