Danish Modern Furniture, 1930-2016 Per E. Hansen, Per H. Hansen, 2018-02 Business and economic historians will greatly welcome the publication of Per Hansen's masterly history of Danish modern furniture. The originality and extent of the empirical research behind the book is outstanding but the fundamental contribution is the compelling re-writing of existing explanations of the global success of this category. Hansen recasts the story of Danish furniture in terms of cultural entrepreneurship and explores how tastes and fashion were shaped by a cultural brand narrative. This methodology makes the book relevant far beyond specialists in Danish furniture. It is a landmark publication in business history. Geoffrey Jones, Isidor Straus Professor of Business History, Harvard Business School. The translation of Per H. Hansen's magisterial history of Danish modern furniture has been eagerly awaited for some time. The book presents a refreshing perspective from a business historian who weaves together ideas about image branding and national identity to reposition the standard narrative of modern Danish furniture. Thoroughly researched and clearly argued, it makes valuable archival information available to the English reader for the first time and will become a standard reference on the subject. Bobbie Tigerman, Marilyn B. and Calvin B. Gross Curator, Decorative Arts and Design, Los Angeles County Museum of Art. Monica Obniski, Demmer Curator of 20th and 21st Century Design, Milwaukee Art Museum. Per H. Hansen's book is an invaluable text for anyone wanting to understand why mid-century modern is making a comeback in a different century and rapidly capturing markets and minds. And the answer the book provides is not just about fashion cycles, aesthetic value or popular culture but a deep and insightful account of how narrative and materiality interact to transform creative expression into commercial and cultural reality. This comprehensive business history of the rise, fall, and rise again of Danish Modern design is for academics, design professionals, critics, and enthusiasts alike. Rarely comes along a book that adequately speaks to such a wide-ranging audience. Mukti Khairi, Girish and Jaidev Reddy, Professor of Practice at Cornell Tech and the Cornell SC Johnson College of Business. Professor Per H. Hansen's book on Danish modern furniture design sheds new light on what has become an internationally well-known phenomenon. While scholars and others have offered different explanations of Danish Modern's success, Per H. Hansen's great achievement is the combination of a number of approaches and his close reading of original sources. From the combination of business history, design history, material culture, and sociology, a new understanding of Danish Modern's rise, decline, and re-emergence as a cultural market category comes to light. I am confident that this book will appeal to a big audience. Anne Louise Sommer, Director of Designmuseum Danmark and adjunct professor of design culture and history at the University of Southern Denmark.

Made in Canada Alan Elder, 2005-02-14 The red maple leaf is the quintessential symbol of Canada and the flag that popularized it throughout the world was designed in the 1960s as a result of government legislation aimed at creating a vital new Canadian national identity through objects, events, and building projects. Made in Canada looks at the development of Canadian craft design and culture through ambitious government programs meant to reinforce the country's identity as a modern sophisticated and autonomous nation. As well, it documents the demise of a singular notion of modern life and its replacement with a focus on personal identity and consumerism. Changes in the 1960s included the building of modern airports, first space satellite and new national symbols such as the maple leaf flag. Canadians embraced this heightened sense of individuality and demanded products that were equally individual. As a result, pop culture objects sat on cool furniture influenced by Scandinavian modernism while handmade crafts reflected a growing concern with environmental issues. Expo 67 was the turning point, one final expression of optimism before Canada was rocked by social change and varied struggles for identity. Made in Canada examines national dreams and expressions of individuality in thoughtful and illuminating essays. Contributors include Sandra Alföldy, NSCAD University; Paul Bourassa, Musée des beaux-arts de Québec; Brent Corder, designer and educator, Toronto; Douglas Coupland, artist and author, Vancouver; Bernard Flaman, Government of Saskatchewan; Rachel Gotlieb, freelance curator and writer, Toronto; Michael Large, Sheridan College; Institute of Technology and Advanced Learning; and Michael Prokopow, Design Exchange.
