Darwin And Archaeology A Handbook Of Key Concepts:

Darwin and Archaeology John P. Hart, John Edward Terrell, 2002-05-30 The last decades of the 20th century witnessed strongly growing interest in evolutionary approaches to the human past Even now however there is little real agreement on what evolutionary archaeology is all about A major obstacle is the lack of consensus on how to define the basic principles of Darwinian thought in ways that are genuinely relevant to the archaeological sciences Each chapter in this new collection of specially invited essays focuses on a single major concept and its associated key words summarizes its historic and current uses and then reviews case studies illustrating that concept s present and probable future role in research What these authors say shows the richness and current diversity of thought among those today who insist that Darwinism has a key role to play in archaeology Each chapter includes definitions of related key words Because the same key words may have the same or different meanings in different conceptual contexts many of these key words are addressed in more than one chapter In addition to exploring key concepts collectively the book s chapters show the broad range of ideas and opinions in this intellectual arena today This volume reflects and clarifies debate today on the role of Darwinism in modern archaeology and by doing so may help shape the directions that future work in archaeology will take Innovation in Cultural Systems Michael John O'Brien, Stephen Shennan, 2010 Leading scholars offer a range of perspectives on the roles played by innovation in the evolution of human culture In recent years an interest in applying the principles of evolution to the study of culture emerged in the social sciences Archaeologists and anthropologists reconsidered the role of innovation in particular and have moved toward characterizing innovation in cultural systems not only as a product but also as an evolutionary process This distinction was familiar to biology but new to the social sciences cultural evolutionists from the nineteenth to the twentieth century had tended to see innovation as a preprogrammed change that occurred when a cultural group needed to overcome environmental problems In this volume leading researchers from a variety of disciplines including anthropology archaeology evolutionary biology philosophy and psychology offer their perspectives on cultural innovation The book provides not only a range of views but also an integrated account with the chapters offering an orderly progression of thought The contributors consider innovation in biological terms discussing epistemology animal studies systematics and phylogeny phenotypic plasticity and evolvability and evo devo they discuss modern insights into innovation including simulation the random copying model diffusion and demographic analysis and they offer case studies of innovation from archaeological and ethnographic records examining developmental behavioral and social patterns Contributors Andr Ariew R Alexander Bentley Werner Callebaut Joseph Henrich Anne Kandler Kevin N Laland Daniel O Larson Alex Mesoudi Michael J O'Brien Craig T Palmer Adam Powell Simon M Reader Valentine Roux Chet Savage Michael Brian Schiffer Jeffrey H Schwartz Stephen J Shennan James Steele Mark G Thomas Todd L VanPool 21st Century Anthropology: A Reference Handbook H. challenges stereotypes about complex hunter gatherers Madonna Moss argues that these ancient societies were first and foremost fishers and food producers and merit study outside socio evolutionary frameworks Moss approaches the archaeological record on its own terms recognizing that changes through time often reflect sampling and visibility of the record itself The book synthesizes current research and is accessible to students and professionals alike Southwest Archaeology in the Twentieth Century Linda S Cordell, Don D Fowler, 2005-11-10 Mesa Verde Chaco Canyon Canyon de Chelly and Paquim are well known to tourists and scholars alike as emblems of the American Southwest This region has been the scene of intense archaeological investigations for more than a hundred years with more research done here than in any other part of the United States With contributions from well known archaeologists Southwest Archaeology in the Twentieth Century reviews the histories of major archaeological topics of the region during the twentieth century giving particular attention to the vast changes in southwestern archaeology during the later decades of the century Included are the huge influence of field schools the rise of cultural resource management CRM the uses and abuses of ethnographic analogy the intellectual contexts of archaeology in Mexico and current debates on agriculture sedentism and political complexity This book provides an authoritative retrospective of intellectual trends as well as a synthesis of current themes in the arena of the American Southwest From publisher's description Science Fraud: Darwin's Plagiarism of Patrick Matthew's Theory Mike Sutton, 2023 Patrick Matthew in 1831 originated the complete theory of evolution by natural selection in his book On Naval Timber and Arboriculture and did so before Charles Darwin and Alfred Wallace claimed to independently replicate it in 1858 Unjustly and against the Arago convention on priority a ruling that gives origination of any science theory to the first to publish Matthew has been illicitly denied his priority on the grounds he never influenced anyone with his breakthrough Today Big Data research has uncovered Darwin's science fraud by plagiarism revealing evidence which proves beyond all reasonable doubt that he and Alfred Wallace both independently plagiarised the theory of evolution by natural selection from Patrick Matthew Books have been newly unearthed in the publication record to show that at least 30 people cited Matthew's work in published literature before 1858 and that several were known influencers of Darwin's and Wallace's work in the field Additionally several people in Darwin's and Wallace's social circles were first to be second into print using original terms coined by Matthew in his bombshell breakthrough book This book reveals all the newly unearthed data and essentially explains it alongside the deplorable treatment of Patrick Matthew in scholarly historical context Dr Mike Sutton further reveals using social science participatory observation methods and experimental results how members of the so called Darwin Industry enabled and facilitated by the deliberate publication of falsehoods and other grossly misleading editing on Wikipedia have disgracefully worked to re bury these newly unearthed facts by means of knee jerk blind sight ignorant rejection blatant and deliberate fact denial censorship persistent and serious workplace harassment obscene social media abuse poison pen emails lies mischievous misrepresentation and repeat research plagiarism Graphing Culture Change in
