Darwinism Applied John H Beckstrom,1993-08-23 Beckstrom explores how discoveries in evolutionary science can help people achieve but not establish social goals Beginning with the principle that human behavior is to some degree influenced by genetics the author considers how conduct can be modified in large population groupings using identified behavioral mechanisms Aid giving behavior common to human populations is established as a key factor that is fundamental to an understanding of its flip side involving abuse and neglect The universal objectives of reducing child abuse rape incest and war are explicitly addressed as are such areas as intestate property distribution street crime reduction and the fostering or discouragement of patriotism This book is a clear treatment of what practical implications neo Darwinism can have for contemporary societies

Missing the Revolution Jerome H. Barkow,2006 The naturalizing perspective of Darwinian thought has become one of the major intellectual currents of our time pervading contemporary understandings of human nature and society Unfortunately many social scientists in sociology psychology and sociocultural anthropology have failed to engage with it Barkow asks his fellow social scientists to put aside their all too common preconceptions and stereotypes of the biological and to consider a powerful argument that is far different from that of those who once invoked a vocabulary of genes and Darwin as a justification for genocide He argues that the theoretical perspective that has been so successful when applied to the behavior of every other animal species can be applied just as successfully to our own and that the real debate is about how to apply it BOOK JACKET

Emotions in Command Frank K. Salter,2017-09-08 This book is part of a quest for a general theory of organizations valid in all cultures Central to Frank Salter s investigation is the question of social power why people obey their superiors His approach is to locate the nature of organizational power in the behavioral details of hierarchical interactions in the institutional settings in which they occur
