Reza,2016-12-06 A novel of love family and a fight for freedom in Iran featuring a formidable and hard to forget heroine Publishers Weekly In the early 1920s in the remote Persian village of Ghamsar two young people dreaming of a better life fall in love and marry Sardar brings his bride Talla with him across the mountains to the suburbs of Tehran where the couple settles down and builds a home From the outskirts of the capital city they will watch as the Qajar dynasty falls and Reza Khan rises to power as Reza Shah Pahlavi Into this family of illiterate shepherds is born Bahram a boy whose brilliance and intellectual promise are apparent from a very young age As he grows older Bahram will become a fervent follower of reformer Mohammad Mosaddegh and will participate firsthand in his country s political and social upheavals putting himself in mortal danger in this prize winning compelling book that raises important questions about indulgence gender community and the impact of politics on everyday life Kirkus Reviews Exquisite the narrative evolves from an intimate chronicle of Talla and Sardar s provincial lives into a sweeping tour through early 20th century Iran The New York Times Handbook of Pain and Aging David I. Mostofsky, Jacob Lomranz,2013-11-11 From time to time professional journals and edited volumes devote some of their pages to considerations of pain and aging as they occur among the aged in different cultures and populations One starts from several reasonable assumptions among them that aging per se is not a disease process yet the risk and frequency of disease processes increase with ongoing years The physical body s functioning and ability to restore all forms of damage and insult slow down the immune system becomes compromised and the slow growing pathologies reach their critical mass in the later years The psychological body also becomes weaker with unfulfilled promises and expectations and with tragedies that visit individuals and families and the prospect that whatever worlds remain to be conquered will most certainly not be met with success in the rapidly passing days and years that can only culminate in death Despair and depression coupled with infirmity and sensory and or motor inefficiency aggravate both the threshold and the tolerance for discomfort and synergistically collaborate to perpetuate a vicious cycle in which the one may mask the other Although the clinician is armed with the latest advances in medicine and pharmacology significant improvement continues to elude her or him The geriatric specialist all too familiar with such realities usually can offer little else than a hortative to learn to live with it but the powers and effectiveness of learning itself have declined Natural Therapies for Overcoming Opioid
