Dark Pools Scott Patterson:

Dark Pools Scott Patterson, 2013-06-25 A news breaking account of the global stock market's subterranean battles Dark Pools portrays the rise of the bots artificially intelligent systems that execute trades in milliseconds and use the cover of darkness to out maneuver the humans who've created them In the beginning was Josh Levine an idealistic programming genius who dreamed of wresting control of the market from the big exchanges that again and again gave the giant institutions an advantage over the little guy Levine created a computerized trading hub named Island where small traders swapped stocks and over time his invention morphed into a global electronic stock market that sent trillions in capital through a vast jungle of fiber optic cables By then the market that Levine had sought to fix had turned upside down birthing secretive exchanges called dark pools and a new species of trading machines that could think and that seemed ominously to be slipping the control of their human masters Dark Pools is the fascinating story of how global markets have been hijacked by trading robots many so self directed that humans can't predict what they'll do next

Dark Pools Scott Patterson, 2012 Evaluates the cost and consequences of high speed trading arguing that the development of automatic super intelligent trading machines is eliminating necessary human interests and compromising regulation measures is qualitative rather than quantitative a new financial ontology requiring new modes of thinking and writing Mobilizing the philosophical thought of Quentin Meillassoux in the close reading of finance novels by Robert Harris Michel Houellebecq Ben Lerner and less well known works of conceptual writing such as Mathew Timmons Credit Finance Fictions argues that realism is in for a speculative update if it wants to take on the contemporary economy and if whose implications turn out to be deeply political Part literary study and part philosophical inquiry Finance Fictions seeks to contribute to a new mindset for creative and critical work on finance in the twenty first century Vicious Circuits Joseph Jonghyun Jeon,2019-03-12 In December of 1997 the International Monetary Fund announced the largest bailout package in its history aimed at stabilizing the South Korean economy in response to a credit and currency crisis of the same year Vicious Circuits examines what it terms Korea's IMF Cinema the decade of cinema following that crisis in order to think through the transformations of global political economy at the end of the American century It argues that one of the most dominant traits of the cinema that emerged after the worst economic crisis in the history of South Korea was its preoccupation with economic phenomena As the quintessentially corporate art form made as much in the boardroom as in the studio film in this context became an ideal site for thinking through the global political economy in the transitional moment of American decline and Chinese ascension With an explicit focus of state economic policy IMF cinema did not just depict the economy it also was this economy's material embodiment That is it both represented economic developments and was itself an important sector in which the same pressures and changes affecting the economy at large were at work Joseph Jonghyun Jeon's window on Korea provides a peripheral but crucial perspective on the operations of late US hegemony and the contradictions that ultimately corrode it

Darkness by Design Walter Mattli, 2021-06-08 Capital markets have undergone a dramatic transformation in the past two decades Algorithmic high speed supercomputing has replaced traditional floor trading and human market makers while centralized exchanges that once ensured fairness and transparency have fragmented into a dizzying array of competing exchanges and trading platforms Darkness by Design exposes the unseen perils of market fragmentation and dark markets some of which are deliberately designed to enable the transfer of wealth from the weak to the powerful Walter Mattli traces the fall of the traditional exchange model of the NYSE the world s leading stock market in the twentieth century showing how it has come to be supplanted by fragmented markets whose governance is frequently set up to allow unscrupulous operators to exploit conflicts of interest at the expense of an unsuspecting public Market makers have few obligations market surveillance is neglected or impossible enforcement is ineffective and new technologies are not necessarily used to improve oversight but to offer lucrative preferential market access to select clients in ways that are often hidden Mattli argues that power politics is central in today s fragmented markets He sheds critical light on how the redistribution of power and influence has created new winners and losers in capital markets and lays the groundwork for sensible reforms to combat shady trading schemes and reclaim these markets for the long term benefit of everyone Essential reading for anyone with money in the stock market Darkness by Design challenges the conventional view of markets and reveals the troubling implications of unchecked market power for the health of the global economy and society as a whole
