Darwin And The Novelists Patterns Of Science In Victorian Fiction:

Darwin and the Novelists George Levine, 1991 The Victorian novel clearly joins with science in the pervasive secularizing of nature and society and in the exploration of the consequences of secularization that characterized mid Victorian England p viii

The Oxford Handbook of Victorian Literary Culture Juliet John, 2016-06-30 The Oxford Handbook of Victorian Literary Culture is a major contribution to the dynamic field of Victorian studies This collection of 37 original chapters by leading international Victorian scholars offers new approaches to familiar themes including science religion and gender and gives space to newer and emerging topics including old age fair play and economics Structured around three broad sections Ways of Being Identity and Ideology Ways of Understanding Knowledge and Belief and Ways of Communicating Print and Other Cultures the volume is sub divided into nine sub sections each with its own lead essay on subjectivity politics gender and sexuality place and race religion science material and mass culture aesthetics and visual culture and theatrical culture The collection like today s Victorian studies is thoroughly interdisciplinary and yet its substantial Introduction explores a concern which is evident both implicitly and explicitly in the volume s essays that is the nature and status of literary culture and the literary from the Victorian period to the present The diverse and wide ranging essays present original scholarship framed accessibly for a mixed readership of advanced undergraduates graduate students and established scholars

Literature and Science Sharon Ruston, 2008 Ranging from the middle ages to the 20th century science fiction and literary theory and using different texts genres and methodologies the essays collected here demonstrate the complexity of literature science and the interfaces between them

After Darwin: Animals, Emotions, and the Mind Angelique Richardson, 2013-11-10 What is emotion pondered the young Charles Darwin in his notebooks How were the emotions to be placed in an evolutionary framework And what light might they shed on human animal continuities These were among the questions Darwin explored in his research assisted both by an acute sense of observation and an extraordinary capacity for fellow feeling not only with humans but with all animal life After Darwin Animals Emotions and the Mind explores questions of mind emotion and the moral sense which Darwin opened up through his research on the physical expression of emotions and the human animal relation It also examines the extent to which Darwin s ideas were taken up by Victorian writers and popular culture from George Eliot to the Daily News Bringing together scholars from biology literature history psychology psychiatry and paediatrics the volume provides an invaluable reassessment of Darwin s contribution to a new understanding of the moral sense and emotional life and considers the urgent scientific and ethical implications of his ideas today

Theatre and Evolution from Ibsen to Beckett Kirsten E. Shepherd-Barr, 2015-03-03 Evolutionary theory made its stage debut as early as the 1840s reflecting a scientific advancement that was fast changing the world Tracing this development in dozens of mainstream European and American plays as well as in circus vaudeville pantomime and missing link performances Theatre and Evolution from Ibsen to Beckett reveals the deep transformative entanglement among science art and culture in modern times The stage proved to be no mere handmaiden to evolutionary science though often resisting and altering the ideas at its core Many dramatists cast suspicion on the arguments of evolutionary theory and rejected its claims even as they entertained its thrilling possibilities Engaging directly with the relation of science and culture this book considers the influence of not only Darwin but also Lamarck Chambers Spencer Wallace Haeckel de Vries and other evolutionists on 150 years of theater It shares significant new insights into the work of Ibsen Shaw Wilder and Beckett and writes female playwrights such as Susan Glaspell and Elizabeth Baker into the theatrical record unpacking their dramatic explorations of biological determinism gender essentialism the maternal instinct and the cult of motherhood It is likely that more people encountered evolution at the theater than through any other art form in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Considering the liveliness and immediacy of the theater and its reliance on a diverse community of spectators and the power that entails this book is a key text for grasping the extent of the public's adaptation to the new theory and the legacy of its representation on the perceived legitimacy or illegitimacy of scientific work

The Routledge Research Companion to Nineteenth-Century British Literature and Science John Holmes, Sharon Ruston, 2017-05-18 Tracing the continuities and trends in the complex relationship between literature and science in the long nineteenth century this companion provides scholars with a comprehensive authoritative and up to date foundation for research in this field In intellectual material and social terms the transformation undergone by Western culture over the period was unprecedented Many of these changes were grounded in the growth of science Yet science was not a cultural monolith then any more than it is now and its development was shaped by competing world views To cover the full range of literary engagements with science in the nineteenth century this companion consists of twenty seven chapters by experts in the field which explore crucial social and intellectual contexts for the interactions between literature and science how science affected different genres of writing and the importance of individual scientific disciplines and concepts within literary culture Each chapter has its own extensive bibliography The volume as a whole is rounded out with a synoptic introduction by the editors and an afterword by the eminent historian of nineteenth century science Bernard Lightman

Literature and Science in the Nineteenth Century Laura Otis, 2009-04-23 This anthology brings together a generous selection of scientific and literary material to explore the exchanges and interactions between them It shows how scientists and creative writers alike fed from a common imagination in their language style metaphors and imagery It includes writing by Michael Faraday Thomas Carlyle Thomas Hardy Charles Babbage Charles Darwin Louis Pasteur Edgar Allan Poe Mark Twain and many others

Biopolitics and Animal Species in Nineteenth-Century Literature and Science Matthew Rowlinson, 2024-02-01 Principles of species taxonomy were contested ground throughout the nineteenth century including those governing the classification of humans Matthew Rowlinson shows that taxonomy was a literary and cultural project as much as a scientific one His investigation explores animal species in Romantic writers including Gilbert White and Keats taxonomies in Victorian lyrics and the nonsense

botanies and alphabets of Edward Lear and species race and other forms of aggregated life in Darwin's writing showing how the latter views these as shaped by unconscious agency Engaging with theoretical debates at the intersection of animal studies and psychoanalysis and covering a wide range of science writing poetry and prose fiction this study shows the political and psychic stakes of questions about species identity and management This title is part of the Flip it Open Programme and may also be available Open Access Check our website Cambridge Core for details Vision, Science and Literature, 1870-1920 Martin Willis, 2015-07-22 This book explores the Victorian concept of vision across scientific and cultural forms Willis charts the characterization of vision through four organizing principles small large past and future to arrive at a Victorian conception of what vision was Willis then explores how this Victorian vision influenced twentieth century ways of seeing Literature and Science Charlotte Sleight, 2017-09-16 The growing field of literature and science is for the first time given a fully theorized overview Using case studies from a three hundred year history Sleight focuses on literary form and argues that novels did not just reflect or inform areas of science but were part of a broader ongoing cultural negotiation about how to read things George Eliot and Nineteenth-Century Psychology Michael Davis, 2016-12-05 In his study of Eliot as a psychological novelist Michael Davis examines Eliot's writings in the context of a large volume of nineteenth century scientific writing about the mind Eliot Davis argues manipulated scientific language in often subversive ways to propose a vision of mind as both fundamentally connected to the external world and radically isolated from and independent of that world In showing the alignments between Eliot's work and the formulations of such key thinkers as Herbert Spencer Charles Darwin T H Huxley and G H Lewes Davis reveals how Eliot responds both creatively and critically to contemporary theories of mind as she explores such fundamental issues as the mind body relationship the mind in evolutionary theory the significance of reason and emotion and consciousness Davis also points to important parallels between Eliot's work and new and future developments in psychology particularly in the work of William James In Middlemarch for example Eliot demonstrates more clearly than either Lewes or James the way the conscious self is shaped by language Davis concludes by showing that the complexity of mind which Eliot expresses through her imaginative use of scientific language takes on a potentially theological significance His book suggests a new trajectory for scholars exploring George Eliot's representations of the self in the context of science society and religious faith The Early Evolutionary Imagination Emelie Jonsson, 2021-09-29 Darwinian evolution is an imaginative problem that has been passed down to us unsolved It is our most powerful explanation of humanity's place in nature but it is also more cognitively demanding and less emotionally satisfying than any myth From the publication of the Origin of Species in 1859 evolution has pushed our capacity for storytelling into overdrive sparking fairy tales adventure stories political allegories utopias dystopias social realist novels and existential meditations Though this influence on literature has been widely studied it has not been explained psychologically This book argues for the adaptive function of storytelling integrates traditional humanist scholarship with current knowledge about the evolved and adapted human mind and calls for literary scholars to reframe their interpretation of the first authors who responded to Darwin

Handbook of the English Novel, 1830-1900 Martin Middeke, Monika Pietrzak-Franger, 2020-05-05 Part I of this authoritative handbook offers systematic essays which deal with major historical social philosophical political cultural and aesthetic contexts of the English novel between 1830 and 1900 The essays offer a wide scope of aspects such as the Industrial Revolution religion and secularisation science technology medicine evolution or the increasing mediatisation of the lifeworld Part II then leads through the work of more than 25 eminent Victorian novelists Each of these chapters provides both historical and biographical contextualisation overview close reading and analysis They also encourage further research as they look upon the work of the respective authors at issue from the perspectives of cultural and literary theory

Uncommon Contexts: Encounters between Science and Literature, 1800-1914 Ben Marsden, Hazel Hutchinson, Ralph O'Connor, 2016-09-12 Britain in the long nineteenth century developed an increasing interest in science of all kinds Whilst poets and novelists took inspiration from technical and scientific innovations those directly engaged in these new disciplines relied on literary techniques to communicate their discoveries to a wider audience The essays in this collection uncover this symbiotic relationship between literature and science at the same time bridging the disciplinary gulf between the history of science and literary studies Specific case studies include the engineering language used by Isambard Kingdom Brunel the role of physiology in the development of the sensation novel and how mass communication made people lonely

Handbook of British Travel Writing Barbara Schaff, 2020-09-07 This handbook offers a systematic exploration of current key topics in travel writing studies It addresses the history impact and unique discursive variety of British travel writing by covering some of the most celebrated and canonical authors of the genre as well as lesser known ones in more than thirty close reading chapters Combining theoretically informed astute literary criticism of single texts with the analysis of the circumstances of their production and reception these chapters offer excellent possibilities for understanding the complexity and cultural relevance of British travel writing

Reader's Guide to Literature in English Mark Hawkins-Dady, 2012-12-06 Reader's Guide Literature in English provides expert guidance to and critical analysis of the vast number of books available within the subject of English literature from Anglo Saxon times to the current American British and Commonwealth scene It is designed to help students teachers and librarians choose the most appropriate books for research and study

The Literary 1880s Penny Fielding, Andrew Taylor, 2019-10-17 Explores the diverse forces that shaped developments in literature in the 1880s an often overlooked literary decade

Literature and Medicine Clark Lawlor, Andrew Mangham, 2021 Offering an authoritative account of the relationship between literature and medicine between approximately 1800 and 1900 this volume brings together leading scholars in the field to provide a valuable overview of how two dynamic fields influenced and shaped each during a period of revolutionary change During the nineteenth century medicine was being redefined as a subject in which experimental methodologies could transform the healing art and was simultaneously branching off into new specialisms and subdivisions Questions addressed in this volume include the influence of physics on poetry the role of medical professionalism in fiction the cultural and literary representation of sanitation and the interdisciplinary nature of controversy and negligence Along with its sister publication Literature and Medicine in the Eighteenth Century this volume offers a major critical overview of the study of literature and medicine Back cover volume 2

Exchanges between Literature and Science from the 1800s to the 2000s Márcia Lemos, 2017-03-07 This collection of essays responds to the intense interest that the relations between the discourses of literature and other cultural practices and those of science have obtained throughout various fields of study Spanning a period between the mid nineteenth century and the twenty first century the work collected here is firmly focused on the cultural significance of scientific discoveries and practices and especially on the manifold representations of science and scientists in literature and the arts Its four sections develop from an initial moment of dwindling indefiniteness of borders between literature and the sciences to the historical perception of an increasing divide between the two cultures to use C P Snow s influential expression as well as calls for a form of convergence or consilience in Edward Wilson s words The final section turns to the medical sciences a porous scientific discipline in relation to the humanities which suggests that consilience can already be found partially in specific areas As such this collection contributes towards critically extending that integration through the discussion of key literary representations of science its promises and its problems Darwin's Bards John Holmes, 2013-10-16 A comprehensive study of Darwin s legacy for religion ecology and the arts Includes over 50 complete poems and long extracts with an interpretative framework and close readings Poets examined include Tennyson Browning Hardy Frost Ted Hughes Patti
