English for Academic Research: A Guide for Teachers Adrian Wallwork, 2016-05-19 Scientific English is possibly the most rewarding area of EFL teaching It differs from English for Academic Purposes EAP as it is directed to a much smaller audience PhD and postdoc students Courses on Scientific English are held in universities throughout the world

yet there is very little support for teachers in understanding what to teach and how to teach it. This guide is part of the English for Academic Research series. Part 1 of the book sheds light on the world of academia, the writing of research papers and the role of journal editors and reviewers. Part 2 gives practical suggestions on how to help your students improve their presentation skills. In Part 3 you will learn how to teach academic skills using non-academic examples. Parts 1-3 are thus useful for anyone involved in teaching academic English, whether they have used the other books in the series or not. Part 4 suggests two syllabuses for teaching writing and presenting skills based on the two core books: English for Writing Research Papers and English for Presentations at International Conferences. This book will help you i) understand the world of your students in academic research, ii) plan courses, and iii) exploit the 'What's the Buzz' sections in the books on Writing Presentations, Correspondence and Interacting on Campus.

Adrian Wallwork has written over 30 books covering General English (Cambridge University Press), Scholastic Business English (Oxford University Press) and Scientific English (Springer). He has trained several thousand PhD students from all over the world to write and present their research. Adrian also runs a scientific editing service: English for Academics (E4AC).

Giving an Academic Presentation in English Adrian Wallwork, 2022-06-23. This book is for university students with at least a mid-intermediate level of English. It can be used as part of an English for Academic Purposes (EAP) course, either alone or with the companion volume Writing an Academic Paper in English. The chapters are independent so that EAP teachers and students can choose those sections that best fit their needs. This means that a course could range from a minimum of 20 hours up to 60 hours or more. There is an introductory chapter that includes what role academics play in today's world, where success is not just measured in terms of paper output and presentations at conferences but also in involvement in interdisciplinary projects and supporting society at large. Each chapter covers either a particular skill, e.g. preparing a script, pronunciation, visuals, how to begin and end a presentation, or the particular purpose of a specific moment in a presentation. For example, the final slide is designed not just to conclude and thank the audience but is an opportunity to reach out for collaborations and assistance. The aims of each part of a presentation are also highlighted by comparisons with non-academic situations where similar skills are required. The course is highly practical, with screenshots from real presentations given by PhD students. It is also designed to be fun to use. Other books in the series: Writing an Academic Paper in English, Essential English Grammar and Communication Strategies. Adrian Wallwork is the author of more than 40 ELT and EAP textbooks. He has trained several thousand PhD students and researchers from around 50 countries to write research papers and give presentations. He is also the co-founder of e4ac.com, an editing agency for non-native English speaking researchers.
