The Ashgate Research Companion to Popular Culture in Early Modern England Andrew Hadfield, Matthew Dimmock, Abigail Shinn, 2016-03-23 The Ashgate Research Companion to Popular Culture in Early Modern England is a comprehensive interdisciplinary examination of current research on popular culture in the early modern era For the first time a detailed yet wide ranging consideration of the breadth and scope of early modern popular culture in England is collected in one volume highlighting the interplay of low and high modes of cultural production while also questioning the validity of such terminology The authors examine how popular culture impacted upon people s everyday lives during the period helping to define how individuals and groups experienced the world Issues as disparate as popular reading cultures games food and drink time textiles religious belief and superstition and the function of festivals and rituals are discussed This research companion will be an essential resource for scholars and students of early modern history and culture

English Embroideries of the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Centuries Mary M. Brooks, Ashmolean Museum, 2004 These textiles provide both documentation on the development of needlework and serve as a social history Included are pictorial panels a box samplers costume items and fanciful novelty pieces from the Ashmolean Museum s fine embroidery collection

International Textiles ,2003 The Gentleman's House in the British Atlantic World 1680-1780 S. Hague, 2015-06-23 The Gentleman s House analyses the architecture decoration and furnishings of small classical houses in the eighteenth century By examining nearly two hundred houses it offers a new interpretation of social mobility in the British Atlantic World characterized by incremental social change

Personification Walter Melion, Bart Ramakers, 2016-03-11 Personification or prosopopeia the rhetorical figure by which something not human is given a human identity or face is readily discernible in early modern texts and images but the figure s cognitive form and function its rhetorical and pictorial effects have rarely elicited sustained scholarly attention The aim of this volume is to formulate an alternative account of personification to demonstrate the ingenuity with which this multifaceted device was utilized by late medieval and early modern authors and artists in Italy France England Scotland and the Low Countries Personification is susceptible to an approach that balances semiotic analysis focusing on meaning effects and phenomenological analysis focusing on presence effects produced through bodily performance This dual approach foregrounds the full scope of prosopopoeic discourse not just the what but also the how not only the signified but also the signifier

Embroideries and Samplers from Islamic Egypt Marianne Ellis, Ashmolean Museum, 2001 Shown are rare embroideries and woven striped silks painted fabrics and knitting from time of the Tulunid Fatimid and Ayyubid through to the Mamluk Sultanate of Egypt and Syria up to the Ottoman conquest Included are decorative objects etc

The Art of Cloth in Mughal India Sylvia Houghteling, 2022-03-15 A richly illustrated history of textiles in the Mughal Empire In the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries a vast array of textiles circulated throughout the Mughal Empire Made from rare fibers and crafted using virtuosic techniques these exquisite objects animated early modern experience from the intimate sensory pleasure of garments to the monumentality of imperial tents. The Art of Cloth in Mughal India tells the story of textiles crafted and collected across South Asia and beyond, illuminating how cloth participated in political negotiations, social conversations, and the shared seasonal rhythms of the year. Drawing on small-scale paintings, popular poetry, chronicle histories, and royal inventory records, Sylvia Houghteling charts the travels of textiles from the Mughal imperial court to the kingdoms of Rajasthan, the Deccan sultanates, and the British Isles. She shows how the art of cloth encompassed both the making of textiles as well as their creative uses. Houghteling asks what cloth made its wearers feel, how it acted in space, and what images and memories it conjured in the mind. She reveals how woven objects began to evoke the natural environment, convey political and personal meaning, and span the distance between faraway people and places. Beautifully illustrated, The Art of Cloth in Mughal India offers an incomparable account of the aesthetics and techniques of cloth and cloth making, and the ways that textiles shaped the social, political, religious, and aesthetic life of early modern South Asia.

The Grove Encyclopedia of Medieval Art and Architecture Colum Hourihane, 2012. This volume offers unparalleled coverage of all aspects of art and architecture from medieval Western Europe from the 6th century to the early 16th century. Drawing upon the expansive scholarship in the celebrated Grove Dictionary of Art and adding hundreds of new entries, it offers students, researchers, and the general public a reliable, up-to-date, and convenient resource covering this field of major importance in the development of Western history and international art and architecture.

This book explores the histories and functions of museums while also looking at the current standing of museums and their ongoing efforts toward relevance, resiliency, and future proofing. Section I examines the beginnings of museums with chapters dedicated to art and design museums, natural history and anthropological museums, science museums, museums focused on history and the past, and gardens, zoos, and children's museums. Emphasis is on museums in the United States with some historical framing beyond the U.S. Section II explores the primary functions of museums, including conservation, exhibition, interpretation, engagement, and service. Section III examines museums from within by exploring critical issues and contemporary movements facing museums and our society: transparency and openness, labor and equity, belonging and coalition building, risk-taking and risk aversion, and sustainability and empathy. Advocating for change rather than death to museums, Museums in Motion demonstrates the very premise that museums have been in motion all along as they have shifted from their rather simple form of a treasury storehouse and tomb to something much more complex by deeply considering where museums have come from, where they are today, and where they are going. Entirely new to this edition.

Section III Museum Aspirations features five new chapters each centered around topics rather than a museum type or museum function Each topic is meant to be a micro narrative and springboard for a conversation about museums today and their sustainability in the future The chapters examine museums from the inside museum workers and their voices especially as well as power held by people and institutions and DEIA without using those individual words as chapter headings On their own or in conjunction with the chapters in the previous sections of this book these chapters serve as vignettes that can help readers to understand where how and why we need to apply critical lenses to institutions and articulate how doing so helps us to understand this historical moment and ultimately how we can realize resiliency and sustainability for museums and those who make their existence possible     Bibliographica Textilia Historiae Seth Siegelaub, Center for Social Research on Old Textiles, 1997 Over 5 000 works published since the fifteenth century on textiles as art craft technology industry many with descriptions some with illustrations     World Museum Publications ,1982     The Winterthur Museum Libraries Collection of Printed Books and Periodicals: General catalog Henry Francis du Pont Winterthur Museum.
