Bruno Jobert, Beate Kohler-Koch

Civil Society Participatory Governance And Decent Work Objectives Research Series 11:

Civil Society, Participatory Governance, and Decent Work Objectives Konstantinos Papadakis, 2006 The present study presents the findings of an in depth research project carried out at the International Institute for Labour Studies from 2002 to 2005 designed to better understand how civil society organizations working within participatory governance structures may contribute to the goals of the ILO decent work agenda The author examines the South African experience Since the mid 1990s South Africa has become a centre of innovation in public policy making and implementation and it is hard to find a country in either the developed or developing world that has gone further in the institutionalization of participatory policy making processes in a range of different fields This study focuses on three areas all relevant to the decent work agenda Employment creation and poverty alleviation health care and HIV AIDS and child labour and examines the participatory processes set up at the national level in order to formulate and implement policies in these areas It draws on both a literature review and the perceptions of key policy actors active in these three areas

Changing Images of Civil Society Bruno Jobert, Beate Kohler-Koch, 2008-06-10 Civil society has become one of the key parts of the reference framework for governance seeking to replace traditional public action in which representative democracy is combined with bureaucratic implementation The success of the civil society myth contrasts with and consequently manifests itself in the problems of political and social legitimacy and representation This book assesses the shift in the meaning and application of civil society from citizen protests to its incorporation into public action It examines the diversity of interpretations and uses of civil society in different political contexts and seeks to understand the reasons for its surfacing and its multiple forms in political discourse The authors critically analyze and compare how different types of regimes in countries such as Italy France and the UK Poland and Czechoslovakia South Africa China India and Chile have incorporated or otherwise responded to the new discourse Analyzing the surfacing and uses of civil society this book will be of interest to students and scholars of political science analysts policymakers non profit think tanks and organizations interested in comparative international studies on the third sector

Contesting Transformation Marcelle C. Dawson, Luke Sinwell, 2014-04-10 Contesting Transformation is a sober and critical reflection on the wave of social movement struggles which have taken place in post Apartheid South Africa Moving beyond a social movement scholarship that has tended to romanticise emergent movements this collection takes stock of the contradiction and complexity that is necessarily entangled in all forms of popular resistance Through an exploration of labour strikes legal organisations community protest and local government elections the contributors consider how different movements conceive of transformation and assess the extent to which these understandings challenge the narrative of the ruling African National Congress ANC An empirically grounded analysis from a coterie of leading researchers and analysts Contesting Transformation is the definitive critical survey of the state of popular struggle in South Africa today

Digital Labour Markets in Central and Eastern European Countries Beata Woźniak-Jęchorek, Kamilla

Marchewka-Bartkowiak,2023-01-19 This book examines the impact of the COVID 19 pandemic on changing labour markets and accelerating digitalisation of the workplace in Central and Eastern Europe It provides an innovative and enriching take on the work experience from the pandemic times and discusses the challenges of ongoing changes in labour markets and workplaces in a way that is not covered by the extant literature The impact of the COVID 19 pandemic and digitalisation on labour market outcomes is analysed throughout 12 chapters by 34 labour market experts from various CEE countries Most chapters are based on empirical methods yet are presented in an easy to follow way to make the book also accessible for a non scientific audience The volume addresses the three key goals to better understand the impact of the COVID 19 pandemic on the adoption of workplace digitalisation in the selected labour markets in CEE countries and the potential trade offs facing those who do and do not have access to this benefit to complement the labour market research by incorporating the outputs of changing demand for skills to contribute new insight into policies and regulations that govern the future of work The book argues that the recent COVID 19 pandemic was a sombre reminder of the relevance and necessity of digital technology for a variety of sectors and market activities It concludes that to downside the risks of vanishing jobs as well as to minimise the threats and maximise the opportunities of digitalisation in CEE countries labour market partners need to consider an effective governance tool in terms of inclusive access to the digital environment re skilling and balanced regulations of the more problematic facets of digital work The book will be of interest to postgraduate researchers and academics in the fields of labour economics regional economics and macroeconomics Additionally due to the broader policy implications of the topic the book will appeal to policymakers and experts interested in labour economics The Introduction Chapters 4 and 12 of this book are freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4 0 license

How to mainstream sustainability and circularity into the bioeconomy? Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2021-08-31 In its 2020 communiqu the International Advisory Council on Global Bioeconomy has urged to strengthen good practices and policies to advance the global bioeconomy The transition from a fossil based economy to a bioeconomy happens at three levels technological organizational and social In particular agri food systems are key to achieve a shift to sustainable and circular production and consumption patterns since they occupy the biggest share of the bioeconomy from an economic value added perspective as well as having potential for discovery and innovation This Compendium outlines 250 sources of good practices and policies It covers the entire continuum of economic sectors that have a stake in biological knowledge and resources The Compendium therefore highlights the wide range of aspects that are included in the concept of the bioeconomy Being an inherently multisectoral process that involves potential synergies and trade offs among different sustainability objectives the implementation of bioeconomy strategies presents greater challenges than activities that are focused on a single sector The report also shows how good practices and policies contribute to the translation of bioeconomy strategies into coordinated actions for the achievement of local priorities and sustainability goals while also addressing global issues Overall the review identifies a knowledge gap Assessments do not always indicate if practices and policies have enough evidence of impact to be recommended as models that contribute to sustainability objectives of the bioeconomy To address this a context specific approach described in Chapter 5 provides support for countries to make evidence based decisions on policies and investments for the bioeconomy The approach helps to identify good practices and policies ex ante which can help achieve common sustainability objectives of bioeconomy strategies that were presented in the 2019 FAO report Towards sustainable bioeconomy Lessons learned from case studies Taken together this Compendium and the 2019 report provide practical guidelines and resources that can support decision makers and stakeholders in bioeconomy systems to make progress towards reaching sustainable outcomes

New Public

Management in Africa Benon C. Basheka, Lukamba-Muhiya. Tshombe, 2017-08-25 The administrative sciences have been dominated by a turn to managerial perspectives in the late 20th and early 21st centuries and in the spirit of this turn New Public Management or NPM promises to produce efficient responsible and client oriented public services The reforms carried out in the pursuit of New Public Management are often accompanied by great optimism and rapid enthusiastic steps toward implementation Even in highly developed industrial countries however these fundamental reforms often overlook the political and cultural contexts of the implementing country New Public Management in Africa Emerging Issues and Lessons provides much needed theoretical foundations for NPM reforms in the African context and reflects on the success of existing reforms in the development of several African states The individual contributions in this timely volume provide important analyses of academic discourse practical policy achievements and desiderata The book as a whole however provides a valuable impetus for public administration research in and on African states sharing findings on the results of reforms to date and adjustments required for these reforms to succeed For public administration researchers outside of Africa this book offers a review of New Public Management case studies that are unavailable or difficult to find elsewhere contributing much to the exchange between African and Western administration science research and demonstrating that African administrative research is well prepared to help resolve global challenges

New Challenges to Democratization Peter Burnell, Richard Youngs, 2009-12-04. This important text explores the widespread contention that new challenges and obstacles have arisen to democratization, assessing the claim that support for democratization around the world is facing a serious challenge. Bringing together leading international scholars of democratization, including Thomas Carothers, Michael McFaul, Laurence Whitehead, Bassma Kodmani, Nancy Bermeo, Marina Ottaway, Shaun Breslin, and Renske Doorenspleet, this book examines the issues relating to developments within non-democratic states and issues related to the democratic world and its efforts to support the spread of democracy. Featuring in-depth studies on the limits of US democracy promotion, the Middle East, Russia, China, and new democracies, the book sheds light on such questions as: Is the wave of democratization now in retreat, or should we be careful not to exaggerate the importance of recent setbacks? Do serious sustainable alternatives to democracy now exist? Is international democracy promotion finished? New Challenges to Democratization brings together a variety of academics and writers from major think tanks in the United States and Europe and makes the book ideally suited to a wide international readership. This book will be of particular interest to students and scholars of democratization, comparative politics, and international politics.

De Gruyter Handbook of Citizens' Assemblies Min Reuchamps, Julien Vrydagh, Yanina Welp, 2023-05-31. Citizens Assemblies (CAs) are flourishing around the world. Quite often composed of randomly selected citizens, CAs arguably come as a possible answer to contemporary democratic challenges. Democracies worldwide are indeed confronted with a series of disruptive phenomena such as a widespread perception of distrust and growing polarization, as well as low performance. Many actors seek to reinvigorate democracy with citizen participation and deliberation. CAs are expected to have the potential to meet this twofold objective. But despite deliberative and inclusive qualities of CAs, many questions remain open. The increasing popularity of CAs calls for a holistic reflection and evaluation on their origins, current uses, and future directions. The De Gruyter Handbook of Citizens Assemblies showcases the state of the art around the study of CAs and opens novel perspectives informed by multidisciplinary research and renewed thinking about deliberative participatory processes. It discusses the latest theoretical, empirical, and methodological scientific developments on CAs and offers a unique resource for scholars, decision makers, practitioners, and curious citizens to better understand the qualities, purposes, promises, but also pitfalls of CAs.
