Civil Procedure in EU Competition Cases Before the English and Dutch Courts George Cumming,Mirjam Freudenthal,2010-01-01 For decades it seemed clear that EC competition law was enforceable effectively at the national level and ECJ case law has continued to bear this out In recent years however the Commission has been proposing harmonization of national rules of procedure in competition cases implying that procedural autonomy is insufficient on its own to produce an effective enforcement system in this area As the authors of this book clearly demonstrate this suggests a binary system governing the enforcement of EC Articles 81 and 82 namely that led by the Commission through directives and eventual regulations and that built on ECJ principles in areas not dealt with by such Community instruments This book describes and analyzes not only the specific Commission recommendations but also the manner and extent to which these recommendations are or may be implemented in civil procedure In particular the authors consider changes which may be required if these recommendations are incorporated into Dutch and English rules of civil procedure Also addressed are elements of procedure not mentioned by the Commission but which might usefully be considered in the context of ECJ principles of effectiveness equivalence and effective judicial protection of rights At the heart of the study is a detailed analysis of the Commission White Paper on Damages Actions and the Commission Staff Working Paper both issued early in 2009 The in depth analysis ranges over procedural aspects of such elements as the following and standing and disclosure and access to evidence and burden of proof and fault no fault and costs of damages actions and injunctions and civil versus administrative enforcement and limitations and leniency programmes and collective actions and confidentiality and forms of compensation Anticipating as it does a looming impasse in European competition law this remarkable book sheds defining light on the real implications of EC competition law for parties to damages actions not only in the national systems studied but for all Member States For practitioners and jurists it offers a particularly useful approach to the handling of cases involving European competition law and also serves as a guide to current trends and as a clarification of doctrine
