Jellicoe, 1993 Princeton Architectural Press's Reprint Series was established in 1981 to make rare volumes on architecture available to a wider audience. The books' beautiful reproductions and finest quality printing and binding match those of the originals while their 9 by 12 inch format makes them accessible and affordable. New introductions bring a modern voice to these classic texts updating them to become invaluable contemporary resources. These critically acclaimed books are an essential addition to any library.

A Tour of Italian Gardens Judith Chatfield, 1988 This book is sure to tempt many from their armchairs and into the travel agent's. A well bound portable work it updates Georgina Masson's classic Italian Gardens 1961. Chatfield traces the evolution of Italian gardens from antiquity through the 19th century then provides maps, a glossary and detailed information on gardens designed between the 16th and 18th centuries many currently open to the public. The text includes notes on plantings, fountains and sculpture as well as intriguing facts about the gardens' aristocratic owners. Accounts of contemporary travelers enliven the whole. This gorgeous book will circulate briskly among those who love gardening, travel and the history of landscape architecture. L. N. Reno formerly with Kent State Univ. Ohio Library Journal

Gardens and Gardening in Papal Rome David R. Coffin, From the late Middle Ages when it embodied spirituality through the end of the eighteenth century when it offered pleasurable surroundings for banquets, poetry readings and amorous pursuits, the garden figured prominently in everyday Roman life. In this lavishly illustrated history David Coffin provides a wealth of information on how Italian gardeners worked with the elements of color, fragrance, sound, shade, architecture, sculpture and wildlife to achieve a wide variety of sensual effects. In so doing he presents the stages of evolution in classic Italian gardening which was replaced in the late eighteenth century by the more naturalistic English style. Coffin first considers the role of cloistered gardens in the Middle Ages and shows how they were later incorporated as private spaces within the larger Renaissance gardens. Describing the introduction of sculptural collections and waterworks into gardens during the sixteenth century he explores some of the rich, often complicated iconographical programs that emerged. The extension of garden parks in the seventeenth century marks the diminishment of architecture in landscaping and the advent of landscape design as a dominant factor. Throughout this book Coffin concentrates on the garden as a site for entertainment and on the development of design components that eventually permitted gardens to be freely open to the public. A

Of Gardens Paula Deitz, 2011-11-29 Paula Deitz has delighted readers for more than thirty years with her vivid descriptions of both famous and hidden landscapes Her writings allow readers to share in the experience of her extensive travels from the waterways of Britain's Castle Howard to the Japanese gardens of Kyoto and home again to New York City's Central Park Collected for the first time the essays in Of Gardens record her great adventure of continual discovery not only of the artful beauty of individual gardens but also of the intellectual and historical threads that weave them into patterns of civilization from the modest garden for family subsistence to major urban developments Deitz's essays describe how people over many centuries and in many lands have expressed their originality by devoting themselves to cultivation and conservation During a visit to the Abby Aldrich Rockefeller Garden in Seal Harbor Maine Deitz first came to appreciate the notion that landscape architecture can be as intricately conceived as any major structure and is indeed the means by which we redeem the natural environment through design Years later as she wandered through the gardens of Versailles she realized that because gardens give structure without confinement they encourage a liberation of movement and thought In Of Gardens we follow Deitz down paths of revelation viewing A Bouquet of British Parks Liverpool Edinburgh and London the parks and promenades of Jerusalem the Moonlight Garden of the Taj Mahal a Tuscan style villa in southern California and the rooftop garden at Tokyo's Mori Center among many other sites Deitz covers individual landscape architects and designers including Andr  Le N tre Frederick Law Olmsted Beatrix Farrand Russell Page and Michael Van Valkenburgh She then features an array of parks public places and gardens before turning her attention to the burgeoning business of flower shows The volume concludes with a memorable poetic epilogue entitled A Winter Garden of Yellow
