The city features various classical-style buildings, including a large central temple or palace with a golden dome. To the left, there are several tall, thin structures that look like lighthouses or towers. In the foreground, there are more buildings and a road. The terrain is dotted with green trees and patches of brown earth. In the distance, there are more hills and a body of water. The overall lighting is warm, suggesting a sunset or sunrise. A red rectangular border is superimposed over the top half of the image, containing the title text.
