Zamora, 2008 Nation Race History in Asian American Literature reflects on the symbolic processes through which the United States constitutes its subjects as citizens connecting such processes to the global dynamics of empire building and a suppressed history of American imperialism Through a comparative analysis of David Henry Hwang's M. Butterfly Lois Ann Yamanaka's Blue Hanging and Jessica Hagedorn's Dogeaters this study considers the ways in which bodies challenge the categories asserted in nation building The book proposes that underwritten by the vast histories of American imperial migrations there are texts and bodies which challenge and reconstitute the ever vexed definition of American In remembering such bodies Maria C Zamora proclaims our bodies as actual living texts texts that are constantly bearing contesting and transforming meaning Nation Race History in Asian American Literature will engage scholars interested in cultural and critical theory citizenship and national identity race and ethnicity the body gender studies and transnational literature

Race & Resistance Viet Thanh Nguyen, 2002 Viet Nguyen argues that Asian American intellectuals need to examine their own assumptions about race culture and politics and makes his case through the example of literature

Immigrant Acts Lisa Lowe, 1996 Argues that understanding Asian immigration to the United States is fundamental to understanding the racialized economic and political foundations of the nation Lowe discusses the contradictions whereby Asians have been included in the workplaces and markets of the U S nation state yet through exclusion laws and bars from citizenship have been distanced from the terrain of national culture In this uniquely interdisciplinary study Lowe examines the historical political cultural and aesthetic meanings of immigration in relation to Asian Americans back cover

Homelandings Rahul K. Gairola, 2016-09-21 Homelandings is a critical exploration of the ways that postcolonial diasporas challenge exclusive formulations of home and homeland based on racist and heteronormative assumptions It critically engages with Foucault's notions of biopolitics and governmentality as a conjoined technology of governance in the era of neoliberal capitalism ushered into the global economy from the late 1970s Drawing on texts produced by diasporic people in the UK and USA whose work resists and re appropriates exclusive home sites produced by trends of Anglo American neoliberalism it exposes entrenched discourses of exclusion rooted in race class and sexuality In doing so it offers an urgent intervention for students and scholars of cultural studies postcolonial studies Anglophone literature comparative literature Race and Ethnicity studies and Queer studies

The Ruptures of American Capital Grace Kyungwon Hong, Universality is a dangerous concept according to Grace Kyungwon Hong one that has contributed to the rise of the U S nation state that privileges the propertied individual However African American Asian American and Chicano people experience the same stretch of city sidewalk with varying degrees of safety visibility and surveillance The Ruptures of American Capital examines two key social formations women of color feminism and racialized immigrant women's culture in order to argue that race and gender are contradictions within the history of U S capital that should be understood not as monolithic but as marked by its crises Hong shows how women of color feminism identified ways in which nationalist forms of capital such as the right to own property were repressive The Ruptures of American Capital demonstrates that racialized immigrant women's culture has brought to light contested modes of incorporation into consumer culture Interweaving discussion of U S political economy with literary analyses including readings from Booker T Washington to Jessica Hagedorn Hong challenges the individualism of the United States and the fetishization of difference that is one of the markers of globalization Grace Kyungwon Hong is assistant professor of English and Asian American studies at the University of Wisconsin Madison

After Postcolonialism Epifanio San Juan, 2000 This innovative analysis of the Philippine historical crisis is accompanied by a critique of a U S racial formation in which Filipinos constitute the largest Asian group Literary and artistic expressions by Filipinos manifest a new emerging identity defined by the multicultural debates crossing the Pacific transforming the Philippines into a borderland of East and West Caught betwixt the Asian continent and the hegemonic power of the United States the Philippines occupies a contested space between past and present Between the memory of colonial experience and an emergent nation making dream can a meaningful future be envisioned This provocative book explores this problematic zone of difference through a critique of the Western production of knowledge in the context of local resistance While Americanization of the Filipino continues the encounter of globalizing and nationalizing forces has precipitated a profound political and social crisis whose outcome may be a paradigmatic lesson for many so called third world countries What happens in this Southeast Asian nation may foretell the fate of the ideals of democracy and social justice now beleaguered by the market and the unrelenting commodification of everyday life

Invitation to the Party Donna Walker-Kuhne, 2005 The handbook to attract and involve audiences of color for arts and cultural institutions

Legitimizing Empire Faye Caronan, 2015-05-30 When the United States acquired the Philippines and Puerto Rico it reconciled its status as an empire with its anticolonial roots by claiming that it would altruistically establish democratic institutions in its new colonies Ever since Filipino and Puerto Rican artists have challenged promises of benevolent assimilation and portray U S imperialism as both self interested and unexceptional among empires Faye Caronan's examination interprets the pivotal engagement of novels films performance poetry and other cultural productions as both symptoms of and resistance against American military social economic and political incursions Though the Philippines became an independent nation and Puerto Rico a U S commonwealth both remain subordinate to the United States Caronan s juxtaposition reveals two different yet simultaneous models of U S neocolonial power and contradicts American exceptionalism as a reluctant empire that only accepts colonies for the benefit of the colonized and global welfare Her analysis meanwhile demonstrates how popular culture allows for alternative narratives of U S imperialism but also functions to contain those alternatives
