Frontier Curiosity Part II:

Frontier Carl Albright, 2016-04-10 As if being on Mars was not isolating enough Cloudy JJ Rose and Briggs are confined to their habitat as a dust storm of epic proportions engulfs the Red Planet They have made a discovery that will change the course of history but are now tasked with understanding an organism that is becoming increasingly incomprehensible The team carefully studies a microscopic Alien life form brought up from the Valles Marineris trench but are their Earthly precautions enough The crew's mission becomes more and more dangerous as each new find turns out to be more terrifying than the last The Realities of 'Reality' - Part II: Making Sense of Why Modern Science Advances (Volume 2 of 2) Fritz Dufour, MBA, DESS, 2019-03-23 The difference between Part I and Part II Volumes 1 2 of this series is that in Part I the author showed how what we call reality starts with the inner self whereas Part II describes what in fact impacts and modifies the environment or reality and what are the factors behind that dynamics What impacts and modifies the environment is science This Volume 2 starts by showing how technology plays an important role in scientific progress Although the relationship between the two is symbiotic science can exist without technology but technology desperately needs science Military technology is an example of how technology can help science advance Some military inventions end up having civilian use Science being at the center of society the book makes the case for the direct impact of such social sciences as politics and economics on the advancement of science Politics says the author influences science because of uncertainty in science and economics does it thanks to the availability of money to scholars and scientists for their research On the other hand government also influences scientific progress through regulations The book gives cyberspace regulation as an example Furthermore by showing how art influences science the author really argues for the polyfactorial aspect of scientific progress In that line of thought he goes on to also prove that factors such as skepticism curiosity and the quest for knowledge greatly influence the advancement of science That says the author is a ninety degree turn By ending Part two that way I wanted to somehow link it to Part I which argues that reality starts from within A Collection of Curious Travels&voyages, in Two Tomes John Ray, 1693 The Curious Passage of Richard Blanshard Barry Gough, 2023-11-25 Celebrated historian Barry Gough brings a defining era of Pacific Northwest history into focus in this biography of Richard Blanshard the first governor of Vancouver Island illuminating with intriguing detail the genesis and early days of Canada's westernmost province Early one wintry day in March 1850 after seven weary weeks out of sight of land a well dressed Londoner a bachelor aged thirty two stood at the ship's rail taking in the immensity of the unfolding scene From Her Britannic Majesty's paddlewheel sloop of war Driver steadily thumping forth on Imperial purpose all that Richard Blanshard could make out to port in reflected purple light upon the northern side was a forested rock clad island rising to considerable height Vancouver's Island they called it in those far off days This was his destination Richard Blanshard was only governor of the young colony for three short unhappy years only one and a half of which were spent in the colony itself From the very beginning he was at odds with the vastly influential Hudson's Bay Company run by its Chief Factor James Douglas who succeeded Blanshard as governor of the colony of Vancouver Island and later became the first governor of the colony of British Columbia While James Douglas is remembered for better or worse as a founding father of British Columbia Richard Blanshard's name is now largely forgotten despite his vitally important role in warning London of American cross border aggressions including a planned takeover of Haida Gwaii However his failures highlight the fascinating struggles of the time the supreme influence of commerce the disparity between expectations and reality and the bewildering collision of European and Pacific Northwest culture
