The Lost Traveller Antonia White, 2011-02-17 When Clara returns home from the convent of her childhood to begin life at a local girls school she is at a loss although she has comparative freedom she misses the discipline the nuns imposed and worries about keeping her faith in a secular world Against the background of the First World War Clara experiences the confusions of adolescence its promise its threat of change She longs for love yet fears it and wonders what the future will hold Then tragedy strikes and her childhood haltingly comes to an end as she realises that neither parents nor her faith can help her The Lost Traveller is the first in the trilogy sequel to Frost in May which continues with The Sugar House and Beyond the Glass Although each is a complete novel in itself together they form a brilliant portrait of a young girl's journey to adulthood Virago Reprints and Modern Classics

D-M Withers, 2021-05-20 Reprinting republishing and re-covering old books in new clothes is an established publishing practice. How are books that have fallen out of taste and favour resituated by publishers and recognised by readers as relevant and timely? This Element outlines three historical textures within British culture of the late 1970s and early 1980s: History Remembrance and Heritage that enabled Virago's reprint publishing to become a commercial and cultural success. With detailed archival case studies of the Virago Reprint Library, Testament of Youth and the Virago Modern Classics, it elaborates how reprints were profitable for the publisher and moved Virago's books and the Virago brand name from the periphery of culture to the centre. Throughout Virago's reprint publishing and especially with the Modern Classics, the epistemic revelation that women writers were forgotten and could therefore be rediscovered was repeated again and again and made culturally productive through the marketplace. The Headmistress Angela Thirkell, 2016-11-17

Barsetshire in the latter years of the Second World War is a peaceful and gossipy place but there has been one lively change. A girls' school evacuated from London has taken over Harefield Park. Miss Sparling seems to be the perfect headmistress; she dresses as a headmistress should and is an easy and erudite conversationalist. Her new neighbours like her and her pupils respect her but there is something missing from her life, something which though she never dreamt it when she arrived perhaps Barsetshire can provide. The Book in Britain Daniel Allington, David A. Brewer, Stephen Colclough, Sian Echard, Zachary

Lesser, 2018-12-12 Introduces readers to the history of books in Britain: their significance, influence and current and future status. Presented as a comprehensive up-to-date narrative, The Book in Britain: A Historical Introduction explores the impact of books, manuscripts and other kinds of material texts on the cultures and societies of the British Isles. The text clearly explains the technicalities of printing and publishing and discusses the formal elements of books and manuscripts which are necessary to facilitate an understanding of that impact. This collaboratively authored narrative history combines the knowledge and expertise of five scholars who seek to answer questions such as: How does the material form of a text affect its meaning? How do books shape political and religious movements? How have the economics of the book trade and copyright shaped the literary canon? Who has been included in and excluded from the world of books and why? The Book in Britain: A Historical Introduction will appeal to all scholars, students and historians interested in the written word and its continued production and presentation. The Old Bank House Angela Thirkell, 2024-03-07

Charming, very funny indeed. Angela Thirkell is perhaps the most Pym-like of any twentieth-century author after Pym herself. Alexander McCall Smith's Edgewood Rectory may be set in an ancient landscape but the Grantly family are very much of their time. Caught up in the uncertain world that has emerged since the outbreak of peace, the Rector and Mrs Grantly are bewildered by the challenges facing their eldest children. Eleanor, longing for more excitement than can be found in the Red Cross Library, and Tom, struggling to readjust to student life at Oxford after his military service. When their elderly neighbour Miss Sowerby sells her beloved Old Bank House
