

THE FROZEN DEEP.

ACT I.

SCENE.—A handsomely furnished room in a country-house, with a bay-window at the back of the stage, looking out, over corn-fields, on a village church. Flowers are disposed about the room on stands. On one side, a tea-table, with tea-things on it. On the other, a round table, with work on it. Time, shortly before sunset. The entrance to the room is on the left-hand side of the actor.

MRS. STEVENTON and ROSE are discovered at the tea-table. The maid-servant enters to them at the rise of the curtain, with the newspaper which has arrived by the post. MRS. S. takes it.

Rose. Any news, Caroline?

Mrs. S. (reading). "Arrived, the Fortune, from Valparaiso; the Ariel, from Jamaica. Spoken, the Sisters, from Liverpool to California, eight days out. Reported drifting among ice at sea, waterlogged and abandoned, the Hope." (Repressing a shudder.) No, Rose—no news to interest us.

Rose. Shall I give you some more tea? (Mrs. S. declines.) Has the doctor gone yet?

Mrs. S. Lucy is still talking to him about Clara; and Clara has retired to her own room. (The maid enters with gardening-scissors and a basket, which she hands to Mrs. S., and goes out again. Mrs. S. rises, and attends to the flowers as the dialogue proceeds.) Rose, I have been doubting lately whether it was wise for us four women to shut ourselves up in this solitary house, while our natural protectors are away from us in the expedition to the Arctic Seas.

Rose (taking her work). What could we do better than

Dickens and the Drama Shafto Justin Adair Fitz-Gerald, 1910 The Connoisseur, 1913 The Illustrated London News, 1857 Collaborative Dickens Melisa Klimaszewski, 2019-06-11 From 1850 to 1867 Charles Dickens produced special issues called numbers of his journals Household Words and All the Year Round which were released shortly before Christmas each year In Collaborative Dickens Melisa Klimaszewski undertakes the first comprehensive study of these Christmas numbers She argues for a revised understanding of Dickens as an editor who rather than ceaselessly bullying his contributors sometimes accommodated contrary views and depended upon multivocal narratives for his own success Klimaszewski uncovers connections among and between the stories in each Christmas collection She thus reveals ongoing conversations between the works of Dickens and his collaborators on topics important to the Victorians including race empire supernatural hauntings marriage disability and criminality Stories from Wilkie Collins Elizabeth Gaskell and understudied women writers such as Amelia B Edwards and Adelaide Anne Procter interact provocatively with Dickens's writing By restoring links between stories from as many as nine different writers in a given year Klimaszewski demonstrates that a respect for the Christmas numbers plural authorship and intertextuality results in a new view of the complexities of collaboration in the Victorian periodical press and a new appreciation for some of the most popular texts Dickens published

The Story of a Lifetime Lady Chambers Priestley, 1908 , Unequal Partners Lillian Nayder, 2018-07-05 In the first book centering on the collaborative relationship between Charles Dickens and Wilkie Collins Lillian Nayder places their coauthored works in the context of the Victorian publishing industry and shows how their fiction and drama represent and reconfigure their sometimes strained relationship She challenges the widely accepted image of Dickens as a mentor of younger writers such as Collins points to the ways in which Dickens controlled and profited from his literary satellites and charts Collins's development as an increasingly significant and independent author The pair's collaborations for Household Words and All the Year Round explicitly addressed Victorian labor disputes and political unrest and Nayder reads the stories in terms of the social and imperial conflicts that both provided their themes and enabled Dickens and Collins to mediate their own personal and professional differences Nayder s discussion of the collaboration and its principals is greatly enriched by archival research into unpublished and unfamiliar material including the manuscripts of The Frozen Deep Antiques ,1924 American Book Prices Current ,1917 A record of literary properties sold at auction in the United States Catalogue of the Printed Books in the Library of the British Museum British Library,1901

Strange Dislocations Carolyn Steedman,1995 Using the perspectives of social and cultural history and the history of psychology and physiology Strange Dislocations traces a search for the self for a past that is lost and gone and the ways in which over the last hundred years the lost vision has come to assume the form of a child
