EXCERPT FROM THE BOOK Although her academic career was promising her parents marriage was not as stable Enid later recalled nights when she would comfort her brothers at the top of the stairs as their parents loudly argued below Her father left her mother for his secretary at the wholesale clothing business he managed when Enid was 13 To keep up appearances the children when asked would tell neighbors that he was away on a visit Enid later used this ruse as the premise for her book The Six Bad Boys which Blyton biographer Barbara Stoney called an unusual attempt for Enid at social realism With her greatest ally gone from the home young Enid began writing as a way to escape her mother This most likely contributed to her prolific writing output as an adult writing up to 10 000 words a day The young Blyton also entertained her brothers by telling them stories made up rhymes wrote in her diary and read prodigiously Her work and determination eventually paid off and after a series of submissions and rejections she won a childrens poetry competition at the age of 14 At the age of 17 upon graduation from St Christophers Enid left home to live with her friend Mary Attenboroughs family She continued to visit her father on occasion but was resentful of his new wife who she considered the cause of her parents divorce and their three children Although she showed a gift for music encouraged by her mother to become a pianist Enid decided not to enter the Guildhall School of Music and instead followed her passion as a writer
