Nelson's Arctic Voyage Peter Goodwin,2019-05-16 In the summer of 1773 the 14 year old Horatio Nelson took part in an expedition to the Arctic which came close to ending his naval career before it had begun The expedition was to find a navigable northern passage between the Atlantic and Pacific and was supported by the Royal Society and King George III Two bomb vessels HMS Racehorse and Carcass were fitted out and strengthened under the command of Captain Hon Constantine Phipps It was an extremely cold Arctic summer and the ships became locked in ice far from Spitzbergen and were unable to cut their way out until days later when the wind changed and the ice broke up The ships were extricated and returned home On the trip the young Nelson had command of one of the smaller boats of the ships a four oared cutter manned by twelve seamen In this he helped to save the crew of a boat belonging to the Racehorse from an attack by a herd of enraged walruses He also had a more famous encounter with a polar bear while attempting to obtain a bearskin as a present for his father an exploit that later became part of the Nelson legend Drawing on the ship s journals and expedition commander Phipps journal from the National Archives the book creates a picture of the expedition and life on board Using the ships muster books it also details the ship s crews giving the different roles and ranks in the ships The book is illustrated using some of the ship s drawings and charts and pictures of many objects used on the ship while a navigational chart of the route taken has been created from the logbooks The book also looks at the overall concept of naval exploration as set in train by Joseph Banks and the Royal Society The fact that the expedition failed as a result of poor planning with potentially tragic results demonstrates the difficulties and uncertainties of such an expedition It also looks at a great naval commander at the earliest stage of his career and considers how the experience might have shaped his later career and attitudes Other great captains and voyages are discussed alongside Nelson including Captain Cook and his exploration of the south seas and the later ill fated northern journeys of Franklin and Shackleton

Running Out Lucas Bessire,2022-10-04 Finalist for the National Book Award An intimate reckoning with aquifer depletion in America s heartland The Ogallala aquifer has nourished life on the American Great Plains for millennia But less than a century of unsustainable irrigation farming has taxed much of the aquifer beyond repair The imminent depletion of the Ogallala and other aquifers around the world is a defining planetary crisis of our times Running Out offers a uniquely personal account of aquifer depletion and the deeper layers through which it gains meaning and force Anthropologist Lucas Bessire journeyed back to western Kansas where five generations of his family lived as irrigation farmers and ranchers to try to make sense of this vital resource and its loss His search for water across the drying High Plains brings the reader face to face with the stark realities of industrial agriculture eroding democratic norms and surreal interpretations of a looming disaster Yet the destination is far from predictable as the book seeks to move beyond the words and genres through which destruction is often known Instead this journey into the morass of eradication offers a series of unexpected discoveries about what it means to inherit the troubled legacies of the past and how we can take responsibility for a more inclusive sustainable future An urgent and unsettling meditation on environmental change Running Out is a revelatory account of family complicity loss and what it means to find your way back home
