

The background of the cover is a rich, detailed painting in a Renaissance style. It depicts a bustling river scene, likely a market or a busy port. In the foreground, several figures are visible: a man in a red robe stands near a boat, while others are engaged in various activities. A large brown ox is prominent on the left, and several white sheep are scattered throughout the scene. The river is filled with boats, some carrying goods and others with people. The background shows a town with buildings and more figures, creating a sense of a vibrant, interconnected world.

Connections Edward H. Judge, John W. Langdon, 2020-01-02 The Material of World History Tina Mai Chen, David S. Churchill, 2015-03-27 This volume considers the confluence of World History and historical materialism with the following guiding question in mind given developments in the field of historical materialism concerned with the intersection of race gender labour and class why is it that within the field of World History historical materialism has been marginalized precisely as World History orients toward transnational socio cultural phenomenon micro studies or global histories of networks Answering this question requires thinking in an inter related manner about both the development of World History as a discipline and the place of economic determinism in historical materialism This book takes the position that historical materialism as applied to the field of World History needs to be more open to the methodological diversity of the materialist tradition and to refuse narrowly deterministic frameworks that have led to marginalization of materialist cultural analysis in studies of global capitalism At the same time World History needs to be more self critical of the methodological diversity it has welcomed through a largely inclusionary framework that allows the material to be considered separately from cultural social and intellectual dimensions of global processes

French Connections Andrew N. Wegmann, Robert Englebert, 2020-11-04 French Connections examines how the movement of people ideas and social practices contributed to the complex processes and negotiations involved in being and becoming French in North America and the Atlantic World between the years 1600 and 1875 Engaging a wide range of topics from religious and diplomatic performance to labor migration racialization and both imagined and real conceptualizations of Frenchness and Frenchification this volume argues that cultural mobility was fundamental to the development of French colonial societies and the collective identities they housed Cases of cultural formation and dislocation in places as diverse as Quebec the Illinois Country Detroit Haiti Acadia New England and France itself demonstrate the broad variability of French cultural mobility that took place throughout this massive geographical space Nevertheless these communities shared the same cultural root in the midst of socially and politically fluid landscapes where cultural mobility came to define and indeed sustain communal and individual identities in French North America and the Atlantic World Drawing on innovative new scholarship on Louisiana and New Orleans the editors and contributors to French Connections look to refocus the conversation surrounding French colonial interconnectivity by thinking about mobility as a constitutive condition of culture from this perspective separate spheres of French colonial culture merge to reveal a broader more cohesive cultural world The comprehensive scope of this collection will attract scholars of French North America early American history Atlantic World history Caribbean studies Canadian studies and frontier studies With essays from established award winning scholars such as Brett Rushforth Leslie Choquette Jay Gitlin and Christopher Hodson as well as from new progressive thinkers such as Mairi Cowan William Brown Karen L Marrero and Robert D Taber French Connections promises to generate interest and value across an extensive and diverse range of concentrations Teaching World History: A Resource Book Heidi Roupp,2015-03-04 A resource book for teachers of world history at all levels The text contains individual sections on art gender religion philosophy literature trade and technology Lesson plans reading and multi media recommendations and suggestions for classroom activities are also provided History Textbooks and the Wars in Asia Gi-Wook Shin,Daniel C. Snieder,2011-02-08 Over the past fifteen years Northeast Asia has witnessed growing intraregional exchanges and interactions especially in the realms of culture and economy Still the region cannot escape from the burden of history This book examines the formation of historical memory in four Northeast Asian societies China Japan South Korea and Taiwan and the United States focusing on the period from the beginning of the Sino Japanese war in 1931 until the formal conclusion of the Pacific War with the San Francisco Peace Treaty of 1951 The contributors analyse the recent efforts of Korean Japanese and Chinese scholars to write a common history of Northeast Asia and question the underlying motivations for their efforts and subsequent achievements In doing so they contend that the greatest obstacle to reconciliation in Northeast Asia lies in the existence of divided and often conflicting historical memories The book argues that a more fruitful approach lies in understanding how historical memory has evolved in each country and been incorporated into respective master narratives Through uncovering the existence of different master narratives it is hoped citizens will develop a more self critical self reflective approach to their own history and that such an introspective effort has the potential to lay the foundation for greater self and mutual understanding and eventual historical reconciliation in the region This book will be essential reading for students and scholars of Asian history Asian education and international relations in East Asia The New Global History Bruce Mazlish,2006-09-27 From a distinguished author in the field The New Global History is a critical inquiry into the historical process of globalization which is seen as a distinctly twentieth century phenomenon with its roots in the age of expansion of the early modern world Cutting across disciplinary boundaries The New Global History offers a fresh overarching view of the process of globalization that is always empirically based and discusses the most important themes such as policy trade cultural imperialism and warfare Bruce Mazlish argues that globalization is not something that the West has imposed upon the rest of the world but the result of the interplay of many factors across continents Students of history politics and international studies will all find this a valuable resource in the pursuit of their studies Resources in Education ,2001-04 Earthopolis Carl H. Nightingale,2022-06-09 This is a biography of Earthopolis the only Urban Planet we know of It is a history of how cities gave humans immense power over

Earth for good and for ill Carl Nightingale takes readers on a sweeping six continent six millennia tour of the world's cities culminating in the last 250 years when we vastly accelerated our planetary realms of action habitat and impact courting dangerous new consequences and opening prospects for new hope In Earthopolis we peek into our cities homes neighborhoods streets shops eating houses squares marketplaces religious sites schools universities offices monuments docklands and airports to discover connections between small spaces and the largest things we have built The book exposes the Urban Planet's deep inequalities of power wealth access to knowledge class race gender sexuality religion and nation It asks us to draw on the most just and democratic moments of Earthopolis's past to rescue its future

Empire in Asia: A New Global History Jack Fairey, Brian P. Farrell, 2018-06-28 Asia was the principle focus of empire builders from Alexander and Akbar to Chinggis Khan and Qianlong and yet until now there has been no attempt to provide a comprehensive history of empire in the region Empire in Asia addresses the need for a thorough survey of the topic This volume traces the evolution of a constellation of competing empires in Asia from the 13th through to the 18th centuries Separate chapters will describe the history and characteristic features of imperial regimes in each major sub region of Asia from the Ottomans and Safavids in the West Romanovs in the North Mughals in the South the Mongols their successors in Inner Asia to the Ming and Qing Dynasties in the East The contributors address common questions in considering the various empires including How did imperial Asian states understand themselves and their place in the world How were these empires constructed and how did they attain such prominence To what extent did imperial repertoires of rule differ The two volumes of Empire in Asia offer a significant contribution to the theory and practice of empire when considered globally and comparatively and are essential reading for all students and scholars of global imperial and Asian history

The Routledge Handbook of Science and Empire Andrew Goss, 2021-07-05 The Routledge Handbook of Science and Empire introduces readers to important new research in the field of science and empire This compilation of inquiry into the inextricably intertwined history of science and empire reframes the field showing that one could not have grown without the other The volume expands the history of science through careful attention to connections exchanges and networks beyond the scientific institutions of Europe and the United States These 27 original essays by established scholars and new talent examine scientific and imperial disciplines networks of science scientific practice within empires and decolonised science The chapters cover a wide range of disciplines from anthropology and psychiatry to biology and geology There is global coverage with essays about China Southeast Asia the Pacific Australia and New Zealand India the Middle East Russia the Arctic and North and South America Specialised essays cover Jesuit science natural history collecting energy systems and science in UNESCO With authoritative chapters by leading scholars this is a guiding resource for all scholars of empire and science Free of jargon and with clearly written essays the handbook is a valuable path to further inquiry for any student of the history of science and empire

Teaching World History in the Twenty-first Century: A Resource Book Heidi Roupp, 2015-02-12 This practical handbook is designed to help anyone who is preparing to teach a world history course or wants to teach it better It includes contributions by experienced teachers who are reshaping world history education and features new approaches to the subject as well as classroom tested practices that have markedly improved world history teaching

Averting a Great Divergence Peer Vries, 2019-08-08 The most significant debate in global economic history over the past twenty years has dealt with the Great Divergence the economic gap between different parts of the world Thus far this debate has focused on China India and north western Europe particularly Great Britain This book shifts the focus to ask how Japan became the only non western country that managed at least partially to modernize its economy and start to industrialize in the 19th century Using a range of empirical data Peer Vries analyses the role of the state in Japan's economic growth from the Meiji Restoration to World War II and asks whether Japan's economic success can be attributed to the rise of state power Asserting that the state's involvement was fundamental in Japan's economic catching up he demonstrates how this was built on legacies from the previous Tokugawa period In this book Vries deepens our understanding of the Great Divergence in global history by re-examining how Japan developed and modernized against the odds

Cosmopolitan Connections Mark Anthony Falzon, 2004-09-01 This volume looks at a diasporic community of Indian traders It draws on anthropological field research as well as archival sources to portray a cosmopolitan group united by ties of kinship and community which are reproduced across space through processes such as the circulation of women and family visiting These ties have their counterpart in the economic sphere which is characterised by sets of translocal trading linkages credit relations and a heightened knowledge of markets and a readiness to explore them A model for the relation between mobility and commerce is thus explored The book which includes a number of maps and original photographs is ground breaking in that it uses the technique of multi sited ethnography in which data from different sites are juxtaposed into a broad synthesis

It is geared towards a broad audience
