Constructing Landscape:

Constructing Landscape Astrid Zimmermann, 2011 Constructing Landscape is a systematically structured reference work about the techniques and theories applied when constructing outdoor spaces All the relevant topics are vividly covered from materials and surfaces via building outdoor features to the use of plants The book shows how landscape designers and architects can implement their creative ideas with expertise and technical skill Constructing Landscape is in three parts Materials The principles of loadbearing structures and Structural elements and building methods The first part surveys various building materials used in landscape architecture and their specific qualities surface properties and possible working modes are also discussed The next section explains the fundamental principles of statics joints for loadbearing elements foundations for structural components and supporting structures The third chapter is devoted to the principles of construction and techniques associated with various structural elements A large collection of realized sample projects

Illustrates particular building tasks with photographs and plans Teaching Landscape Karsten Jørgensen, Nilgöl Karadeniz, Elke Mertens, Richard Stiles, 2019-08-30 Teaching Landscape The Studio Experience gathers a range of expert contributions from across the world to collect best practice examples of teaching landscape architecture studios This is the companion volume to The Routledge Handbook of Teaching Landscape in the two part set initiated by the European Council of Landscape Architecture Schools ECLAS Design and planning studio as a form of teaching lies at the core of landscape architecture education They can simulate a professional situation and promote the development of creative solutions based on gaining an understanding of a specific project site or planning area address existing challenges in urban and rural landscapes and often involve interaction with real stakeholders such as municipality representatives residents or activist groups In this way studio based planning and design teaching brings students closer to everyday practice helping to prepare them to create real world problem solving designs This book provides fully illustrated examples of studios from over twenty different schools of landscape architecture worldwide With over 250 full colour images it is an essential resource for instructors and academics across the landscape discipline for the continuously evolving process of discussing and generating improved teaching modes in landscape architecture Spatial Transformation Milad Abassiharofteh, Jessica

Baier, Angelina Göb, Insa Thimm, Andreas Eberth, Falco Knaps, Vilja Larjosto, Fabiana Zebner, 2022 What can be understood by spatial transformation how does it manifest itself and what are the characteristics of transformation processes This Research Report addresses these questions and presents current research projects and approaches from an academic and practical planning perspective A central point of reference is the concept of a Great Transformation which stems from an expert report by the German Advisory Council on Global Change WBGU It outlines the profound changes in the economy and society towards sustainability that will become necessary in the future describing them as a Great Transformation Likewise social upheavals also manifest themselves in space enabling spatial changes to be understood as spatial transformations However on a detailed level it remains unclear what is to be understood by spatial transformation processes and how they manifest themselves. Against the background of this need for further research this Research Report addresses concrete issues in the research and shaping of spatial transformation processes. The aim is to systematise the largely unordered or disordered knowledge of spatial transformation processes and to contribute to a common understanding of the associated concepts which can form the basis for further research and for the steering of these processes. The articles on the following topics show how spatial and social transformation processes are mutually dependent and what opportunities and challenges inter- and transdisciplinary research designs can offer in this context: Perspectives on transformation processes; Social and settlement structures in change; Regional development and innovation; Transformation processes in the so-called Global South; New challenges for planning processes and stakeholders; Research on transformation. The contributions to theoretical, methodological and practical approaches are intended to stimulate a critical discussion on spatial transformation that is open to new interdisciplinary perspectives.

New Approach to Cultural Heritage Le Cheng, Jianping Yang, Jianming Cai, 2021-10-26. This book addresses questions about theories of heritage, its methodologies of research and where its boundaries lie with tourism, urban development, post-disaster recovery, collective identities, memory or conflict. This book is a collection of heritage studies from a critical perspective as a product of the 2018 ACHS Association of Critical Heritage Studies Conference in Hangzhou, the largest conference of its kind in Asia. The contributors cover a wide spectrum of issues in heritage studies such as heritage management, accessibility to heritage, heritage conservation and heritage policy and heritage representation. It also examines the various contexts within which heritage emerges and how heritage is constructed within that context. Analyses are based on not only representations of heritage but also on the performativity. Explorations touch upon community involvement, landscape history, children's literature, endangered food, architecture, advertisement, allotment garden and gender and visual art. As heritage has always been a locus of contested verities, the book offers a variegated approach to heritage studies. It provides students and scholars new perspectives on heritage study.

Recovering Landscape James Corner, 1999-08. The past decade has been witness to a remarkable resurgence of interest in landscape. While this recovery invokes a return of past traditions and ideas, it also implies renewal, invention and transformation. Recovering Landscape collects a number of essays that discuss why landscape is gaining increased attention today and what new possibilities might emerge from this situation. Themes such as reclamation, urbanism, infrastructure, geometry, representation and temporality are explored in discussions drawn from recent developments not only in the United States but also in the Netherlands, France, India and Southeast Asia. The contributors to this collection, all leading figures in the field of landscape architecture, include Alan Balfour, Denis Cosgrove, Georges Descombes, Christophe Girot, Steen Hoyer, David Leatherbarrow, Bart Lootsma, Sebastien Marot, Anuradha Mathur, Marc Treib and Alex Wall.
