Local Colour Vladimir Kapor,2009 Local colour is an undertheorized notion Although the expression itself is nowadays used in everyday speech in both French and English its domestication only further highlights the need for a clarifying study of this concept which has come to be crucial in aesthetic debates From the seventeenth century rift between Poussinistes and Rubenistes to the genesis of Romanticist aesthetic theories in early nineteenth century France to the North American regionalist prose of the Local colour movement from Roger de Piles to Benjamin Constant Victor Hugo Prosper Mérimée and Hamlin Garland this book sets out to map for the first time couleur locale's three hundred year journey across centuries languages and genres In addition to proposing a genealogy of the concept and the paths of its semantic evolution it also initiates a reflection on the factors that could have prompted the mobility of the term across cultures art forms and their metalanguages

Colour Studies Wendy Anderson, Carole P. Biggam, Carole Hough, Christian Kay, 2014-11-15 This volume presents some of the latest research in colour studies by specialists across a wide range of academic disciplines Many are represented here including anthropology archaeology the fine arts linguistics onomastics philosophy psychology and vision science The chapters have been developed from papers and posters presented at the Progress in Colour Studies PICS12 conference held at the University of Glasgow Papers from the earlier PICS04 and PICS08 conferences were published by John Benjamins as Progress in Colour Studies 2 volumes 2006 and New Directions in Colour Studies 2011 respectively The opening chapter of this new volume stems from the conference keynote talk on prehistoric colour semantics by Carole P Biggam The remaining chapters are grouped into three sections colour and linguistics colour categorization naming and preference and colour and the world Each section is preceded by a short preface drawing together the themes of the chapters within it There are thirty one colour illustrations

Color Language and Color Categorization Jonathan Brindle, Geda Paulsen, Mari Uusküla, 2016-08-17 This volume represents a unique collection of chapters on the way in which color is categorized and named in a number of languages Although color research has been a topic of focus for researchers for decades the contributions here show that many aspects of color language and categorization are as yet unexplored and that current theories and methodologies which investigate color language are still evolving Some core questions addressed here include How is color conceptualized through language What kind of linguistic tools do languages use to describe color Which factors tend to bias color language What methodologies could be used to understand human color categorization and language better How do color vocabularies evolve How does context impact the color cognition The chapters collected here adopt different theoretical and methodological approaches in describing new empirical research on how the concept of color is represented in a variety of different languages Researchers in linguistics psychology and cognitive science present a set of new explorations and challenges in the area of color language The book promotes several methodological and disciplinary dimensions to color studies The color category is given an in depth and broad based examination so a reader interested in color conceptualization for itself will be able to form a solid vision of the subject
