Combating Proliferation Strategic Intelligence And Security Policy:

Combating Proliferation Jason D. Ellis, Geoffrey D. Kiefer, 2004-09-20 Selected by Choice Magazine as an Outstanding Academic Title The intelligence community's flawed assessment of Iraq's weapons systems and the Bush administration's decision to go to war in part based on those assessments illustrates the political and policy challenges of combating the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction In this comprehensive assessment defense policy specialists Jason Ellis and Geoffrey Kiefer find disturbing trends in both the collection and analysis of intelligence and in its use in the development and implementation of security policy Analyzing a broad range of recent case studies Pakistan's development of nuclear weapons North Korea's defiance of U N watchdogs Russia's transfer of nuclear and missile technology to Iran and China's to Pakistan the Soviet biological warfare program weapons inspections in Iraq and others the authors find that intelligence collection and analysis relating to WMD proliferation are becoming more difficult that policy toward rogue states and regional allies requires difficult tradeoffs and that using military action to fight nuclear proliferation presents intractable operational challenges Ellis and Kiefer reveal that decisions to use or overlook intelligence are often made for starkly political reasons They document the Bush administration's policy shift from nonproliferation which emphasizes diplomatic tools such as sanctions and demarches to counterproliferation which at times employs interventionist and preemptive actions They conclude with cogent recommendations for intelligence services and policy makers

Sharpening Strategic Intelligence Richard L. Russell, 2007-04-09 This book critically examines the weaknesses of American intelligence led by the Central Intelligence Agency in informing presidential decision making on issues of war and peace It evaluates the CIA's strategic intelligence performance during the Cold War and post Cold War periods as a foundation for examining the root causes of intelligence failures surrounding the September 11th attacks and assessments of Iraq's weapons of mass destruction programs in the run up to the Iraq War The book probes these intelligence failures which lie in the CIA's poor human intelligence collection and analysis practices The book argues that none of the post 9/11 intelligence reforms have squarely addressed these root causes of strategic intelligence failure and it recommends measures for redressing these dangerous vulnerabilities in American security

The Politics and Science of Prevision Andreas Wenger, Ursula Jasper, Myriam Dunn Cavelty, 2020-05-28 This book inquires into the use of prediction at the intersection of politics and academia and reflects upon the implications of future oriented policy making across different fields The volume focuses on the key intricacies and fallacies of prevision in a time of complexity uncertainty and unpredictability The first part of the book discusses different academic perspectives and contributions to future oriented policy making The second part discusses the role of future knowledge in decision making across different empirical issues such as climate health finance bio and nuclear weapons civil war and crime It analyses how prediction is integrated into public policy and governance and how in return governance structures influence the making of knowledge about the future Contributors integrate two analytical dimensions in their chapters the epistemology of prevision and the political and ethical implications of prevision In this way the volume contributes to a better understanding of the complex interaction and feedback loops between the processes of creating knowledge about the future and the application of this future knowledge in public policy and governance This book will be of much interest to students of security studies political science sociology technology studies and International Relations The Open Access version of this book available at <https://www.routledge.com/The+Politics+and+Science+of+Prevision/Governing+and+Probing+Wenger+Jasper+Cavelty/p/book/9780367900748> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license

The CIA and the Culture of Failure John M. Diamond, 2008 The CIA and the Culture of Failure follows the CIA through a series of crises from the Soviet collapse to the war in Iraq and explains the political pressures that helped lead to the greatest failures in U.S. intelligence history

Rethinking the Principles of War Anthony McIvor, 2012-11-16 This new work features the fresh thinking of twenty-eight leading authors from a variety of military and national security disciplines Following an introduction by Lt Gen James Dubik Commander I Corps U.S. Army and an opening essay titled State of the Question by Dr Colin Gray the anthology first considers the general question of An American Way of War Sections on operational art with writers addressing the issues in both conventional and small wars stability and reconstruction and intelligence complete the volume Among the well-known contributors are Fred Kagan Ralph Peters Harlan Ullman and Milan Vego This collection of essays is the outcome of a seminar series sponsored by the Office of Force Transformation and the U.S. Navy to examine the future of warfare and the underlying principles of war and to educate future military strategists and leaders on these principles Footnotes index and a bibliographic essay make the work a useful tool for students of war and general readers alike Maritime Counterproliferation Operations and the Rule of Law Craig H. Allen, 2007-06-30 Allen examines the maritime counterproliferation activities of nations participating in the Proliferation Security Initiative as set out in their Statement of Interdiction Principles He explains the framework for conducting maritime interception activities examines the importance of intelligence to PSI operations and assesses the legal issues raised by those operations The threat of WMD use by terrorist groups and rogue regimes has added new urgency to global security discussions Responses to the dangers posed by WMD include the nonproliferation regime safeguards for WMD materials while in transit export controls treaties on terrorism Security Council resolutions and the new Protocol to the Convention for the Suppression of Unlawful Acts Against the Safety of Maritime Navigation The existing nonproliferation regime will never by itself provide an adequate level of security As a result risk management strategies must include layered counterproliferation activities and consequence management Counterproliferation measures may include maritime interdictions The Proliferation Security Initiative a cooperative undertaking launched in 2003 provides a framework for those interdictions The framework was formalized in the Statement of Interdiction Principles After providing an overview of the threats posed by WMD proliferation this book surveys the nonproliferation regime and counterproliferation measures states have adopted to supplement it It next provides an overview of maritime interception operations and the intelligence issues surrounding them before turning to the laws governing such operations It then examines each of the actions described in the PSI Statement of Interdiction Principles to assess their compliance with applicable laws Finally it looks at the laws that establish the responsibility of states for taking unwarranted counterproliferation actions against vessels Deterring International Terrorism and Rogue States James H. Lebovic, 2007-01-24 This new study challenges the widely held view that many current US adversaries cannot be deterred maintaining that deterrence is not a relic of the Cold War period and that it should shape US policies toward so called rogue states and terror groups James Lebovic argues that deterrence principles continue to apply and focuses upon the three pillars of the Bush administration s national security policy missile defence which preoccupied the administration until September 11 2001 preemption which became the US focus with the September 11 attacks and US success in overthrowing the Taliban regime in Afghanistan homeland security which the administration has portrayed as more a natural response to threat than an aspect of policy that must be reconciled with the other pillars Deterring International Terrorism and Rogue States asserts that bad offences and defences have been endemic to the current US policy approach leading US policy makers to pursue policies that require them to do everything without adequate concern for resource trade offs overreach and unintended consequences This book will be of great interest to students of US foreign policy national and international security terrorism and international relations in general Secrets in Global Governance Allison Carnegie, Austin Carson, 2020-06-18 Secrecy in international organizations foster information disclosures and cooperation in areas from nuclear weapons to international trade Reshaping Rogue States Alexander T.J. Lennon, Camille Eiss, 2004-07-09 An analysis of the policies of preemption and regime change as well as an examination of US policy options for dealing with each country in the axis of evil In January 2002 President George W Bush declared Iran Iraq and North Korea constituents of an axis of evil US strategy toward each of these countries has clearly varied since yet similar issues and policy options have emerged for US relations with all three Reshaping Rogue States seeks to improve our understanding of Iran Iraq and North Korea as well as of current and future policy options to combat the threats these nations pose The book s comprehensive analysis of preemption and regime change debates the circumstances under which each policy might be justified or legal under international law Prominent strategists and policymakers consider alternatives to preemption including prevention counterproliferation and cooperative security and draw conclusions from efforts to bring about regime change in the past Reshaping Rogue States also reviews the differing policy challenges presented by each so called axis member Specifically it considers how the United States might strike a balance with North Korea through multilateral negotiations the changes within Iran that call for changes in US policy and the dilemmas the United States faces in post Saddam Iraq including continuing insurgency instability and the feasibility of democracy Designing Denuclearization Bruce Larkin, 2018-02-06 This work canvasses nuclear weapon abolition proposals placed on the table since 1945 and the obstacles and issues which a realistic program for abolition confronts today It has an ambitious purpose to show that nuclear abolition can and should be placed on the public agenda a The author terms it interpretive in that it incorporates his commentaries never hiding his reasons and judgments It is neither just the facts nor all the facts It is an encyclopedia in the original meaning of a general course of instruction He identifies himself with all who pursue the problem posed by nuclear weapons systematically and with seriousness of purpose committed to self instruction In another sense he writes this work is a conversation with the Reader What is needed to abolish nuclear weapons His starting point is this As long as nuclear weapons are stockpiled and deployed there is risk of their use which would be catastrophic Abolition however is inconceivable in the absence of a developed and articulated alternative to the nuclear status quo Even with that the politics of abolition bringing the governments of the nuclear weapon states to believe that abolition is in their interest is the sine qua non of achieving a world free of nuclear weapons Larkin s text is written for those whether practitioners or citizens interested in designing and bringing about denuclearization Abolition cannot be achieved by political elites in the absence of broad concurrent public support Governments career policy officials and legislators have chosen to assume responsibility for the public agenda They may be asked must be asked what they will do to bring about denuclearization American Power after 9/11 M. Astrada, 2010-04-12 This study expounds upon the composition dynamics and consequences of the post 9 11 global security context by positing the following overarching research question how has the event of 9 11 further enabled the US to legitimately articulate disseminate and implement an absolutist security agenda ASA on the world stage

Countdown Sarah Scoles, 2024-02-06 For fans of Oppenheimer a riveting investigation into the modern nuclear weapons landscape Nuclear weapons are today as important as they were during the Cold War and some experts say we could be as close to a nuclear catastrophe now as we were at the height of that conflict Despite that conversations about these bombs generally often happen in past tense In Countdown science journalist Sarah Scoles uncovers a different atomic reality the nuclear age s present Drawing from years of on the ground reporting at the nation s nuclear weapons labs Scoles interrogates the idea that having nuclear weapons keeps us safe deterring attacks and preventing radioactive warfare She deftly assesses the existing nuclear apparatus in the United States taking readers beyond the news headlines and policy speak to reveal the state of nuclear weapons technology as well as how people currently working within the U S nuclear weapons complex have come to think about these bombs and the idea that someone someday might use them Through a sharp surprising and undoubtedly urgent narrative Scoles brings us out of the Cold War and into the twenty first century opening readers eyes to the true nature of nuclear weapons and their caretakers while also giving us the context necessary to understand the consequences of their existence for worse and for better for now and for the future The Limits of U.S. Military Capability James H. Lebovic, 2010-06-30 Political scientist James H Lebovic establishes that the size strength flexibility and adaptability of the U S military cannot ensure victory in asymmetrical conflicts In The Limits of U S Military Capability Lebovic shows how political and psychological factors trumped U S military superiority in Vietnam and Iraq where inappropriate strategies low stakes and unrealistic goals mired the United States military in protracted no win conflicts Lebovic contends that the United States is at a particular disadvantage when fighting a counterinsurgency without the full support of the host government when leveraging various third parties the adversary s foreign allies societal leaders and indigenous populations when attempting to build coalitions and nations while involved in combat and when sustaining government and public support at home when costs rise and benefits decline Lebovic cautions against involving the U S military in operations without first considering U S stakes and suggests that the military take a less is more approach when choosing to employ force Ambitious goals bring higher costs unexpected results diminished options and a greater risk of failure Rejecting the heavy handed approach that is typical of most comparisons between the Vietnam and Iraq wars The Limits of U S Military Capability carefully assesses evidence to develop lessons applicable to other conflicts especially the ongoing war in Afghanistan Parameters ,2004 Preventing Catastrophe Thomas Graham, Keith A. Hansen, 2009-07-22 At the same time they are able to make a complex subject understandable to non technical experts making this book a useful teaching tool especially for those who have little or no knowledge or experience in US national security decision making BOOK JACKET Discerning President Obama's National Security Strategy Kristen E. Boon, Douglas C. Lovelace, Aziz Z. Huq, 2010 Volume 111 of Terrorism Commentary on Security Documents Discerning President Obama s National Security Strategy makes available documents from the first fifteen months of the Obama administration that provide insights into its developing national security strategy Included are documents that include detailed intelligence estimates and strategies as well as documents that outline important lessons regarding stability and reconstruction in Iraq Additional documents provide valuable insight into the Obama Administration s Afghanistan and Pakistan Strategy General Editor Douglas Lovelace an expert in U S military matters elucidates the complexities of military spending and of counter insurgency tactics

Intelligence Cooperation and the War on Terror Adam D.M. Svendsen, 2009-10-16 This book provides an in depth analysis of UK US intelligence cooperation in the post 9 11 world Seeking to connect an analysis of intelligence liaison with the wider realm of Anglo American Relations the book draws on a wide range of interviews and consultations with key actors in both countries The book is centred around two critical and empirical case studies focusing on the interactions on the key issues of counterterrorism and weapons of mass destruction WMD counter proliferation These case studies provide substantive insights into a range of interactions such as 9 11 the 7 7 London bombings the A Q Khan nuclear network the prelude to the 2003 Iraq War extraordinary rendition and special forces deployments Drawing on over 60 interviews conducted in the UK and US with prominent decision makers and practitioners these issues are examined in the contemporary historical context with the main focus being on the years 2000 05 This book will be of much interest to students of intelligence studies foreign policy security studies and International Relations in general Adam Svendsen has a Phd in International History from the University of Warwick He has been a Visiting Scholar at the Center for Peace and Security Studies Georgetown University and has contributed to the International Security Programme at Chatham House and to the work of IISS London

The Realities of Reality - Part IV: The Reality Behind Achieving World Peace Fritz Dufour, MBA, DÉSS, 2020-04-05 This book is organized in seven chapters Chapter one looks at the origins and the causes of war The chapter argues that war is a consequence of how we as a species have evolved War has both endogenous and exogenous causes While the former depends on our biology and psychology the latter has to do primarily with international relations Chapter two makes the case for the paradoxical nature of war While war takes lives it is legitimate under certain circumstances For example armed humanitarian interventions are allowed to save lives among local populations at the expense of the oppressors by employing all necessary means ethical or not Chapter three asks if peace among nations is achievable which is the main theme of this book However it does not elaborate on the question entirely Instead it gives sort of a prelude of what will be discussed in the remaining of the book by talking about the concepts of world order and American hegemony arms race and peacebuilding Chapter four builds on three by looking at realism idealism and pacifism in international relations As to pacifism the chapter attempts to answer the question what was the most peaceful time in history Chapter five presents the elements of hope for world peace by considering the role played by the following 1 the United Nations 2 the North Atlantic Treaty Organization NATO 3 the Organization for Security and Cooperation in Europe OSCE 4 the non governmental organizations NGOs 5 the role of nuclear deterrence 6 globalization 7 transnationalism 8 diplomacy 9 sports 10 international cooperation in space exploration 11 the Nobel Prize and 12 the declining of war and violence in modern times On the other hand chapter six presents the opposite argument or the barriers to world peace using the following points 1 the proliferation of nuclear weapons 2 geoeconomics 3 terrorism 4 the global refugee crisis 5 the profitability of arms sales and 6 the profitability of wars It makes an interesting argument especially as to the profitability of wars by showing how the United States first emerged as an imperial and a world power in the 1890s then as the only world's superpower after World War II Finally chapter seven takes a proactive approach by peering into the future of armed conflict which is likely to take place in new environments Cyberspace the littoral choke points near space and increasingly in expanding cities or slums War The chapter concludes with a discussion on the Doomsday Clock a concept stemmed from the uncertainty as to the future of mankind because of armed conflicts and which is a symbol that represents the likelihood of a man made global catastrophe
