environment is extremely demanding on the body pulling G forces blood to the body's extremities putting the pilot astronaut or driver at risk of G Induced Loss of Consciousness (G LOC). In Pulling G, Erik Seedhouse describes what it feels like to pull 7 G in a fighter plane and the G pressures on the body when driving a Formula 1 car and many other gravity defying vehicles. The book relates for the first time the effects of G in both hyper gravity and microgravity. It describes the human response to increased and decreased G and the potentially dangerous effects of high G with particular reference to dynamic injuries sustained in high acceleration environments. Pulling G provides an overview of G related research and the development of intervention methods to mitigate the effects of increased and reduced G. As well as relating the training required to overcome G forces on the Formula 1 track, Erik Seedhouse looks at the G forces encountered in such G environments as ejection from an aircraft, launch, re entry and zero G. The book also considers how artificial gravity can be used to prevent bone demineralization and to reduce the effects of de conditioning in astronauts. Erik Seedhouse is eminently qualified to describe the effects of large accelerations on the body. In addition to being the author of several previously published Springer Praxis books, he has developed astronaut training protocols and is the training director for Astronauts for Hire (A4H). He is also the Canadian Forces High Risk Acceleration Training Officer.

Extreme Emma Barrett, Paul Martin, 2014-10-23. Why do some people risk their lives regularly by placing themselves in extreme and challenging situations? For some, such as astronauts, the extreme environments are part of the job. For others, they involve the thrill and competition of extreme sports or the achievement of goals such as being the first to reach the South Pole or climb Everest. Whether for sport or employment, all these people have made the personal choice to put themselves in environments in which there is significant risk. What drives such people? And what skills and personality traits enable the best to succeed? What abilities are shared by the successful mountaineer, astronaut, caver or long distance solo sailor? And are there lessons the rest of us can learn from them? The psychology of those who have to cope with extreme conditions has been a matter of much research. It is important, for example, to those planning manned space programmes or the makeup of teams who will spend months in an isolated or hostile environment such as Antarctica, to understand the psychological pressures involved and to recognize those best equipped to handle them. In Extreme, Emma Barrett and Paul Martin explore the challenges that people in extreme environments face, including pain, physical hardship, loneliness and friction between individuals, and the approaches taken to overcome them. Using many fascinating examples and personal accounts, they argue that we can all benefit from the insights gained.

Graham, 2022-08-29 By the time of the Vietnam War the U S military had transitioned to jet aircraft Yet leaders soon learned prop driven planes could still play a role in counterinsurgency warfare World War II era Douglas B 26 light bombers proved effective in close air support and interdiction beginning with Operation Farm Gate in 1961 Forty B 26s were remanufactured as improved A 26 attack aircraft which destroyed hundreds of North Vietnamese supply vehicles on the Ho Chi Minh Trail in 1966 1969 The personal recollections of 37 pilots navigators maintenance and armament personnel and family members tell the harrowing story of B 26 and A 26 Air Commando Wing combat operations in Vietnam and Laos When Churchill Slaughtered Sheep and Stalin Robbed a Bank Giles Milton, 2016-11-01 More addictive and mind blowing true tales from history told by Giles Milton one of today's most entertaining and accessible yet always intelligent and illuminating historians In When Churchill Slaughtered Sheep and Stalin Robbed a Bank the second installment in his outrageously entertaining series History's Unknown Chapters Giles Milton shows his customary historical flair as he delves into the little known stories from history like when Stalin was actually assassinated with poison by one of his inner circle the Russian scientist dubbed the Red Frankenstein who attempted to produce a human ape hybrid through ethically dubious means the family who survived thirty eight days at sea with almost no water or supplies after their ship was destroyed by a killer whale or the plot that served as a template for 9 11 in which four Algerian terrorists attempted to hijack a plane and fly it into the Eiffel Tower
