

Abstract: This paper presents a new approach to the problem of how to represent the knowledge of a domain expert. The approach is based on the idea of using a set of rules to represent the knowledge. The rules are organized into a hierarchy, with the most general rules at the top and the most specific rules at the bottom. The rules are used to represent the knowledge of a domain expert in a way that is both compact and easy to understand. The approach is applied to the problem of representing the knowledge of a domain expert in the area of medical diagnosis.
