 prov1s10n in the charter of each Study Section of the Division of Research Grants at the National Institutes of Health that stipulates that workshops are to be held periodically to aid Study Section members in their appraisals of recent developments in their fields and to identify future challenges worthy of investigation The Reproductive Endocrinology Study Section was established on December 13 1985 to review research grants and research training activities relating to reproductive endocrinology including aspects of management of reproductive endocrine disorders and hormonal imbalances as related to infertility and during pregnancy and puberty breast cancer and prostate cancer It held its first workshop entitled Autocrine and Paracrine Mechanisms in Reproductive Endocrinology in October 1988 in Shrewsbury MA at The Worcester Foundation for Experimental Biology The proceedings of this workshop which are detailed herein reflect the fact that autocrine and paracrine interactions are rapidly being accepted as an exciting area of research by scientists investigating the physiological and biochemical mechanisms of hormone action in the male and female reproductive systems The material covered is novel and wide ranging extending from theoretical considerations of mechanisms of growth factor action and the role of cell cycle stage in determining hormone action to investigations of autocrine and paracrine interactions during development to discussions of the potential clinical ramifications of the basic research findings Such an extensive inventory is necessary for

 Shackelford,2015-05-06 This wide ranging collection demonstrates the continuing impact of evolutionary thinking on social psychology research This perspective is explored in the larger context of social psychology which is divisible into several major areas including social cognition the self attitudes and attitude change interpersonal processes mating and relationships violence and aggression health and psychological adjustment and individual differences Within these domains chapters offer evolutionary insights into salient topics such as social identity prosocial behavior conformity feminism cyberpsychology and war Together these authors make a rigorous argument for the further integration of the two diverse and sometimes conflicting disciplines Among the topics covered How social psychology can be more cognitive without being less social How the self esteem system functions to resolve important interpersonal dilemmas Shared interests of social psychology and cultural evolution The evolution of stereotypes An adaptive socio ecological perspective on social competition and bullying Evolutionary game theory and personality Evolutionary Perspectives on Social Psychology has much to offer students and faculty in both fields as well as evolutionary scientists outside of psychology This volume can be used as a
