Think About What You Have; Not What You Don't Have

A Prayer Lesson

(Genesis 2-3)

Preparation: The following notes and ideas are solely for you to use as you prepare to teach this week. Feel free to use them as you wish or don't use them at all!

Observations from the story:

Genesis 2-3 is the story of God's ideal creation and man's role in ruining it. Within this story is a powerful lesson about relying on God's provision instead of desiring the things we don't have.

1. Genesis 2 – What Adam and Eve had...

- A complete creation – With the creation of Eve, everything that had been made was deemed “good” by God. No better assessment could be made than for the ultimate being to give full approval. Everything necessary to sustain life (not just life, but the life God intended) was present. Adam and Eve had at their fingertips an abundance of all they could ever need.
- An ideal living space – God placed Adam and Eve in the garden he had created for them. This was the first custom made home. God provided trees that were good for food, but were also pleasing to look on. God did not just provide a utilitarian system by which to sustain living organisms. He was an artist perfectly combining form and function to create the best possible living environment for His image-bearers. He provided a river to flow through the garden, sustaining the plants, the animals, and the people. He provided the Tree of Life (check out Revelation 22 for an interesting description of the Tree of Life).
- A Clear Purpose – God's expectations for Adam and Eve were very simple. They were to be his representatives to the new creation. He called them His “image-bearers” and He instructed them to rule over the earth and over the creatures on the earth. Their job was not to be tyrants, but rather they were to be stewards, caring for creation in the same way God would. Along with the responsibility, He gave Adam authority over the animals, even allowing Adam to name them.
- Freedom with Guidelines – God provided the ideal freedom to Adam and Eve in that he identified the limitations of their freedom. Not only did God give Adam and Eve permission to eat from all the trees in the garden, He encouraged them to “freely eat”. The only guideline he gave them was that they were not to eat from the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, which He explained would result in death. This is the ideal type of freedom for humans.
- An Ideal Relationship – The crown of creation was the woman. She was the completion of the man. Together they were the ideal image of God. Just as God is a three-in-one unity with diversity, the man and the woman became a two-in-one unity with diversity. Genesis 2:24 describes this relationship as two people who have become “one flesh”. Verse 25 says they were “naked, and they felt no shame”. Their oneness was the ideal intimacy. They had nothing to hide from one another, they were completely open and honest with one another. Their relationship is the type of relationship we all desire and pursue.
- Summary: Adam and Eve were given everything they could possibly need and desire. Nothing that was necessary for their health, happiness, and fulfillment had been withheld.
