The Gatherings Shirley N. Hager, Mawopiyane, 2021-03-01 In a world that requires knowledge and wisdom to address developing crises around us The Gatherings shows how Indigenous and non Indigenous peoples can come together to create meaningful and lasting relationships Thirty years ago in Wabanaki territory a region encompassing the state of Maine and the Canadian Maritimes a group of Indigenous and non Indigenous individuals came together to explore some of the most pressing questions at the heart of Truth and Healing efforts in the United States and Canada Meeting over several years in long weekend gatherings in a Wabanaki led traditional Council format assumptions were challenged perspectives upended and stereotypes shattered Alliances and friendships were formed that endure to this day The Gatherings tells the moving story of these meetings in the words of both Indigenous and non Indigenous participants Reuniting to reflect on how their lives were changed by their experiences and how they continue to be impacted by them the participants share the valuable lessons they learned The many voices represented in The Gatherings offer insights and strategies that can inform change at the individual group and systems levels These voices affirm that authentic relationships between Indigenous and non Indigenous peoples with their attendant anxieties guilt anger embarrassments and with time even laughter and mutual affection are key to our shared futures here in North America Now more than ever it is critical that we come together to reimagine Indigenous settler relations Mawopiyane Gwen Bear Shirley Bowen Alma H Brooks gkisedtanamoogk JoAnn Hughes Debbie Leighton Barb Martin Miigam agan T Dana Mitchell Wayne A Newell Betty Peterson Marilyn Keyes Roper Wesley Rothermel Afterword by Dr Frances Hancock To reflect the collaborative nature of this project the word Mawopiyane is used to describe the full group of co authors Mawopiyane in Passamaquoddy literally means let us sit together but the deeper meaning is of a group coming together as in the longhouse to struggle with a sensitive or divisive issue but one with a very desirable outcome It is a healing word and one that is recognizable in all Wabanaki languages

Learning to Stop Remy Y.S. Low, 2023-03-31 This book is a philosophical and historical study that explores how meditative practices for cultivating mindfulness can be regarded as a unique form of education against violence one that emphasizes stopping and contemplation as a necessary precursor to action It brings together the idiosyncratic but insightful musings on violence by Slovenian philosopher Slavoj i ek with recent research on mindfulness and violence as a lens Using this lens it looks at two exemplary educators and how they taught mindfulness meditation as a way of resisting the types of violence they and their students faced the Vietnamese Zen teacher Thich Nhat Hanh amidst the brutality of the Second Indochina War 1955 1975 and the African American studies professor and cultural critic bell hooks in the face of systemic oppression in the United States of the 1980s Engaging Youth in Critical Arts Pedagogies and Creative Research for Social Justice Kristen P. Goessling, Dana E. Wright, Amanda C. Why the Dalai Lama is a Socialist Terry Gibbs,2017-03-15 To the surprise of many the Dalai Lama recently declared that I am a socialist While many Buddhists and socialists would be perplexed at the suggestion that their approaches to life share fundamental principles important figures in the Buddhist tradition are increasingly framing contemporary social and economic problems in distinctly socialist terms In this novel and provocative work Terry Gibbs argues that the shared values expressed in each tradition could provide signposts for creating a truly humane compassionate and free society Hopeful about our potential to create the good society through collective effort Why the Dalai Lama is a Socialist is grounded in the fundamental belief that everyday human activity makes a difference Restructuring Relations Rauna Johanna Kuokkanen, 2019 Self determination foundational value Indigenous self government structures in Canada Greenland and S pmi Implementing indigenous self determination self administration repatriation or independence Gendering indigenous self government Self determination and violence against indigenous women Indigenous gender justice as restructuring relations

Restructuring Relations Rauna Kuokkanen, 2019-03-01 Adopted in 2007 the UN Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples establishes self determination including free prior and informed consent as a foundational right and principle Self determination both individual and collective is among the most important and pressing issues for Indigenous women worldwide Yet Indigenous women s interests have been overlooked in the formulation of Indigenous self government and existing studies of Indigenous self government largely ignore issues of gender As such the current literature on Indigenous governance conceals patriarchal structures and power that create barriers for women to resources and participation in Indigenous societies Drawing on Indigenous and feminist political and legal theory as well as extensive participant interviews in Canada Greenland and Scandinavia this book argues that the current rights discourse and focus on Indigenous state relations is too limited in scope to convey the full meaning of self determination for Indigenous peoples The book conceptualizes self determination as a foundational value informed by the norm of integrity and suggests that Indigenous self determination cannot be achieved without restructuring all relations of domination nor can it be secured in the absence of gender justice As a foundational value self determination seeks to restructure all relations of domination not only hegemonic relations with the state Importantly it challenges the opposition between self determination and gender created and maintained by international law Indigenous political discourse and Indigenous institutions Restructuring relations of domination further entails examining the gender regimes present in existing Indigenous self government institutions interrogating the relationship between Indigenous self determination and gender violence and considering future visions of Indigenous self determination such as repatriation of Indigenous governance and an independent statehood
