Cycling In The South Bay

John Allan Lynes

Cycling In The South Bay:

Cycling in the South Bay Seth Davidson, 2013-08-15 There may be better places to ride and race your bike but after living across the U S in Japan and in Germany I've yet to find it The riding here is great but the people are better and the South Bay of Los Angeles for all its obvious shortcomings is the epicenter of all that's good about being part of a local cycling community Part of the fun is the camaraderie but it's also never knowing who might show up Whether it's Nelson Vails Barry Bonds or an entire UCI pro team LA's cycling scene is as celebrity studded as its movie scene When Brooke Shields showed up to check out the 2013 edition of the Brentwood Grand Prix it was just part of racing and riding in Los Angeles After more than thirty years of riding and racing I decided to compile this book from the hundreds of posts I'd accumulated on my cycling blog which is dedicated to the lives the stories and the histories of the riders in the South Bay Everything I've written is true except for the parts I made up which is all of it

Bicycling Los Angeles County Patrick Brady, 2010-02-01 The geography of Southern California is as infinitely varied as its population From the serenity of coastal beaches to the majestic San Gabriel Mountains and the tight canyons of the Santa Monica Mountains Los Angeles is a cyclist's paradise The vistas are spectacular the terrain fun to ride and the sights include some of Hollywood's best known landmarks Bicycling Los Angeles County takes riders on 40 different rides throughout Southern California's most popular destination. Also detailed for avid roadies are some of Los Angeles' most popular group rides for those who want a more challenging and social outing. New Black Cyclones Marlon Lee Moncrieffe, 2024-11-21. Cycling as never told before. Nicholas Dlamini, South African cycling champion. Revolutionary Bradley Wiggins, British Tour de France champion. This is a call for a revolution by the global Black cycling community to reform the sport and for changing the way cycling is seen. Despite the rise of anti-racism in light of the Black Lives Matter movement, professional cycling is still predominately a white and European-centred sport. Former international racing cyclist Marlon Lee Moncrieffe and author of the award-winning Desire Discrimination Determination Black Champions in Cycling examines how the industry is tackling racism within the sport today. Sharing his experiences and learnings from his journeys across the UK, the USA and the African continent, Moncrieffe brings together the voices of Black cycling cultures. He speaks to Black elite and professional riders, members of national cycling bodies, commentators, grassroots riders, community leaders, teachers and activists, discovering how they are disrupting the sport's white-led norms of power. In response to his commentary and evidence, Moncrieffe invites us to critically consider the past, present and future of the sport. What transformations, if any, towards equality in Black representation and empowerment are happening in the world of cycling and particularly in the highest realms of the sport? What could be the potential force of Black cycling movements across the world, converging as New Black Cyclones in reforming how the sport is seen and known. Lonely Planet Los Angeles, San Diego & Southern California Lonely Planet, Andrea Schulte-Peevers, Andrew Bender, Cristian Bonetto, Benedict Walker, Jade Bremner, Clifton Wilkinson, 2018-04-01.
